West Rejects Soviet Union's Security Plan

Molotov Blasted For His Deception At Geneva Confab

GENEVA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Western Powers tonight rejected Russia's anti-NATO pact for "collective European security" as a peril to the West.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov came under heavy criticism at the Big Four foreign ministers conference on the charge his proposals would "deceive the hopes of the world."

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told the Russian diplomat to push through a security pact while delaying any effort to achieve German reunification violated the directives the summit conference laid down three months ago.

Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay of France protested that Molotov's security pact continues to be aimed at the disolution of NATO, the Atlantic defense alliance.

"The French government will not gamble with security, or do deals about it," Pinay declared.

Despite 7½ hours of debate in three sessions since Thursday, Russia and the West have made no dent in Europe's status quo:

Russia will not roll back from the Elbe line—the cold war front in mid-Germany for 10 years.

The West will not bargain on the dismantling of the Atlantic Alliance, in which more than 400,000 U. S. troops and airmen are committed overseas.

Russia will not risk a unifying German election that could put anti-Communists in control of that powerful nation of 70 million.

The West will make no deal for German reunification that would concede in advance the military neutralization of all Germany. It has two-thirds of Germany arming in NATO now.

Molotov's security pact was first rebuffed at the Berlin conference 20 months ago. It calls for the destruction of NATO within three years, by-passing of German reunification, recall of American forces from this continent, and allowing Red China to become an official observer in European political and military organizations.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan said the security pledges in the Soviet pact had nothing solid to support them. He argued that only the West would have to pull back under the pact, leaving Russia in a formidable position in the center of Europe with control over smaller Communist powers.

The Western ministers praised,

$200,000 Stolen From Small Store In Alabama Town

KENNEDY, Ala., Oct. 29 (AP)—Burglars who made off with an estimated $200,000 in cash, checks and bonds from a rural store were described as members of a four-state ring today.

The theft from the Bicks Brothers general store in this little northwest Alabama town was discovered when employes reported for work yesterday morning.

Operators of the store said about $7,000 in currency, $10,000 in checks and $176,000 in U. S. savings bonds already were known to be missing. A detailed accounting would not be ready before Monday, they said.

State investigator Ben L. Allen said the money, checks and securities were stolen from a large safe in the store. The bonds and checks were kept there for safekeeping because the town has no bank, the nearest being at Fayette, Ala., 15 miles away.

Lamar County Sheriff Ernest Merchant said he believed the thieves were members of a gang operating from Alabama to Texas, and possibly maintaining headquarters in Mississippi.

Investigator Allen called the burglary a skilled job. The burglars broke into the store through a rear door and forced the safe door open. "It was a good punch job, no lost motion," he said.

About $225 worth of clothes and pocket knives also was stolen.

Striplin's general store here was burglarized the same night, but only a two dollar bill was missing from it.

Grevemberg Says Long Used Pressure-Tactics In Raising Campaign Funds

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Former State Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg today accused a former governor of pressuring state employes for campaign contributions.

Grevemberg, who wiped out organized gambling in Louisiana, spoke at the Kiwanis Club's annual pancake festival, a charity fund raising activity.

Alexandria cattleman James McLemore, another candidate for governor, spoke earlier and took a vigorous stand in favor of continued school segregation and increased benefits for education.

Candidates Fred Preaus, former Gov. Earl K. Long, and Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans attended by proxy with local supporters speaking for them.

Grevemberg gave a strong endorsement to the present state civil service program, sponsored by the administration of Gov. Robert Kennon, but took a few digs at the administration for alleged political firings.

However, the former state police chief centered his fire on a "former governor," not mentioning him by name, who pledged to retain civil service in the 1948 campaign, then repealed it and now is a candidate for governor again.

And he accused the "former governor" of requiring many state em-

Stevenson Raps Foreign Policy, Farm Program

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 29—UP—Adlai E. Stevenson attacked the Eisenhower administration Saturday night for following a "misleading and elusive" foreign policy and a "hollow" farm program.

Stevenson delivered a sizzling attack on the Republican administration, amid increasing signs that the announcement of his candidacy for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination will come soon.

"The day is rapidly approaching," Stevenson replied when asked about his announcement before he left Chicago earlier Saturday.

Stevenson charged Saturday night that the GOP is trying to make people think "that all is well" and that "peace and security are around the corner."

"The fact is that our foreign affairs are not prospering any more than agriculture is prospering," the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee said.

Much of his speech was devoted to foreign affairs, but he also attacked GOP farm policy, a hot issue here, before a Democratic-farmer-labor meeting.

Stevenson called again for a return to 90 per cent parity payments to farmers, though he again conceded that may not be the only solution to the problem of falling farm income.

In the case of some commodities, he said, production payments or compensatory payments might be more effective, even more economical in the long run, than price supports.

Stevenson said the GOP is trying to assure the nation that a "miracle" was performed at the Geneva meeting of the Big Four chiefs of state. He accused Republicans of "loud talk and little action," while the world situation is "sadly deteriorating."

"We must put a stop to the loose talk and erratic behavior that has marked the conduct of our foreign affairs these past three years and that has confused our purposes and frightened our friends if not our enemies," he said.

He pointed to violence in North Africa, political troubles in France, growing misgivings about Germany's future, the smoldering Middle East and other spots as problems "our adversaries will exploit."

"My purpose is not to be alarming," Stevenson said. "My purpose is to be realistic, and not to be misled by the new Soviet charm

Benson Wins Solid Backing Of President

Eisenhower Sees Little Chance For 'Rigid' Supports

DENVER, Oct. 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower gave embattled Secretary of Agriculture Benson's flexible support program his 100 per cent backing today and made it clear Benson is remaining in the Cabinet.

This is tthe inerpretation White House news secretary James C. Hagerty made of a hospital room statement by the President asserting that they were in agreement on a six-point program designed to "return to our farmers a fair share of the national income."

Benson went directly to Eisenhower for new assurances of support in a 30-minute conference as farm prices dipped again and the political storm over farm issues gathered more fury.

The President's own statement read to a news conference where Benson was questioned, said, "The secretary and I agreed that we should not go back to old policies that have failed to meet the problem in the past.'

Benson and Hagerty said this referred to the rigid high fixed price formula for farm crops set up during wartime and for which many prominent Democrats and some Republicans have voiced demands.

The President said he would submit the recommendations to Congress for the new program "in a special message early in January."

Benson was asked if he considers the President's statement an endorsement of the policies Benson has been pursuing in the face of a fire of criticism.

Hagerty broke in to say he would answer that and told reporters:

"I sure would . . . completely."

To which Benson added:

"I sure would, too."

He said when asked if it meant that the President was backing the flexible supports and opposing return to rigid supports, Benson said: "absolutely."

Dynamite Blast At Hot Springs Kills Three Men

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 29 (AP)—Three men were killed here shortly before noon today when a truck load of dynamite exploded in an old rock quarry used by city police as a shooting range.

Dead are city street Commissioner Mike Withers, 65; police Lt. Columbus E. Garrett, about 35; and Dewey Adams, about 30, a city street employe.

Police Chief John Emery said the accident happened when the men were disposing of a load of old dynamite owned by the city. He said Withers had asked for a police escort earlier today to take the dynamite to the quarry on the outskirts of the city.

Patrolman Jack Harvey, a member of the escort, said the men thought all blasting caps had been removed from the dynamite, but when the last sticks were thrown on the fire, the dynamite exploded.

Harvey, who had returned to a patrol car to report in by radio to police headquarters, was blown from the car which was about 150 feet away from the explosion. He was not seriously injured.

The blast shattered plate glass windows more than two miles from the point of detonation. The truck used to haul the explosives was shattered and the bodies of the three victims severely mangled.

Egypt Retaliates With New Assault On Israel

Abduction, Robbery Here Of Two Soldiers Admitted By Three Young Parolees

Three West Monroe youths, who said they were sorry they didn't have a machine gun to "knock off a bank," were arrested and jailed yesterday for armed robbery after they admitted the abduction and robbery of two hitchhiking soldiers Friday night.

FRANCIS LAVERNE VINES

The youths, all three parolees from Angola, picked up the soldiers one at a time and took them out to lonely spots where the trio robbed and terrorized their victims.

In each case, after the soldiers were robbed at gunpoint they were forced to remove their shoes and "take for high timber" while shots whittled over their heads.

Jailed were:

Francis Laverne Vines, 23, Route 1, West Monroe; John William Carlisle, 20, of West Monroe and George W. Elliott, of West Monroe.

Carlisle and Vines were arrested in a West Monroe theatre by Deputies Frank Kirby and Raymond Knowles. One hour later Elliott was arrested in a West Monroe cafe.

The first victim was identified as Henry L. Bruce, 19, of Jackson, Miss. He was en route home when he was picked up on the 1400 block of DeSiard street as he carries his bag.

Later, Paul C. Elliott, 19, of Jasper, Ala., was picked up as he was attempting to catch a ride and Sterlington road.

Chief Criminal Deputy Kirby said the entire staff of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's department were called out after the robbery was reported shortly before midnight Friday. The investigation continued unrelaxed until the trio was taken into custody during the mid-afternoon Saturday.

"We were afraid they might strike again tonight," Kirby said. "And who knows, another 24 hours might have cost someone's life."

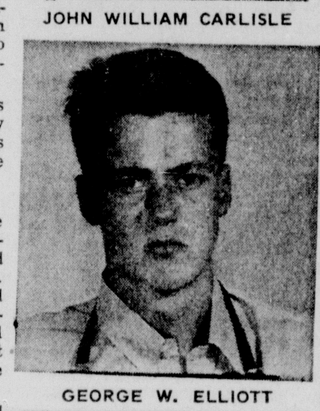

When arrested, two of the youths, Vines and Elliott, had shells in their pockets to fit the .32 caliber revolver identified as Elliott's and the one used Friday night. The loaded weapon was found at Elliott's home. Deputy Knowles said Elliott bought some .32 caliber cartridges Saturday.

"These fellows don't seem worried about the trouble they are in

Eastland Seeks Agency To Fight Race Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) proposed today that the southern states establish a regional commission to combat what he called "the rising crescendo of vicious propaganda against the South and its institutions."

Eastland, chairman of the Senate internal subcommittee, said in a statement that much of this propaganda is "inspired and financed by Communist front and race-minded groups."

"Tremendous sums of money, much of it tax-exempt, are being thrown into a vast program of propaganda and outright falsehood to misrepresent southern views and conditions in the South.

"Millions of fair-minded Americans in other regions, denied access to the truth, are being hoodwinked, misled, and seized by this cunning campaign.

"The cumulative effect is to undermine and destroy the sovereignty of the southern states. And when state sovereignty falls in the South, it automatically falls elsewhere.

"The Negro is being used as a pawn by groups who desire to divide the people of this country and destroy the powers of the individual states so that they can rule the nation through a strong central government which they can dominate.

"Thus, this attack upon the South is, in reality, an attack upon state powers and, finally, upon the American system of government.

"The southern states therefore not only have an unchallengeable legal right, but a clearly defined constitutional duty, to use every available means to counteract this attack and defend state sovereignty.

"A method for discharging this duty, which I earnestly propose, is the establishment of a commission, financed by state and tax exempt private funds, which would meet propaganda with truth; offset falsehoods with fact.

"Many individuals and organizations, in and outside the South, are aware that if the present attack goes unchallenged the ultimate result will be lasting economic, social and governmental effects which will go to the very foundations of the republic. Aid can be

Artillery Used In Support Of Raiding Force

Complaint Filed In UN By Israel; Observers In Area

JERUSALEM, Israel, Oct. 29—UP— Egyptian troops supported by heavy artillery made two counterattacks on advanced Israeli positions in the demilitarized Gaza zone Saturday.

Maj. Dan Gov, Israeli army spokesman, said both early morning raids were repulsed with no Israeli casualties.

The attacks occurred at Nirim, one of the chain of small settlements along the explosive Gaza Strip. They apparently were Egypt's answer to the lightning stab Israeli forces made five miles inside Egyptian territory Friday.

Egyptian military authorities in Cairo declined to comment on the Israeli reports of the Egyptian attacks.

The Israeli foreign ministry said the assaults at Nirim represents an "unprovoked" extension of hostilities in the Gaza area. A spokesman warned that if Egyptian forces continued to occupy Israeli territory, the responsibility for a continuation of the present tense situation would "rest entirely on Egypt."

Israel lodged a complaint with the United Nations over the new flareup. A truce commission observers team went to the Gaza area to investigate.

So far, Egypt has not complained officially to the United Nations about Friday's Israeli raid on the Egyptian desert outpost at El Kuntilla, 40 miles south of El Auja, a UN spokesman said.

Israel claimed 10 Egyptians were killed and 29 other captured in the 23-minute surprise raid. Egypt said that only five Egyptians were killed and that four Israelis died in an Egyptian counter-attack to recapture the fortress.

UN observers set out from Jerusalem Saturday morning to investigate the El Kuntilla raid, which Israel said was in retaliation for an Egyptian attack at Nitzama Wednesday. One Israeli was killed, three were wounded and two were missing in that attack.

Kefauver Assails Suggestion That Ike May Resign

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said tonight a "segment of right-wing" Republicans is "scheming to get President Eisenhower out of office before his term expires."

He accused columnist David Lawrence of putting out a "sadistic" feeler carrying the suggestion that Eisenhower might resign in January 1956 instead of serving out his current term, ending January 1957. He recalled that Lawrence recently wrote that "Logic seems to point either to a resignation or a decision to accept renomination."

In Washington, Lawrence replied that he had merely "referred to the possibility" of resignation. He said that in fact he expects Eisenhower to recover, does not expect him to resign, and is confident he will run again and be re-elected.

Kefauver denounced the resignation idea as "mischievous" and "sadistic" and said that "the great majority of Americans, of whatever creed, party or race, thank God that President Eisenhower is making a good recovery and that his illness does not require that he transfer his powers as president."

In a speech prepared for a 9th Congressional Dist. dinner meeting, Kefauver said that he was "proud that no such suggestion has come from Democrats" as a result of the heart attack suffered by Eisenhower last month.

"We Democrats will do our best to win the next election," he said,

Capital Increase Plans Announced By Monroe Bank

The Ouachita National Bank has announced plans to increase its capital and surplus from the present $1,500,000.00 to $2,000,000.00.

The change will be effected by a stock dividend of $250,000.0 and the transferring from undivided to surplus of an additional $25,000.00. Tentative approval of these capital changes has recently been obtained from the Comptroller of the Currency. The Board of Directors propose to submit these capital changes to the stockholders at the annual meeting to be held on January 10, and upon approval by the stockholders and final approval by the Comptroller of the Currency the capital stock and surplus increases will be made effective.

R. L. Vanderpool, Jr., president, is announcing these changes said: "The bank has enjoyed a very substantial growth in recent years, and due to the marked increase in our volume of business we deemed it advisable to increase our capital and surplus to $2,000.00 in order to better service our growing trade area. "We look upon the significant growth in our deposits and loans as a good indication of the prosperity of the Monroe-West Monroe trade territory, and in raising our bank's capital and surplus to $2,000.00 we are renewing our confidence in the future progress of this section."

Israel And Egypt Warned Anew To End All Fighting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 29—UP—United Nations truce superviser in Palestine Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns warned Israel and Egypt Saturday to end the fighting in the Gaza strip. Any new aggressive actions "may result in the gravest consequences," he said.

Burns conferred Saturday morning for 90 minutes with U. S. British and United Nations representatives on the new clashes between Egyptian and Israeli troops.

In a letter to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi at UN and Deputy UN Representative for Israel Mordecai R. Kidron, Burns called on the two nations to stop their "aggressive activities and retaliations."

Arab Leaders And Western Diplomats Believe One More Spark May Bring War In Middle East

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 29 (AP)—One more spark could ignite the Middle Eastern powder keg.

That is the considered opinion held by most Arab leaders and Western diplomats since Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser made his cotton-for-guns deal with Communist Czechoslovakia.

Nerves have been stretched to the snapping point by this week's repeated shooting affrays and raids along the Israeli-Egyptian and Israeli-Syrian frontiers.

In Cairo, an Egyptian spokesman, referring to the fighting in the El Auja-Nizana demilitarizede zone, declared today:

"It is up to the United Nations to ease the tension in the zone. The situation along the front there is very tense, but our troops are prepared for any eventuality."

Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett told reporters in Geneva this week in response to a question whether Israel would launch a preventive war:

"I hope to God that Israel will not be driven to this — to what might appear to be a shortcut to the solution of our grave problem."

Then he added: "It's not the case of a preventive war. It's the case of meeting aggression"

In Jerusalem, an Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman asserted yesterday: "If they (the Egyptians) leave us alone, we will leave them alone."

As the Egyptians and Israelis accused each other today of new troop violations of the El Auja-Nizana zone, an American diplomat described the situation:

"It's like boys tossing firecrackers around in an oil refinery—one bang at the right place can blow the whole thing up and there doesn't seem to be much we can do about it."

The Soviet Union's bold entry into Middle East politics has aroused Arab passions and fanned Israeli fears. The Czechoslovak arms deal won friends among the normally anti-Communist Arabs. talk of Soviet economic aid is played up. And torch singers from Soviet Uzbek have wooed Beirut and Cairo audiences with Arabic songs.

American influencee among the Arabs — already at low point because the Arabs charged United States and American Zionists were responsible for sacrificing Arabs in creating Israel — has been put on the skids by the Soviet drive.

And the seizure this week by British-officered troops of the Burami oasis on the disputed Saudi Arabian boundary — where there may be oil — stepped up Arab attacks on Britain.

Most American diplomats in this area do not believe the Arabs will provoke an incident which might touch off war at the present time—if only for the reason Nasser's promised Czech arms, planes and tanks are not yet in the front lines.

Fred Preaus Continues Tour Through District

Speaking in five northeast Louisiana towns Saturday, gubernatorial candidate Fred Preaus continued his swing through this section and promised the continuation of programs emphasized by the administration of Governor Robert F. Kennon.

In his talks to crowds at Columbia, Jonesboro, Hodge, Chatham, and Ruston, Preaus stressed the importance of five different state programs which he pledged himself to support and help make effective.

"I intend to work with the local officials toward enforcing all the laws of Louisiana," the candidate said. "In regards to laws on gambling, there is no corner in Louisiana for gambling, organized crime, narcotics and that sort of thing. If the local officials fail to enforce the laws on gambling, then I promise you that Baton Rouge will enforce them, because, as your governor, I will not tolerate it."

Commenting on the highway program, Preaus said, "More black top and hard surface roads have been built during the last three years than under any previous administration in the history of Louisiana. I pledge myself 100 per cent in favor of the long range highway program."

Preaus, who is a Farmerville car dealer and former head of the state highway board, told his listeners that he pledges himself to the continuation of the prison rehabilitation program in the state. "Four years ago, Angola was given up to be one of the worst prisons in the U. S.," he said. "For the last three years the state institutions have been under a business administration trained for the prupose, and brutality has been replaced with rehabilitation."

The candidate said he would not allow the state institution to return to the hands of politicians.

He said that during the last three and a half years, the state institution at Pineville and Jackson have awakened to the needs of treatment and rehabilitation.

"I pledge to you that I will work for the continuation of this type of Christian treatment for what I consider to be the most unfortunate and needy people in our state," Preaus said.

The water conservation program also was mentioned by Preaus, who said, "It is getting harder and harder for the public to find a place to hunt; when I am elected governor, I am going to build at least 20 new public hunting lakes throughout the state and they will be located where the local people want them." Three reasons for the lakes, Preaus said, are (1) for recreation, hunting, etc.; (2) adequate water supply for municipalities and farmers; and (3) industrial use.

On the education program, the northeast Louisiana candidate said he feels "first of all that the teaching profession in Louisiana will not continue to attract the calibre of people as teachers that the state needs because of the low salary schedule.

"If elected governor, I will raise the beginning salary of teachers so that we cannot only keep the good teachers we now have, but the salaries will attract good teachers from outside the state. Our children are our greatest asset" and we need to keep their teachers well qualified and well paid, Preaus said.

Commenting on segregation in schools, Preaus said, "I feel that the people of our state are entitled to their own way of life—a way of life which we have known for generations. We can get along without outside agitation. We can settle our problems among ourselves.

"I stand for equal school facilities and will work toward that end. But I am firmly for the continuation of the policy now existing, the policy of separate school systems that has existed for generations for our two races.

to the President, and I share the view wholeheartedly, will not attempt to out-promise or out-appropriate some who would put politics above needs and lead farmers back rather than forward."

Benson told reporters he had "never worried" about his tenure as secretary of agriculture and Hagerty supplemented by saying that at no time has the President "even remotely" thought of either asking or accepting Benson's resignation and that the only thing he has seen about such a thing has been in the newspapers.

With Eisenhower's approval Benson outlined this program to help solve the admittedly poor plight of the farmers in relation to current prices:

1. A stepped-up program of surplus disposal and expansion of exports.

2. A vigorous purchasing program to remove market gluts where ever they occur and assist farmers adjusting to market demands.

3. An enlarged program of soil conservation and incentive payments to divert crop lands into grass, trees and forage.

4. Expand our rural development program for our low income farm families.

5. A stepped-up program of research emphasizing lower costs of production, new uses for farm products, new crops and expansion of markets.

6. Actively pushing forward the Great Plains program in cooperation with the ten states involved as part of a better use of the land and a better balancing of programs.

The President's younger brother Dr. Milton Eisenhowere, president of Penn State University, and a former agricultural consultant of previous Democratic administrations, sat in on the hospital conference, with Sherman Adams, the President's chief deputy, and Hagerty. The President's statement called it "a most satisfactory and thorough exchange of views."

"Still caught under the grinding pressure of price-depressing surpluses, farmers today are not getting a return for their work in line with that enjoyed by other segments of our population," the President said.

Hee described as "sound" what the administration has done in the past three years.

"But farm policy is never a completed task," the President said. "It must be dynamic, adapting to changing conditions. The secretary and I agreed that we should not go back to old policies which have failed to meet the problem in the past."

He said he agreed with Benson on the new steps the secretary is exploring for "strengthening and broadening the present program" to speed the time when farm production and markets "are in balance at prices that return to our farmers a fair share of thee nation income."

The conference was held during a day when the 65-year-old President was described as well enough to tackle what one reporter referred to as "explosive issues."

Benson said he and the President were convinced that "the future of agriculture is bright" and that there is ample evidence to support this view.

"We are not satisfied," Benson said, but we are "determined to do everything sound and constructive and helpful" for the farmers.

As part of Point 3 of the new program, farmers will be paid to take land out of crops to be put into other uses in an expansion of present authority for which new legislation will be sought.

The conference, at Fitzsimons Army ospital, followed a new expression of support from Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California. And Knowland declared he "assumed" the President would veto any return to the "old fixed parity program" for which many Democrats and some Republicans are clamoring.

The conference got under way a few hours after Benson's arrival by plane. And White ouse newHs secretary James C. Hagerty said the 65 year-old President is well enough now to tackle what a reporter called an "explosive issue."

West Rejects

to no avail, their package proposal of an "assurance treaty" for the Soviet bloc and Eden-plan free elections to unify Germany.

Molotov evaded coupling any Stviet plan for German unification with his security pact. He indicated unshaken opposition to the West's double proposal. The "assurance treaty" assumes that a reunited Germany will choose to remain in NATO. It promises "appropriate action to meet the common danger" by other NATO members if NATO Germany attacks the Soviet bloc.

A semidemilitarized zone would be set up by the pact along a reunited Germany's frontier with Poland and Czechoslovakia. The Soviet bloc and NATO each would have a radar air warning system in each other's territory in this zone.

The Big Four deadlock over German unity spread new gloom in the Bonn Republic. Foreign Minister Henrich von Brentano disclosed he will come here next ewek to see the three Allied ministers. Von Brentano has already renounced any claim to participate in the Geneva conference in its discussion of the German question, because that would open up a similar role for East German Communists.

But leading West German newspapers urged that he propose some new initiative from the Western side to keep alive the unity issue, now apparently doomed.

Eastern satellite diplomats happily predicted Russia will sit tight on Germany, at least until a new Bonn chancellor is elected in 1957 to replace Konrad Adenauer, ailing 79-year-old champion of the Atlantic Alliance.

All the satellites, headed by Poland and Czechoslovakia, dread the rise of a reunited Germany bound to the West. Neutralization is demanded as the minimum price for any agreement to end Germany's division.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 29—UP—The United States, Great Britain and France plan to seek Russian cooperation in trying to head off a threatened war between Israel and the Arab countries, authoritative sources said Saturday.

The possibility of an explosion in the Middle East took precedence over German unification and other issues which are on the formal program for the Big Four foreign ministers conference now in session here.

The Big Four ministers met for four hours Saturday in the third session of their conference in the Palais des Nations. The next session will be held Monday.

Informants said that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay decided to approach Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov informally on the Israeli-Arab crisis.

The Western foreign ministers apparently planned to ask that Russia call off the plan of Communist countries to sell arms to Egypt and perhaps other Arab nations.

It was Russia's decision to have Red Czechoslovakia sell weapons to Egypt that touched off the present situation and started Israelis talking about a "preventive" war on Egypt.

— they seem to take it as a big joke — they even laughed about it," Kirby said. While being taken up the elevator to jail, Kirby said, they remarked that the "only regrets they had was that they 'didn't have a machine gun to knock off a bank.' "

Newspaper files identified Vines as the youth who at 16 years of age fatally shot and brutally beat an elderly relative in Bawcomville. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in November, 1948. His sentence was commuted and he was released from Angola last August. He served seven years.

Carlisle was committed to Angola in January of 1954 after being convicted of simple burglary and sentenced to serve a five year term. He was paroled last September.

Elloitt, the youngest of the three, went to Angola in March 1954 and was released in November of the same year. He had been sentenced to a two-year term for simple burglary.

Elliot, assuming he will get 10 years in the armed robbery committed Friday, told deputies yesterday, they said, "Look out for me—I'll be back in 1965." Kirby said "He apparently said it in all seriousness."

The two robbed and barefooted soldiers were picked up here yesterday by their families and taken to their destinations in Jackson, Miss.

Authorities here said they would be returned to testify.

3-Car Wreck At Louisville, 18th Hurts 2 Persons

A three-car wreck at 5:15 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of 18th and Louisville in which eight persons were involved resulted in two minor injuries.

Lee Small, 31, driver of a 1955 Oldsmobile, received a bruise on his forehead and his wife, a passenger, suffered an apparently "slightly" injured back. Their two-year-old daughter, also a passenger, was not injured.

Drivers of the other two cars were Richard H. Dougan, of 207 North McGuire, driving a 1955 Ford; and McHenry Jackson, 18, Negro, driving a 1946 Pontiac. Jackson was alone but Dougan was accompanied by his wife and nine-year-old son, John Wayne, and a friend, J. W. Key, 26. None of them was injured.

The three-pronged accident occurred when Small, traveling west, according to police struck Jackson's car coming off 18th, and was knocked into Dugan's car, which he said was not moving.

Dougan said he was stopped, waiting for the light to change.

Jackson, coming off 18th, said "I had stopped for the green light, then started out onto Louisville when I saw the Oldsmobile coming. But it was too late."

Small said, "I swerved to miss the black car (Jackson's) after it pulled out in front of me."

Kefauver Assails

"but it will be fought out in the open. We will fight it on the issues."

Kefauver, regarded as a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, described Lawrence as "a spokesman for part of the reactionary Republican segment" who has put up feelers that "time and time again the right-wing has followed."

Kefauver said that he has disagreed with Eisenhower many times but "he was elected by a great majority of his fellow Americans to serve a four-year term and sh uld be allowed to do so without such sadistic suggestions as those contained in this column."

"The motion that an outgoing president (should President Eisenhower decide not to run) ought to vacate his office before serving his full term is both mischievous and contrary to the clear mandate of our Constitution," Kefauver said. He added he had so written Lawrence.

In the column, Lawrence posed the question whether Eisenhower will or will not announce his resignation on Jan. 20 next.

Lawrence held that if the President is well enough to discharge his duties during the remainder of his present term, many people will ask why he could not serve a second term.

Lawrence also said that if it is improper for a man with heart trouble to continue in the presidency after Jan. 20, 1957, the question will be asked why it isn't improper for him to remain in the White House a whole year prior to that date.

policy or the Republican peace chorus."

Stevenson attacked the GOP farm policy system of flexible price supports as "hollow" and said restoring 90 per cent price supports isn't the only answer to the farm problem but "it is a better program than sliding supports that slide only one way."

Minnesota Democrats were reported ready to call on Stevenson at a breakfast meeting Sunday to run for the presidential nomination in 1956.

Aides said, however, that his announcement would not be made here but in Illinois, although one spokesman added he couldn't predict what interpretation might be placed on Stevenson's words here, if served with a request he run.

NE Exhibit Shown At State Fair

Traditions and offerings in the various departments at Northeast are combined to form a colorful display. An added attraction is the serving of Louisiana coffee by instructors and students majoring in home economics.

Interest centers on the figure representing a college freshman, whose hands hold maroon and gold ribbons, the school's colors, which lead to areas of study which the freshman is considering as he plans his program of work.

Symbolic of the Fine Arts Department is a miniature violin, plaster of Paris comedy and tragedy masks, an artist's palette, knife, brush and paint.

A big red apple goes with an open book, ruler and flowers for the teacher's desk to emphasize the prominence of Northeast's Teacher Education Department.

Mathematics and other sciences and pestle, slide rule, oil derrick and various materials.

Liberal arts are illustrated by book ends holding a variety of volumes, a desk lamp, and such traditional Northeast publications as the PowWow and Chocahoula, newspaper and yearbook, respectively.

Negro Woman Held In Shooting Here

Ernestine Henderson, 28, of 1006 Calypso, was booked last night by Monroe city police for attempted murder and transferred to the parish jail.

She was booked at 10 p.m. after her husband, Manuel, was shot at their home Saturday night. Manuel was taken to a local hospital where his condition was described as critical.

Retired Teachers Meeting Scheduled

The regular meeting of the Retired Teachers of Ouachita parish will be held at 9:45 a. m., November 3, in the home of Miss Kate Perkins, 616 North Fifth, Monroe, according to Mrs. J. E. Sapp, secretary.

GET HOLIDAY TO VOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 —UP— The White House announced Saturday that all federal employes living in communities where elections are scheduled this fall will be excused from work to vote.

Resurfacing Work On Grand Slated For Early Start

Monroe city commissioner of streets and parks Wayne Huckaby said Saturday he has been advised by the state highway department that a contract for the complete resurfacing of South Grand, North Grand and Walnut streets will be let on November 19, "if possible."

The job is estimated as about a $60,000 project.

It is an outgrowth of a September meeting of Senator James D. Sparks, Representatives Shady Wall and Gilbert Faulk, and Commissioner Huckby with Fred Preaus, then chairman of the state highway board, and Grady Carlyle, assistant to the highway director.

The resurfacing is part of a general street construction and repair program agreed to by Monroe and West Monroe with the state department of highways.

Commissioner Huckby said that approximately 3,100 vehicles daily travel over South Grand, now a part of Highway 165. These vehicles, Huckby explained, are not part of the local traffic.

W. GILBERT FAULK

G. Faulk Seeks Re-Election On His Past Record

Rep. U. Gilbert Faulk, a lifelong resident of Ouachita parish, today issued a formal announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Faulk is a member of the First Methodist Church and a member of the board of Stewards of that church. He has served this community in the past as commander of the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion, president of the Ouachita Association of Insurance Agents, president of the Monroe-West Monroe Real Estate Board, president of the Monroe Little Theatre, and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Faulk entered World War II as a private and served for four years, emerging as a captain.

Faulk was elected to the Legislature in 1952 and had the distinction of being selected by the Capitol Press, along with Representative Eubanks of Alexandria, as being the outstanding new member of the Legislature. Faulk served as chairman of the Railroad committee, vice chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, member of Judiciary "C" committee, member of Banks and Banking committee, Highway and Transportation committee, and several joint legislative committees.

Faulk is married and resides with his wife and one son, Gilbert, Jr., 12, at 1010 North Second St., Monroe. His statement follows:

"I thank the citizens of Ouachita parish for electing me to the House of Representatives. At all times it has been my endeavor and, I believe successfully, to give the people of our parish honest, vigorous, and courageous representation in the legislative halls of our State Capitol. I have tried at all times to do all in my power to make sure that the tax dollar was well spent and have stood for economy in all measures.

"I feel that during my tenure of office, Ouachita parish has made great strides forward and that we have received a just and proper share of the state monies here in Ouachita parish. I refer particularly to the expansion of Northeast Louisiana State College as well as other local institutions, the many roads and other benefits that have improved our parish.

"I ask for re-election as an independent, just as I did in 1952, and I pledge to the voters of our parish the same type of representation for the coming four years that I gave them in the past."

Yakima Indians Will Be Studied At 1st Christian

The final meeting of the First Christian Church School of Missions is slated at the church at 6 p.m. today. The program will appeal to all age level groups who are studying the Indian American.

The meeting will start at 6 when there will be a fellowship period and when refreshments will be served. Then there will be group meetings in which the theme will revolve around the "Yakima Indians" and the mission that the Christian church operates at the Yakima reservation.

Mrs. S. W. Raby, church school of missions librarian, will have her display of books on the "Indian American".

The general public is extended a most cordial invitation to attend this final school of missions.

Morehouse Highway Work Project Starts

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 29 (Special) — The highway department has started construction on $81,876 worth of paving in Morehouse Parish.

Board chairman Sam Short said that a contract was awarded Hall and Holland of Montgomery for paving with asphalt cement to a width of 20 feet a little better than three miles of the Perryville-Collinston highway known as State Hwy. 831.

Work begins at the junction with State Hwy. 139 and extends southeast on 831 to the junction with State Hwy. 138 southwest of Collinston.

Short said the work should be complete by next March.

Truman Takes Credit For Stevenson Choice In '52; Refuses To Give '56 View

By CHARLES M. SMITH

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 —UP—Former President Harry Truman Saturday claimed personal credit for the 1952 presidential nomination of Adlai Stevenson but refused to say he would back him for the 1956 nomination.

Mr. Truman talked to newsmen after a 45-minute meeting with Stevenson. Stevenson was present for only a few minutes of the news conference and left to catch a plane for a Duluth, Minn., speech Saturday night.

Mr. Truman came to Chicago for a dinner Saturday night when a Greek-American committee will make a $20,000 contribution to his memorial library at Independence, Mo.

The former President said that he remains neutral toward candidates for the 1956 Democratic presidential banner. He denied that he ever pledged his support to Stevenson or anybody else.

"I never told anybody I would support anybody for the nomination," Mr. Truman said. "I don't think it would be fair for me to be a dictator to the Democratic party..."

"I was for Stevenson in 1952," he continued, "and if it hadn't been for me, he never would have been nominated."

Mr. Truman said, however, that he has been "urging" Stevenson to announce his candidacy.

"If Mr. Stevenson is the nominee of the Democratic convention this coming summer, of course I will support him," the former President added.

"I don't think it is my place or my business to tell the Democratic party what to do. I have no candidates for vice president or president until the Democratic convention acts," he said.

Mr. Truman was asked to explain his role in the nomination of Stevenson at the last Democratic convention

"The Presidenet is always leader of his party, and the convention never disappoints him," he said.

Mr. Truman said there was no need to explain further. He told newsmen to "study your history" and to read his "memoirs" as President.

Earlier the former President said that if he were a resident of Illinois he would support Stevenson. He gave this reply when he was asked about a recent statement that he would back Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for the nomination if he lived in that state.

Stevenson is a "friend of mine. I like him," he said. "If I lived in Illinois there would be no question of where my loyalty would lie."

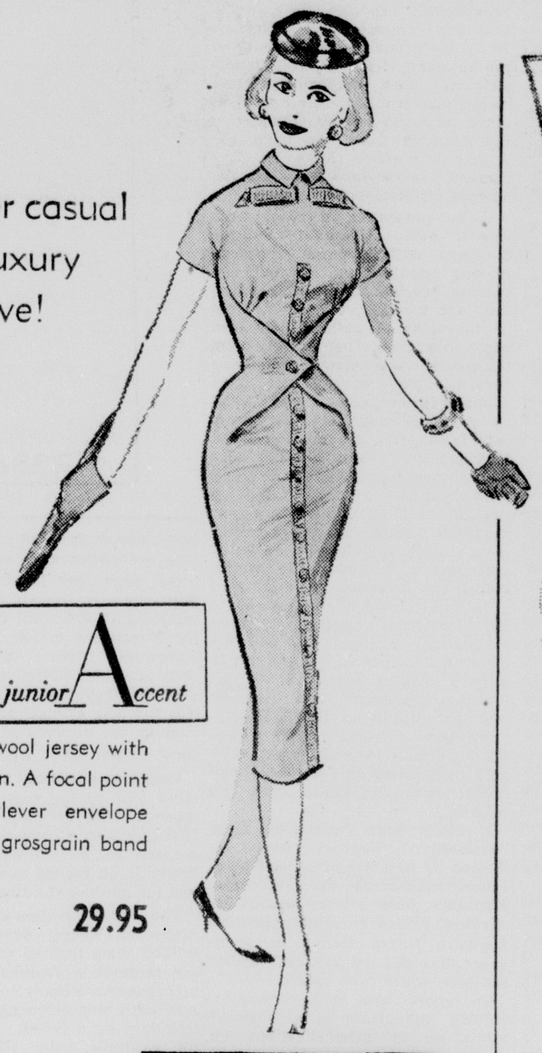

Stevenson made only a few remarks after his meting with Mr. Truman. He described the talks as "pleasing" and departed before the former President told the newsmen that he was responsible for the 1952 nomination of the former Illinois governor.

It would take 1,000 ships the size of the 80-ton Santa Maria, largest in the Columbus fleet, to equal today's liner Queen Elizabeth, 80,000 tons.

Three Outstanding Public Servants

Three top Ouachita parish office holders are unopposed for new terms in office. They are unopposed, it is reasonable to assume, because the public is satisfied with the job these officers are doing in their respective capacities.

Unopposed for new terms are Sheriff Bailey Grant, Assessor Bert Coverdale and R. Dean Farr, clerk of court. All three have distinguished themselves in office, and the citizens of Ouachita parish are not unaware of that.

In these times of stormy political campaigns, charges and counter-charges, it is refreshing to get a taste of political fair weather on the local scene.

Sheriff Grant, one of the youngest sheriffs in Louisiana, has distinguished himself, not only locally, but also has gained wide respect in the law enforcement fraternity throughout the State and the South, as did his father before him. His father, T. A. Grant, Sr., was sheriff of Ouachita parish from 1916 to 1924.

Since he went into office in 1948, Bailey Grant has modernized the Ouachita parish sheriff department's operation from stem to stern. Doubtless the efficiency of his department ranks with the best in the state, and the nation.

Ouachita parish's veteran clerk of court, R. Dean Farr, has been unopposed for two terms and during the new term coming up he will become eligible for retirement. Loyalty and efficiency have been integrated throughout the operation of the clerk's office during Mr. Farr's 18-year tenure.

Since he went in office in 1937 to fill an unexpired term left vacant by the death of Pat S. Hamilton, Mr. Farr's ability and efficiency as clerk of court has never been effectively disputed.

In the Assessor's office, Bert Coverdale has been unopposed for the last two terms. His winning ways have gained friendship that penetrates deep among his constituents.

Coverdale's office provides another story of progress and efficiency. Since he has been in office, Coverdale has managed an operation that has recorded a double in the size of Ouachita parish's tax assessment. The current assessment totals $88,019,630.

These three outstanding public servants are to be commended for the records they have built for themselves. Though they must certainly feel personally proud, the real benefactors of their good service are the people they represent.

Welcome To The Men In Uniform

They are from New England, the cradle of American culture; from the South, older than New England, with its never-ending emphasis upon the rights of the individual in a united commonwealth of states; from the broad bottoms of the Mississippi River, that great river that flows from the northernmost to the southernmost borders of the nation; from the spires of New York City, and Chicago, and Detroit, each with its individual priceless heritage out of the past; from the rolling plains of Nebraska, and the Black Hills; and the majestic Rockies, and the forest and grass-clad slopes of the Pacific, where pioneers blazed trails through the wilderness and shaped American thought and destiny.

These are men in uniform, proud emblems of the might of America, upon whom we depend as defenders of the greatest nation in all the world's history.

How greatly do we depend upon each one of them, individually, and how can we impress upon each one of them the might and majesty of his individual task, his importance and his duty and obligation as a wearer of the uniform!

We as citizens of Louisiana should be friendly with these soldiers, and their commanders; and try with the gracious hospitality that has made Louisiana famous to make them feel at home in our midst.

Let us welcome them in our public places and invite them into our homes, and to our churches.

They are our defenders, the youth of today, proudly in uniform.

The Revolution That Never Ends

A newsletter prepared for the Farm Equipment Institute by two professors of the Department of Agricultural Economics, Purdue University, states: "Even though farm incomes are currently falling, farm mechanization and modernization are going to continue at a rapid rate for several years. Farmers have sizable backlogs of purchasing power, their credit is good, and they are continuing to mechanize to gain efficiency and cut costs."

Total production per farm worker is now about 2.3 times the 1920 figure. The chief item responsible for this is more and better farm machinery. In some fields, the gains made possible by machinery are almost unbelievably spectacular. According to the newsletter, production of a bale of cotton in the Mississippi delta area requires nearly 150 man-hours of labor when the work is done by hand chopping and hand picking with the aid of a mule. With complete mechanization the time can be reduced to as little as 25 hours.

Another point the newsletter makes is that farm machinery is an excellent buy. Farm wage rates are about four times what they were in 1940. But farm machinery prices have risen only a little over half that much, and gasoline only one-eighth that much. Mechanical labor is truly cheap labor—to say nothing of its convenience and dependability.

Agriculture is still in the process of peaceful revolution—and the machine is the dominant force.

Cows in the dairy herd at Louisiana State University hold all-time state milk production records in eight of the nine classifications listed in the herd improvement registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

California man reports harvesting a ton of turnips from a dime's worth of seed. Evidently the type that is not interested in making a contribution to society.

Salvation Army Helps Those Who Need Help

Monroe, La.

Editor Morning World:

I do not wish to become embroiled in any controversy but after reading over the letters of Captain Mockabee, R.P.L. and John Williams in the public Forum of the Monroe Morning World, I wish to make a few comments and say a few things that Captain Mockabee left unsaid.

I have been employed by the Salvation Army for the past five years as Supervisor of the Red Shield Arts and Crafts Shop where we teach children to make useful articles out of scrap lumber that is donated to us by various lumber concerns and until recently,

I have been in a position to come in contact with the individuals aided by the Salvation Army and I have heard nothing but praise as to what the Salvation Army has done for them. I have talked to quite a few of the recipients and asked them why they didn't go to other relief agencies for assistance and in most every case they told me that what they needed was help and not sympathy.

In regards to R. P. L's letter, I am quite sure that the relief agency it referred to was not the Salvation Army, as that agency does not maintain an office in West Monroe. I agree with R. P. L. that there are quite a few indigent people in this community that need assistance but I most heartily disagree that there should be an agency set up for the sole purpose of helping the needy for after all, isn't that the main purpose of the Salvation Army to help those in need both spiritually and physically and isn't it an agency whose work is controlled by a committee of some of the most prominent people of this community? No one can deny that the Salvation Army as a National Organization over a period of years has done a world of good for the underpriviledged both spiritually and physically and they do not make any distinction between race, creed or color. The only requirement is that you are a human being and need help.

In regards to what Mr. Williams of Rayville had to say in his letter in praise of the Salvation Army, I have heard his words echoed by quite a few ex-service men who have come to the Salvation Army for help.

So good people, if you want to see the Salvation Army serve its purpose in this community, be generous in your donations and give them something to work with and I assure you that there will never be anyone going without help who really needs it, as they have a very capable staff to carry on the work.

I know that there may be some who will say that I have a selfish motive in writing this letter and in a way, I may have. But, those who know me and know the physical condition I am in, will know that I mean it when I say that the Salvation Army always helps those who really need help.

GORDON LONGKABEL

Recalcitrant Owners

Alexandria, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In view of the ever present danger of enemy attack upon the United States and its possessions, members of the Louisiana Department Reserve Officers Association of the United States are gravely concerned over the refusal of a few large land owners in Louisiana to lease their lands for military training purposes.

Sage Brush Exercise and the reopening of Camp Polk are vital, not only to the safety and well being of the entire nation, but more particularly to the state of Louisiana and all of its citizens.

We feel confident that the recalcitrant owners will reconsider the offer which has been made by the federal government for the leasing of their lands in the light of national safety. Consideration of the importance of military training to all Americans should certainly come before mere personal and business considerations.

Tempests From Teapots

Baton Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Here is an editorial rose for the editors of the "Monroe Morning World" for their forthright comments concerning irresponsible, sob-sister type Northern publications and the "Benedict Arnolds" among Southern white journalists who have discovered a gold mine in playing up the sorrowful and tragic race problems arising out of the Supreme Court's most unwise, untimely and certainly political decision to integrate the races in public schools.

Pointing an accusing finger at "Life" (a consistent race baiter . . . no matter how noble its intentions . . . because of its fetish for playing up racial problems, particularly inter-marriage) for shabby and untruthful reporting of the facts of the over-played Till case, the "World" editors courageously denounced such practices, citing "Life's" report that "Till's father died fighting for his country in France," when actually "he was hanged for murder and rape by the army in Italy."

The Till case was a local tragedy which in no way depicts the South's (or Mississippi's) moral fibre, mood or conscience . . . as breathlessly reported to a world that finds enough fault with rich and prosperous America without promptings from "conscience-stricken" slick magazine editors whose onion-rubbed eyes are often more concerned with circulation figures than facts, or from the grubby typewriter keys of "reformed" money-hungry Southern writers for Northern magazines.

While presenting a rose, we'd like to hurl a brickbat at those Southern daily papers who run blazing headlines of incidents involving racism simply because they are too lazy, too incompetent or too tight to gather their own news copy, depending entirely upon the Northern-owned wire and news services for coverage of such events. In the game to make money, these services often fan "tempests from teapots" into full-blown hurricanes . . . and the Till case was a teapot tempest.

At the same time the Till tragedy, a local affair involving personalities rather than Southern moves and convictions, was being sob-sistered all over the world, there was a rape, an attempted rape and a murder, all-perpetuated by "individual" Negroes against "individual" whites in just one segment of Louisiana. They made nary a blazing headline . . . just the inside sections, and three or four paragraphs at that. If anything, our Louisiana editors played these stories down. They certainly didn't capitalize on the journalistic plums always present in crime and tragedy.

It could have been that these "individual" Negroes were inflamed by national press and magazine reports on the Till case. Certainly these crimes against individual whites no more represent Southern Negro feeling or sentiment than did the Till case depict Southern white race hatred.

To report these local crimes involving individuals in sensational terms or in generalizations on state, regional or mass bigotry and prejudice is a crime against the races — against the very foundation of our free society.

The incidents cited are but forerunners of tragedies to come if the race problem isn't faced realistically and sensibly rather than through the eyes of rabble rousers, reds, NAACP hotheads, race baiters, sensationalists, sob-sisters and money-hungry writers for the big slick magazines and newspapers who make a career of tragedy, the sensational, the lewd, the immoral and the indecent rather than the facts.

Tempests in local teapots must not be allowed to split this nation asunder.

Editor, Rural Louisiana.

Army Maps Sales Campaign To Boost Reserve Program

WASHINGTON — Reluctance of American youths to train as 20th century minute men is costing the taxpayers a neat half-million dollars.

That's the sum the U. S. Army has earmarked to promote the lagging six-month enlistment program set up by the Reserve Forces Act of 1955. The $500,000 will pay for a radio-TV sales campaign to recruit eligible young men.

So far, they have stayed away in droves, despite the inducement to escape two years of active duty as draftees by signing up for six months of training, to be followed by 7½ years of part-time drill.

In October, the Army was all set to take in 5,000 six-month volunteers. Only 1,167 showed up, Congressional Quarterly learned. Of these, 666 were National Guardsmen taking advantage of the opportunity to reduce their over-all military training obligation.

The Marine Corps was prepared to start training 450 six-month recruits, but got only 61. The other services are waiting until mid-1956 to start their programs.

Several explanations are offered for the lag. Talk of easing East-West tensions certainly has cut into the pulling power of recruiting posters. More fundamental, perhaps, is the supply-demand ratio for military manpower as a whole.

On Sept. 30, the reservoir of draft-age men already classified 1A totaled 1,558,374. But the draft call for November is only 20,000, for December 18,000. In short, the odds favor draft eligibles who gamble that they won't be called, unless there is an unexpected expansion in the nation's active forces.

Only 10 Per Cent Drill

Congress definitely will take another look at the reserve problem when it reconvenes in January. The 1955 law was a compromise which pleased no one. President Eisenhower is on record as intending to ask for additional authority in 1956.

The Administration's goal is an organized Ready Reserve of 2.9 million men, trained and available for immediate mobilization in an emergency. Efforts to fill such a pool with men discharged after active duty have failed. On June 30, for example, only 163,137 — or about 10 per cent — of the 1,593,419 men in the Army's Ready Reserve were actually attending the prescribed weekly drills.

This was the situation that prompted the Administration to propose the six-month program. Under it, men between 17 and 18½ may volunteer for what amounts to basic training, then work out the balance of their military obligation by attending weekly drills and two-week summer camps.

Since recruits are spared the two years active duty required of draftees, the law provides teeth to deal with six-month trainees who fail to keep up with their drills. They may be drafted to serve two years active duty. This provision, of course, will not come into play until the first batch of volunteers completes training. As a lesser penalty, they could be recalled to active duty for 45 days.

Wants Draft Power

When he signed the 1955 law in August, Mr. Eisenhower said he would ask Congress at its next session to authorize the drafting of men for the six-month program, which was designed to train 250,000 men a year. If voluntary enlistments continue to lag, the Administration will have a strong argument.

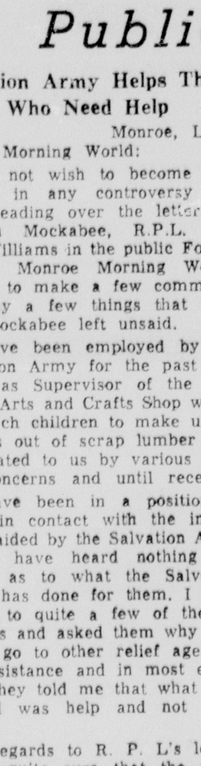

But Congress also will hear from the many groups which testified against compulsion in the 1955 bill, and which oppose anything smacking of universal military training. Their voice, while perhaps not as strong as that of the veterans groups which back a strong military reserve law, is not without force.

Army leaders are not complaining yet. They say the six-month program is just getting under way, and it may be several months before its effectiveness can be judged. But allocation of the $500,000 for sales promotion suggests the need for a strong stimulus.

So far as the Administration is concerned, the reserve program as a whole should be geared to the long-range need for a trained manpower pool ready and available at all times. Moreover, the "Geneva spirit" has not prevented the Administration from reversing its earlier intention to cut military spending in 1956.

Nevertheless, politics, both domestic and international, may contribute to a full-scale revival of the reserve policy debate in 1956.

WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS

IN WASHINGTON

Coonskin Has Become Burr Under Saddle

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem.-Tenn) has become the burr under the saddle upon which Adlai E. Stevenson proposes to ride the Democratic donkey.

Senator Kefauver's friends are certain that he will announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States when he considers the time is right. In political planning, timing is considered one of the most important factors. The Tennessean has shown good political judgement in the past, and his friends believe he will be in no rush about making his statement.

His present difficulty, they say, is to restrain "eager beavers" who want to get his campaign started in a number of states which have presidential primaries, though the primaries are still months off.

Governor Averell Harriman of New York has made known that he does not intend to enter primaries in the 21 states and territories which under differing rules instruct delegates to presidential nominating conventions by popular vote. The possible exception to this decision is his own state of New York where district delegates will be elected by primary vote on June 5, delegates at large later by state convention.

That Kefauver will enter Democratic primaries in all of those 21 areas is not likely. He will depend to a considerable extent upon advice of his friends in the irrespective states. But his conviction that any candidate who seeks the presidential nomination of his party should by willing to submit his name to voters in presidential primaries is calculated to embrass Stevenson at this time.

Having swept to one nomination much without putting forth a visable effort — there was reportedly much back stage manipulation in 1952 — the former governor of Illinois would naturally like to avoid primaries again, since one important defeat could slow his candidacy to a walk. But Kefauver's expected intention to enter at least a dozen primaries may compel the 1952 standard bearer to get in there and punch this time, actually campaigning for delegates in pre-primary tours.

Senator Kefauver knows all the ins and outs of going after delegates the hard way. He remembers the Florida primary in May 1952 in which he lost to Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, but emerged with five delegates of the state's 24, Russell getting the rest. But he can also recall New Hampshire where President Truman's name was entered before the President announced that he would not Mr. Truman a trouncing that openseek reelection and where he gave ed the eyes of the entire country.

Kefauver also had 8 delegates from Alabama, the only southern state besides Florida which holds a presidential primary. Senator Russell had 13, but the possibilities are that his name will not be entered next time, while Kefauver's will. Thus Florida and Alabama could refute the assertion that the Tennessee senator is not popular in the South.

Many seasoned observers do not think that Stevenson can declare himself a candidate and refrain from entering state primaries. In fact, it remains to be seen whether he is reluctant to do so. He is setting up a publicity bureau in Chicago and gives every indication of embarking on large scale operation.

But there seems to be no doubt that he runs something of a risk. For example Kefauver has been popular in Ohio, where he had most of the delegates last time, and which holds its primary on May 8. If Kefauver were to defeat Stevenson there, midway of the pre-primary campaign, doubts would be raised whether he could carry that state against a Republican in a presidential contest. And if a similar contest were staged in California on June 5, where Kefauver took all 68 delegates last time, it could result in a heavy blow to the Stevenson chances.

Stevenson backers are saying that in several states which Kefauver carried last time, he had either no opposition or none of consequence, so that some of his primary victories were unconvincing. The answer to that seems to be for Stevenson to enter all or most of the same primaries. Otherwise the donkey may become conscious of the burr and rear up.

Draft-Age Youth Won't Enlist

Congress, hedging on whether this is war or peace, enacted a "compulsory volunteer" training program this last session. Afraid of the political impact of UMT, but more afraid of the Russians, they enacted a teen - age training program which would permit a draft - eligible youth to volunteer for a short term rather than be drafted for a longer one.

As usual, when Congress fails to face its responsibility squarely, we end up going in circles.

It isn't working.

The teen - agers won't be scared into enlisting.

When the Army had hoped for 8,000 a month, they're getting about 1,000 a month.

Chances are only 1 in 10 that a draft - eligible youth will be drafted anyway, so they're holding back and playing those odds.

This is an extravagance. A single private's pay is $78 a month. With family allowances he can get $155.10 a month.

Further, it is a hardship to these older and "more settled" men, where there is an entirely adequate pool of younger, single men available.

Senator John Bricker protested this policy and was informed by the Pentagon that "no change is anticipated at this time."

Meanwhile, the uncertainty leaves all eligible young men unable to make concrete plans for the future. Former National Legion Commander, Seaborn Collins, calls this uncertainty "a contributing factor to juvenile delinquency."

The reluctance of young men to enlist is understandable. We have let Korea's GI's languish, unaccounted for, in Communist prisons, or punished them when they returned. We have denied them the constitutional guarantees for which they are asked to fight. This is the first time in history that American servicemen abroad were placed under the jurisdiction of foreign civil courts.

You can't keep spitting on the uniform of our country and still have our young men flock to the colors. They won't do it!

So the teen - age "volunteer" program is a flop!

I think our preoccupation with masses of marching men is archaic and unrealistic. But if our best military judgment says a specific standing force is required, let's forget trying to "scare them" into joining up. Let's abandon the top heavy draft machinery. And let's swipe the technique employed by the Air Force. That is to make the service, itself, so attractive that voluntary enlistments are more than adequate to satisfy the need.

When the Air Force combined its recruiting efforts with others, only 83.7 per cent of the goal was reached. Independently, creating the illusion of competition and developing a real pride in their branch, Air Force enlistments have gone "over the top."

Lights Over Broadway

By Walter Winchell

All of us were raving about the delightful 90 minute program by Noel Coward and Mary Martin.

"Big Time all the way," was the unanimous opinion.

"But," said a midnighter, "what good are all those rave reviews by the teevee critics? If you happened to miss the show and you read the great notices where can you see it?"

Quiteso, quiteso. We wish the tv-radio critics would confine their critiques to improving programs of unfunny comics; those who use blue material; comedians who want to be tragedians, commercials that are brighter than the show; talentless people on panels and news commentators who don't wear hats.

Bob Olin assumes when Peter and Meg marry — their towels will be inscribed 'is and 'ers.

Poor Peter. The only bridegroom in history who had to propose to a whole country.

Wotta switch. Every girl dreams of being a Princess. Meg just wants to be another Girl.

"Or," said another, "a walk-on."

Johnny Samen (of the Keyboard) relays the one about the Wolf trying to talk his date into going to his place . . . and . . . uh . . . er . . . listen to his Hi-Fi set. But she was hesitant and suspicious.

"Look," he said, in desperation, "how long do I know you?"

"Half an hour," said she.

"Well," was the retort, "did I ever lie to you?"

From Meyer Berger's pillar in the N. Y. Times: "In the easy way of the town jehu . . ."

Meyer means hackie.

George Solotaire was telling critic G. J. Nathan that after 22 years in Westchester he moved back to Manhattan.

"It's always good to be within striking distance of things," Nathan observed. "I was strolling along the Champs Elysees with Mencken. Mencken said: "This is a beautiful boulevard — but where's the drug store?' "

Funny thing about Martin & Lewis, Berle & Gleason, Dick Haymes, Mel Torme and Sinatra.

The Berle - Gleason feud was Topic A at Dubrow's.

"Isn't it funny," said Alan Dale "how Jackie and Milton can let a little thing like 11 million dollars come between them?"

The panhandlers were coming in bunches where the B'way press cars gather. All the under-paid photogs and scribes staked them from two-bits to a buck.

Then the 4th Estaters realized "the word was out" that they were pushovers. So when another drunk asked for a handout Gene Meltzer got a howl with: "I have already given my quarter — for The Year!"

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen (a Liberal as we understand the beautiful word) was honored with a testimonial dinner by The American Friends of Spain. The event was attended by many Americans, from Ambassadors to Merchant Princes (such as Bernard Gimbel, who presided); members of the U. S. Gov't; the United Nations and so on. The N. Y. Post editorial page, in its dissent, mentioned only the name of one guest: "Indeed, so intrepid a watchdog of the Republic and proclaimed foe of totalitarianism as Walter Winchell participated in the ceremonies."

The editorial failed to ad: As did the Great Liberal Dr. Ralph Bunche, who sat on the dais.

The very idea that we would bait or trick our youth into uniform is a frightening confession.

Funeral Rites Set This Afternoon For T. Shannon

The funeral of Travis W. Shannon, 46, a former Monroyan, will be held in Peters Funeral chapel Sunday afternoon, with Dr. Hugh Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Riverview Burial Park.

Shannon's death occurred in his home Thursday night. He was said to have been suffering from impaired health for some time.

He was a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, and had formerly been manager of the Firestone Company in Monroe. Later he saw service in the second world war, and when he was mustered out, he removed with his family to Houma where he and his wife were operating a private telephone exchange.

He had a wide circle of friends here. His son, Prentice Cox, was exceptionally popular and a brilliant student at Northeast State.

The body will arrive here over the Missouri Pacific at 7:10 a. m. Sunday and will be taken to Peters Funeral Home, to remain until time for the funeral.

Mr. Shannon is survived by his wife; a son, Prentice W. Cox, Jackson, Miss.; a daughter, Mrs. Cecil Guinn, Lake Charles, and an only sister, Mrs. F. L. Watts of West Monroe.

EIGHT DIE IN WRECK

SALINAS, Calif.—UP—Eight persons were killed and six others injured Thursday when a Southern Pacific freight train knifed through a panel truck jammed with Mexican farm laborers.

The accident occurred Thursday at a private crossing leading into a farm near Chualar, about eight miles south of here.

Witnesses said the driver of the truck apparently was blinded by the early morning sun and failed to see the southbound local freight bearing down on the crossing.

Louisiana Taxes Cut Seen Likely By Earl K. Long

COLUMBIA, (Special)—Earl K. Long said here Saturday the program he proposes for Louisiana can be carried out with present state revenues and that taxes can be decreased if tidelands money continues at its present level.

Long, candidate for election as Louisiana's governor for another term, spoke at a series of rallies in northeast Louisiana, opening at Sicily Island and speaking at Columbia before a crowd shortly before noon.

Lether Frazar, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Long ticket, announced in his Columbia address that Long will set up a program to offer scholarships to young people entering the teaching profession.

He said, "There is a critical shortage of teachers all over the nation," and cited the case in some cities in California where children must attend school in three shifts daily.

Primarily, he said, the question in many states is an economic one—teachers have not been paid and are not being paid commensurate with their training. He said the Long administration will work to raise the economic level of all school personnel.

Frazar said Long and members of his administration will seek an appropriation to set up in this state some scholarships for teachers' training "with the idea of getting more young women to go to college to prepare for the teaching profession. For if things continue as they are, we will not in the near future have enough teachers to teach our boys and girls who are coming on."

Frazar resigned from the presidency of McNeese State College to make the race for lieutenant governor. He is also a former president of Southwestern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette and as a member of the legislature was the author of a number of acts to further the school program in Louisiana.

Sidney McCrory, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, again hit at the handling of the marketing problems for Louisiana crops and promised alert attention to the needs of farmers at all levels and in all parts of the state.

Jack P. F. Gremillion, candidate for lieutenant governor, said he will pursue vigorously the fight for tidelands. Bill Dodd, candidate for lieutenant governor and Lucille May Grace, candidate for register of state lands, urged support of the full Earl K. Long ticket and predicted first primary victory on January 17.

Ernest Clements of Oberlin, former state senator and commissioner of wildlife and fisheries, spoke with the ticket, praising the Long administrations in the past for their fine, humanitarian leadership in providing for children, for the ill and for the aged.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION FISHER

The cast of "Dial 'M' for Murder" is hard at work, the first of rehearsals having been begun during the past week. It is an interesting fact that the Monroe Little Theatre may be the first to present this entertaining melodrama, but in view of the absence of statistics on the matter it is certain that we are among the first, if not the very first. Le Petit Theatre de Vieux Carre, of New Orleans has scheduled "Dial 'M' " for its next production which will open there about four days after our opening night.

Director Ivan Uttal spent last week end in New Orleans where he attended the Saturday night performance of "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," at Le Petit Theatre, which opened October 19 and runs through October 30.

The south - west theatre conference, of which our Little Theatre is a member, will be held in Dallas, Texas, November 3 through 6th. This is a meeting for the heads of all educational and community theatres where new ideas are exchanged, and also musical and dramatic productions will be included on the program. Director Uttal will attend the conference, but rehearsals at our playhouse will be held as scheduled in his absence.

Ben Marshall, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and wife, Joy, have gone to Lake Charles to attend the state meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . By the way, many Little Theatreites attended the beautiful silver tea held Thursday at the Marshall residence . . . Eleanor Riley is in New Orleans for a two-week visit . . . It's vacation time for Julius Cahn who is enjoying a trip through the south, stopping to visit in several places, en route to Florida . . . George Weaks, husband of former board member Nancy, is on an extended business trip to the east which will take him to Detroit and New York . . . R. W. Cretney has returned from a trip to Washington, D. C. Mrs. Myrtle Carter and Mrs. Tony Veazey will be among those taking a very active part in the hospitality department at Red Cross in connection with the war maneuvers being conducted.

A special word of thanks to Mrs. Mize who loaned the Little Theatre some of the beautiful antique furniture from her home, to be used on the set of "The Happy Time."

Students Honored At Crossett High

CROSSETT, Ark., Oct. 29 (Special) — Shirley Hunter and Don Grice were selected as the Best Citizens for the first six week's period at the Crossett High School. The two students were honored as guests of the Crossett Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon.

Their names will be added to the honor roll of Best Citizens at the Crossett School.

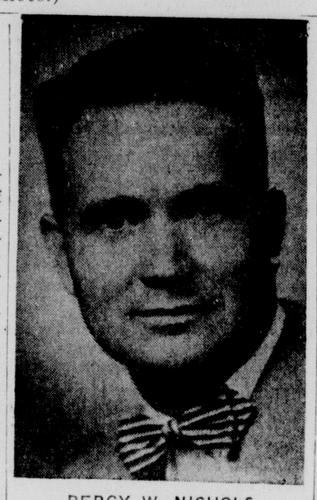

Miss Hunter is the daughter of E. L. Hunter. She is a majorette, secretary of the band, a member of the Key Club, the F.T.A. and the Glee Club. She was a homecoming maid and a candidate for the honor of being Termite Queen.

Grice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Grice. He is a member of the Junior High National Honor Society, has played football, basketball and track and is presently serving as president of his 9th grade home room.

Private Plane Crashes; 3 Die

CRAIG, Colo., Oct. 29 —UP— A private Beech Bonanza plane crashed into a hillside 25 miles southeast of here Saturday, killing the three men aboard.

The victims were identified as Jim Eskridge, owner of the plane and operator of a local flying service, Jay Brinkley of Craig, and a man identified immediately only as Pickett.

PERCY W. NICHOLS

Statement Issued By Percy Nichols On His Candidacy

Percy W. Nichols, West Monroe businessman, yesterday issued his formal announcement of candidacy for police juror from Ward 5 in the January 17 Democratic primary election.

Nichols, a native of Caldwell Parish, graduated from Sikes High School and after attending Draughon's Business College in Little Rock, Ark. was employed by radio stations KGHI and KARK.

Nichols served four and a half years with the U. S. Navy during World War II and was discharged in 1945, at which time he and his two brothers opened their present business in West Monroe.

He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and is an active member of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Nichols' statement is as follows:

"Being a Christian, I believe in kindness, honesty and fairness to all people, regardless of creed or religion.

"I will be available at all times to discuss your problems with you.

"I believe that our parish funds should be distributed properly and equally to each ward, and if elected I agree to represent all the people justly and fairly at all times."

City Court

MONROE

Judge W. M. Harper in Monroe city court Friday heard 29 cases, 21 of them alleged traffic violations. A total of $187.50 in traffic fines was assessed.

In other action, Mrs. D. P. Wilder, of Houston, Tex. received a 15 day compulsory jail sentence on a public drunkenness charge. Mary Page of 1711 Adams St. was fined $350 or seven months in default on an illegal use of weapons charge. Paul Jones and Crist Drake both received 60-day compulsory jail sentences on public drunkenness charges. Henry David of 1810 Adams St. was fined $25 or seven days in default on a public drunkenness charge. Felix Flentory of 1210 North 19th St. was fined on a charge of disturbing the peace. Mrs. Andie Z. Womack of 2810 South Grand St., who was charged with public drunkenness and disturbing the peace received a 30-day compulsory jail sentence on each charge.

WEST MONROE

Three persons were fined for speeding in West Monroe city court Friday by Judge Jasper E. Jones. They were: Keith Yeager, 32, 3111 North Eighth, West Monroe, fined $20.50, bond forfeited; James Freeman, 20, 105 Oakland, West Monroe, fined $30.50 or 30 days default; and Robert Norman Young, 17, 709 North Second, West Monroe, fined $35.50 or 35 days default.

Sarah P. Bracken, 36, of Newellton, was fined $5.50, bond forfeited, for running a red traffic signal.

Nathaniel Pierce, 25, Monroe, received a fine of $25 or 25 days default on a fighting charge.

California Solon Has Heart Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 —UP — The wife of Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif.) said Saturday he suffered a "mild heart attack" at home Wednesday night and was taken to Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital.

Blacktopping Job To Start Nov. 1

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 29 — More than $72,000 in new blacktopping goes under construction in Ouachita Parish November 1 by the highway department.

Board chairman Sam Short said T. L. James and Co. of Ruston bid successfully for the contract which calls for asphalt concrete to a width of 20 feet State Hwy. 837 from the existing pavement at the junction of State Hwy. 151 at Carlton proceeding north towards Eureka, then west rejoining Hwy. 151 in a thickly populated area.

Short said the road should be open to all traffic in less than five months.

Arthur (Doc) West has just returned from attending the funeral of Mrs. T. J. Townsend, his foster mother, at McKinney, Tex.

She was 82 years of age and although a shut in for years through illness she was ever cheerful. She was devoted to her family who comprised a daughter, Miss Jeanette Townsend; Arthur West, son; and two grandchildren, Raymond West of Vivian and Mrs. L. M. Halbrook, Baton Rouge; besides a sister, Mrs. D. W. Lee Priceton, Tex., and several nieces and nephews.

Her funeral was largely attended with three pastors officiating.

TRAVIS W .SHANNON

Travis W. Shannon, former resident of Monroe, who died in Houma, La., Thursday, will be buried following services at Peters Chapel 2 p.m. Sunday.

Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery with military honors at the graveside. He was a member both the V.F.W. and the American Legion.

Pallbearers will be Paul Smith, Carl Guinn, Archie Hebert, J. D. Strange, Henry Wells, W. H Wells.

JAMES A. GARLAND

James A. Garland, 86, who lived near Calhoun died Saturday afternoon at his home after a long illness.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Aulds Chapel Church with the Rev. E. L. Tanner officiating, assisted by Rev. Erickson.

Burial will be in Aulds chapel cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe. The body will remain at the family residence until time for services.

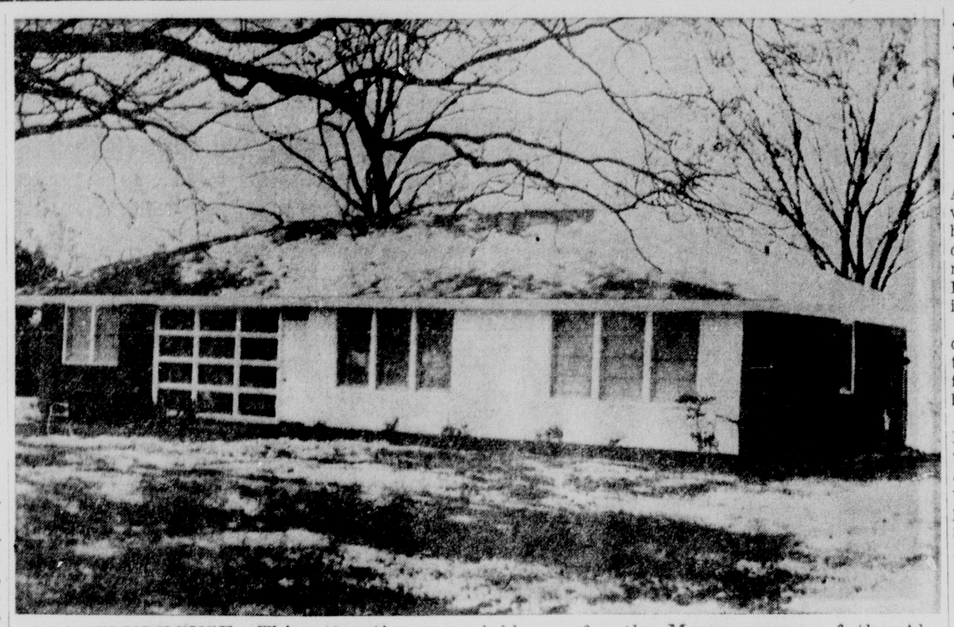

Survivors include his wife, Dora B. Garland; four sons, Clyde, Calhoun; Hood, Jackson, Miss.; Ross, Homer; two daughters, Mrs. J. A. Crawford, Calhoun; Mrs. Carlos Redding, Calhoun; one brother, John Garland, Crew Lake; one sister, Mrs. Floyd Frost, Calhoun; 17 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

GEORGE THOMAS WASHER

COLUMBIA, Oct. 29 (Special)—George Thomas Washer, 70, of Grayson, died at the Caldwell hospital in Columbia this afternoon after a lengthy illness.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday afternoon at the Palestine Baptist Church, with the Rev. Harrison Cockerham officiating. Interment will follow in the Luna cemetery.

Survivors include three sons, Claude T., Columbia; L. M., Hayward, Calif.; Lavern, of Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. Maeque Dortch, Columbia; Mrs. Jimmie Lea Martin, Baton Rouge; two brothers, Lee Washer, Bossier City; Jim Washer of Winnfield; three sisters, Mrs. Della Doris, Spring Hill; Mrs. Ella and Mrs. Annie Willis, both of Shreveport; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A. A. CLUBHOUSE—This attractive new clubhouse for the Monroe group of the Alcoholics Anonymous fellowship is being formally opened and dedicated yesterday with special ceremonies continuing today. Today's program, at 4300 South Grand St., will feature an "open" A. A. meeting, to which the public will be welcomed, beginning at 2 o'clock p.m. The new clubhouse, with its furnishings, fixtures and spacious grounds, represents a property valuation of about $32,000.

Grevemberg said many employes had to borrow the money from loan companies.

He added that in the second primary state police were given a choice of contributing another month's pay or giving the candidate a $12,000 surplus in the state police retirement fund.

"They voted to give the retirement month," Grevemberg said, "and I've got a photostatic copy of the check to prove it."

He concluded with a blast at political deals.

"No one can tell me a candidate can get the support of rank Clancy (Jefferson Parish sheriff) or Leander Perez (St.Bernard-Plaquemines district attorney) — If he decides to support anybody — without making a deal that infringes on your rights," Grevemberg said, adding, "I will never make such a deal."

Clancy recently announced his support for Preaus. Perez has not publically supported any candidates.

Earlier, McLemore said he was 100 per cent for segregation and 1,000 per cent against integration.

"I want my position on this subject to be crystal clear," he said. "And as your governor I shall use every legal means in my power to uphold our present way of life and to maintain the traditions of our state."

He also said he was pledged to work for equal facilities for all Louisiana children, in both education and recreation.

And he added that with judicious allocation of tidelands funds, new and modern schools would be built and the salary standards of teachers raised to the highest levels of the profession.

He pointed out that graduates of Louisiana colleges were leaving the state to accept teaching posts offering higher salaries and said the need for teachers would grow as the population grew.

mantled the large two-story house at the rear of the lot he now owns immediately south of the clinic. By some old timers, this housee is classed as the oldest in Monroe. Others insist that the house which has been in the O'Kelly family, at 123 North 6th street, is the oldest. We are not starting any controversy for both are structures that are of extremely venerable age.

A Monroyan reports an incident that happened the past week when she was with a party from here paying visit to Niagara Falls. When the bus in which they rode got to the line that separates the U. S. from Canada, custom house officers were on the job. One came down the line and asked every person where he or she was born. When the man came to one woman, she answered with a smirk. "I was born in Russia!" The officer appeared quite displeased but making no comment he went down the line with his questioning. Then he came back to tackle the case of the woman. But by now she was lacking the rather braggadocian air she formerly possessed. "I was just jesting! No, I was not born in Russia!" she explained. "I am an American!"

The officer gave her a good sound scolding and told her never again to jest about anything as serious as that when reporting to a custom house officer.

Leesville is beginning to perk up as it gets ready to entertain, as residents of the place, possibly as many as 50,000 people, now that Camp Polk is to be Fort Polk. Business house operators now see some prosperous years ahead and they are waxing joyful.

The Tech concert season of 1955-56 at Ruston will open in Howard auditorium Monday night and many from the Twin Cities will attend as they are always strong supporters of these great artistic productions.

Collinston Patches Up After Storm

COLLINSTON, Oct. 29 (Special) —Residents of this small Negro community were patching up today in the wake of a twister like windstorm that seemed to have a peculiar respect for human lives.

Swirling winds toppled two houses located side by side when the storm smacked into the community and hop-scotched at approximately 10:25 a.m. Friday. But as kind fate would have it none of the occupants of the destroyed houses were at home at the time.

On the other hand the houses immediately flanking the scene of destruction virtually teemed with small Negro children. At home in the adjoining houses immediately the scene of destruction when the storm struck were a total of 14 small Negro children. Eight in one house and six in the other.

The houses destroyed were those of Tina Mansfield and Ann Smith. Both were small frame dwellings consisting of two large rooms. Living in one house immediately flanking the homes leveled were Zeboria Wallace and three children, ages nine, six and three. Also an occupant of the same house was Marguerite Moore and her three children, ages six, three, and one—and one half years.

At home in the other house adjoining the flattened residences were Clotine Harris and her six children, ages seven, six, four, three, two, and six months, and Erma Spencer and her two children, ages six and one.

A window above an unoccupied baby crib was knocked out in the house occupied by the Wallace and Moore families. The storm with a knack for hitting residences while their residences were out also knocked the roof of the residence of the Willie Bryant family and knocked the blocks from under the residence occupied by Lucy Nelson. Other houses damaged were those of Joe Lean, Nathan Roland, Gertrude Winston, Dorothy Mansfield and Alvin Hogg.

Residents of the community who were standing in the road between two rows of houses when the storm struck said the twisting winds were borne by a black cloud that swirled out of the west. They described the winds as twisting. The storm knocked out power lines feeding the entire southern end of Collinston. Louisiana Power and Light repairmen worked throughout the remainder of the day to restore service.

The intense cold of the Antarctic continent helps preserve many things and food, wood, printed matter, and matches left there often are found many years later in very good condition.

Leesville Plans Celebration Of Polk Reopening

LEESVILLE, Oct. 29—UP—The American flag will wave, shops will close and the streets will be bedecked with bunting during colorful ceremonies here Tuesday marking the reactivation of Camp Polk into a permanent post bearing the name change of Fort Polk.

Numerous civilian and military dignitaries are expected to attend the affair which the city has fashioned into a holiday for all business.

Mayor R. J. Fertita said, "Fort Polk will be of great economic value to Leesville and surrounding areas. . .Iurge all citizens of Leesville to show this appreciation and patriotism by closing their business and displayng their flags on Fort Polk day."

Leesville is the closest town of any size to the giant base which will be the headquarters for massive Army-Air Force maneuvers starting Nov. 1.

militarized zone and vicinity," Burns' letters said.

He points out that it "appeared both parties have recently been sending additional armed personnel into the area and occupying new defense positions."

He accused the Egyptians of starting the new series of clashes and killing and said that Israel had retaliated. Then he formally appealed for them to stop the fighting in the area demilitarized by the 1948 Israeli-Arab armistice.

He said the next country to make an attack will bear a "grave moral responsibility."

The letter added that Burns was authorized by UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to issue the warning and that he had seen the letter.

The general conferred at UN headquarters from 10 a. m. until noon with Hammarskjold. Britain's ambassador to the UN, Sir Pierson Dixon and U. S. Palestine expert James W. Barco. Burns flew back to the UN headquarters Wednesday from the Holy Land.

Halloween Pies Are Detoured By Green 'Goblins'

"The hob-gobblins have hatched out in our pumpkin."

That is what Mrs. Joe E. Wallace of 801 Standifer thought when she cut open a 35-pound pumpkin, intended for use in pies, and found it filled with sprouted seed, vines and roots.

The pumpkin, purchased at a Monroe store a week ago was pierced with a knife Saturday. Mrs. Wallace said she found some vines three inches long inside the gord-like fruit, and some had roots as long as seven inches.

The leaves were as green as if they had been grown outside in the yard where they could get sunlight, she said.

"I've opened many a pumpkin, but never found one like this," she added. "It was in perfect condition without a fracture of the outside visible."

The array of greenery inside apparently has won a reprieve for the pumpkin, which, according to present plans will not be processed into pies for the Halloween observance.

"I think I'll let it keep on growing vines," said Mrs. Wallace, "it should make a pretty sight."

Spent Bullet Lodged In Window Of Home

A West Monroe resident reported that she found a spent bullet in her bedroom window Saturday.

Mrs. A. A. Cook, of 506 Montgomery, told West Monroe police Saturday morning that she first noticed a hole in her bedroom window about 9 a.m.

Upon investigating, she found a .22 calibre bullet lying between the window and the screen.

Police said the bullet must have been fired from a considerable distance.

expected from these patriotic quarters.

"Threats of boycotts have no place in a free society and southern people properly resist the threats now openly travelling the clandestine grape vines of the propagandists. But it must be realized that a boycott is a two-edged sword and that the South, populated by an indignant and cohesive people, are in a strong position to set this dirty word to advertising music.

"Many segments of the American press have been infiltrated by agents of the anti-South groups and these media, including certain radio and television outlets, newspapers, and especially some of the slick magazines, have become willing tools of the propagandists.

"Other segments have been overpowered by the vast unceasing onslaught, and have become passive, unwitting dupes.

"But still a third segment, and herein lies the South's hope for truth and effective rebuttal, finds itself engulfed by a flood of propaganda, distortions and untruths from one side; a trickle of fact from the other.

"It should be the purpose of the southern commission to place the sword of truth in the hands of this last sadly beseiged segment of the American press.

"Southern people have been pushed far enough."

Investigation Due In Fatal Stabbing Of Monroe Negro

No verdict had been returned Saturday night by the coroner's jury in the Friday night death of Charlie Kimbrough, 28, Negro, who was stabbed at 102 North 11th, according to Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner.

Dr. French said an investigation will be made. No witnesses were found, he said, but apparently the Negro was fighting with a Negro woman.

Thelma Jackson, 21, 120 Depot street, was arrested by Monroe police and booked on a charge of murder in connection with Kimbrough's death. She was transferred to the parish jail.

Dr. French said Kimbrough's heart was pierced in the stabbing.

Oil Begins Flow Into Well Blaze Near Kaplan, La.

KAPLAN, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—Thick, black smoke billowed out of a burning well today as the rich deposits of oil burst into flame for the first time.

Since Wednesday, when the fire broke out, only the gas distillate of the well had been in flames. But oil has begun to gush and catch fire. Firefighters were not certain if the new development would hinder their work.

Since Wednesday about 90 million cubic feet of gas has burned. Flames have consumed 1500 barrels of oil.

Stanley E. Hodges Joins McCain-Richards

Stanley E. Hodges

J. H. "Slim" Scogin, Vice President and general sales manager of McCain-Richards, Louisiana's largest Ford dealer, this week announced the appointment of Stanley E. Hodges to the new car sales force. Hodges is well known throughout the Twin City area and has a wide circle of friends here, where he has resided since 1915, and has been an active worker in civic and church affairs. Hodges invites his many friends to call him for a demonstration ride in the 1956 Ford, and expressed the feeling that these friends would share the enthusiasm he has for this fine car at half the fine car price. Hodges continued, "I know my friends will be impressed with the tremendous trade-in allowance our appraiser is giving toward the purchase of the great new '56 Ford."

Navy Studies Application Of Atom Sub As Tug Boat For Undersea Troop Train

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—That dramatic and deadly fighting ship, the atomic submarine, may find itself with still another important but mundane mission in wartime—an undersea tug boat.

It may be used to tow a string of submersible hulls, each carrying several hundred troops or tons of cargo, for invasion operations or to ship high priority supplies through enemy-menaced seas.

This possibility is pointed up by two developments:

1. Disclosure a few days ago by Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, nuclear proplusion expert, that the current building program includes a huge submarine to be powered by two atomic reactors.

2. Navy experiments, with conventionally powered submarines, in undersea towing operations. The experiments, started some years ago, have progressed to the point where they now are part of standard training work.

Rickover was terse in his reference to the big boat in an address at San Francisco. He said only that it would be the largest and "the first one powered by two reactors."

Plans for the boat are understood to call for a vessel of 5,000 tons displacement, compared with 3,000 tons for the two nuclear submarines now afloat — the Nautilus and Seawolf.

The exact power of the prototype Nautilus, with its single reactor, has not been stated. However, it is greater than the approximate 6,000 shaft-horsepower of standard fleet type, diesel-powered submarines. At another point in his talk, Rickover spoke of Atomic Energy Commission studies under way looking to development of nuclear propulsion plants for naval craft —surface as well as submersible—ranging from 3,000 to 40,000 shaft-horsepower.

The horsepower of even a standard submarine is about double that of an ordinary survace towboat. With the abundance of power potential in the big nuclear submarines, some forward-looking experts see a future wartime operation like this:

A multireactor submarine rigged for towing about three submersible hulls.

The hulls would be built to operate to depths of at least 400 feet. They would be equipped with only enough diesel power for slow operation—four or five knots—in harbors or if they had to cast off from the towing submarine in emergency. Diving controls and depth-finding and sonar gear would be rudimentary. No bulky torpedoes or other armament would be carried. Fuel storage would be minimum.

All of this would mean that most of the space in the hull could be used for passengers or cargo. Up to 500 troops could be accommodated. Even the comparatively small, machinery-packed fleet type submarines have carried as many as 120 men on occasions.

Experts familiar with the new atomic submarines believe the air supply for so many men would be no major problem. They point to the 84 hours during which the Nautilus remained entirely submerged while steaming from New London, Conn., to San Juan, Puerto Rico. The Navy has not disclosed the system used in the Nautilus. However, before the Nautilus was launched the Navy had been working intensively on a method of recovering oxygen from sea water.

Mother Acquitted Of Killing Rival Faces Test Ordeal

WASHINGTON Oct. 29 —UP— Mrs. Katherine Ann Haynes, tiny mother of four girls who killed her husband's red-haired, teen - aged mistress, Saturday faced up to two months of mental and physical tests.

The wispy-haired 28- year - old mother was found innocent of first degree murder by a federal jury Friday by reason of temporary insanity. On order of the court she was taken immediately to St. Elizabeth's, a mental hospital here, for examination.

Dr. Addison Duval, acting superintendent of the hospital, said Saturday there is "no precise way to know" how long it would take to complete the sanity tests. He said it might take two months.

"These tests usually run from 30 to 60 days," he said.

The hospital staff's job is to determine whether Mrs. Haynes, 28, is still suffering from the insanity the jury decided had afflicted the 99-pound mother last July 19 when she shot and killed 19 - year - old Nancy Peyton.

Mrs. Haynes' husband, Willis, had lavished gifts on the young girl, provided her with an apartment and boasted to his wife of the girl's "sexual abilities."

Mrs. Haynes forced her husband at gunpoint into the apartment he had rented for Miss Peyton on the night of July 9 and then shot the girl.

Distant Cotton Futures Remain Weak In Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 29, (AP) —Cotton futures prices traced a familiar pattern this week — nearby deliveries were strong while distant contracts declined sharply.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished at prices which ranged from $1.90 a bale higher to $5.40 lower than the week before. New life-of-contract lows were scored by all contracts from July on.

The nearer months were aided by mill price fixing and short covering. Sentiment was also bolstered by continued heavy movement of cotton into the government loan.

Distant deliveries were under strong selling pressure, however. A major depressing influence was uncertainty regarding the 1955 price support level and the possible effect of the government's cotton export marketing program scheduled to start in January.

Early in the week, a sharp wave of selling was triggered by a prediction from the International Cotton Advisory Committee that foreign countries in a few years would grow so much cotton of their own that they could stop buying U. S. cotton.

Also on the bearish side was Sen. Ellender's D—La. comment that restoration of a vigorous price support system had no chance of passing in the U. S. Senate next year.

Exports of U. S cotton for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 37,000 bales, vs. 40,000 the previous week and 74,000 in the like week last year.

This would raise the total for the season through Tuesday to 334,000 bales, or hardly more than half the 456,000 bales exported at the same time last season.

Lucia Chase Taft Commits Suicide

CINCINNATI, Oct. 29 (AP) —Miss Lucia Chase Taft, 31, daughter of Charles P. Taft and a niece of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, was found dead in her home here today.

Attaches in the office of Coroner Herbert P. Lyle said they were told Miss Taft had died of a self-inflicted knife wound. They said she had been depressed and under the care of a physician in New York recently.

Miss Taft attended the University of Cincinnati and was graduated from Vassar.

Her father formerly was president of the National Council of Churches and was an unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Ohio in 1952. He currently is a candidate for the Cincinnati City Council, a position he formerly held for many years.

Egypt To Seek American-Type Arms In Japan

TOKYO, Oct. 29 —UP— Egypt, which is buying Communist-manufactured arms, has indicated it wants to buy American-type rockets and other weapons produced in Japan, a spokesman for Japan's largest trading firm disclosed Saturday.

The spokesman for Mitsubishi Shoji said that Egyptian authorities have expressed interest in buying arms in Japan in informal inquiries which began last year but that "no orders have been received."

Congress Faces New Hassel On Oil Importation

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Despite administration moves for a settlement, it looks like a good possibility that Congress will have to wrestle again next year with oil imports.

The administration—through the Office of Defense Mobilization ODM—called on importing companies in September to limit their foreign purchases voluntarily. Otherwise, ODM Director Arthur Flemming said, it appeared "inescapable" that the government "will have to take action as provided in the Trade Agreement Extension Act of 1955."

The provision, adopted in place of bills calling for strict specific limits on oil imports, authorizes the President to adjust imports of any commodity impairing national security.

Sen. Payne R-Maine disclosed on Oct. 20 a letter Flemming had sent him which sounded different. Payne interpreted it to mean "that there is no need to reduce oil imports at this time."

Flemming said in the letter that a special cabinet committe's recommendation on oil imports last February did not mean imports had to be limited when they rose above 1954 levels—as some oil and coal state legislators have contended.

"Since domestic production during 1955 has increased significantly above the level of 1954," Flemming told Payne, "The objective of the committee's recomendation would be realized by a volume of imports higher than 1954. This makes possible the maintenance of an equitable sharing of an expanding market by both importers and domestic producers."

Payne said "It is clear from Flemming's letter that there is no need to reduce oil imports at this time. Increasing domestic oil and coal production is keeping pace with rising oil imports, thus maintaining the ratio of domestic production to imports recommended in 1954 by the President's advisory Committee."

Industry segments pushing for less imports of oil, seem to have all but given up on the idea that a reduction can be accomplished voluntarily.

The Independent Petroleum Assn. of America heard this week from its general counsel, Russell Brown, that "The oil import problem continues with no signs of solution short of government action under existing law."

If ODM doesn't recommend that the trade agreements provision be used to slow the oil flow into this country, numerous legislators are bound to dust off their bills calling for mandatory stiff reductions and to argue the point next year.

Rathbone, Douglas To Team Monday In Ruston Show

Helen Douglas and Basil Rathbone, two famous names in the entertainment world, will team in Ruston Monday for two performances in Howard auditorium under the sponsorship of the Tech Concert Association.

The famed concert singer and the actor will open the season for Tech Concerts with a 2:15 p. m. matinee and a night performance at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Douglas, a veteran concert artist who has appeared on stages throughout the United States and Europe, is also an ex-congresswoman from California. She served in the House of Representatives from 1945 to 1951 and shortly thereafter was defeated by Richard Nixon in a race for the seat he held in the U. S. Senate before he became vice president of the United States.

Rathbone, who will appear soon in the new Danny Kaye film "Court Jester," nursed a servere cold last night and was "recuperating before the appearance Monday."

Rathbone, an established name as actor on stage, in films and television, has starred as Sherlock Holmes in the popular television series.

The Douglas - Rathbone combine will entertain in Ruston in a dramatic comedy, "One Plus One." Both will star in dramatic acting roles, not as singers. Rathbone is primarily an actor but Mrs. Douglas is also a concert singer.

Stock Market Changes Pace In Recovery Drive

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—The stock market had a change of pace this week and capped its recovery drive with a mixed and sometimes baffling performance.

The great fall set off by President Eisenhower's illness hit bottom Oct. 11, and since then the market has advanced nine times and declined four. This week saw three of those four declines. The Associated Press average was down $1 at $168.90.

A flood of record high earnings and a mass of excellent dividend news came but you couldn't tell it by the way the market acted.

U. S. Steel raised its dividend. The stock fell.

Standard Oil NJ reported record high earnings. The stock fell.

There were several reasons why stocks acted as they did. Speculators and investors had been buying these stocks for days in anticipation of favorable action. Sometimes they were disappointed at almost any kind of dividend action. And some speculators had a profit and sold.

The five most active issues this week were U. S. Steel off 1¼, Westinghouse off 3⅜, Studebaker up ⅝ General Motors off ¾ and New York Central off 2⅜.

U. S. government bonds were firm this week while the corporate bond market wound up irregularly lower.

Educators Tour 5th Army Area

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—UP—A group of 97 top educators from nine states embarked Saturday on a week-long orientation tour of military installations in the Fifth Army area. The tour will include three days at Fort Carson, Colo. The nine states represented are Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, North Dakota and Minnesota.

Second Victim Of Area Car Crash Dies Of Injuries

Two persons were fatally injured and two slightly injured in a two-car collision 9.6 miles west of West Monroe on U. S. Highway 80 about 10:35 p.m. Friday.

Dead were:

Edward L. Wynn, 27, of 1412 South Second, Monroe an employee of the Monroe Letter Shop, 403 Hudson Lane. Dr. J. T. French Ouachita parish coroner, said Wynn was almost decapitated and died instantly.

Bosie Bell Van Buren, 25, Negro, 104 Montgomery street, West Monroe. Van Buren died, Dr. French said, of a fractured skull and intercranial hemmorhages.

Injured were Abran Maye, Jr., 26, of 112 Grape street, West Monroe, and Willie Lee Jefferson, 21, of 801 Coleman, West Monroe, both of whom were passengers in Van Buren's car and both of whom were identified by state police as Negroes. They were treated at St. Francis Hospital for minor bruises and abrasions, state police said.

According to officers who investigated the accident, Wynn was headed west on highway 80 and was attempting to pass another car on a hill when he met Van Buren's east - bound automobile head-on.

The back of Wynn's head was torn off, Dr. French said, but the condition of the vehicles made it impossible to determine just what caused the injury. He also suffered multiple bruises and fractures.

Van Buren was rushed to the Charity hospital here, but died of his injuries shortly after midnight. The body was removed to Miller's Funeral Home, Dr. French said.

Wynn's body was taken to Hall Funeral Home Friday night, but was taken overland Saturday morning to Jacksonville, Tex., where he formerly lived.

He is survived by a wife and two children, living now in Jacksonville. Wynn had been an employee of the print shop the past several months.

Funeral services are scheduled to be held from the Holmes Funeral Home of Jacksonville this afternoon, and interment will follow in the Rocky Springs Cemetery.

YOUTH CAUGHT IN POLICE TRAP AFTER HOLDUP — Anthony Antico, 20, snarls defiance in the grip of two detectives after the attempted holdup of a fur shop in Brooklyn. Police arrested Antico and three other men for the stickup which was frustrated by the screams of the furrier, Mrs. Miriam Davidson. Just before Antico was arrested, he was injured in an automobile crash that followed the holdup. (AP Wirephoto)

Experts Say Elderly Persons 'Very Sensitive'

Oldsters Fail To Appreciate Any Reference To Their Age By Others

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29—UP—Never tell an oldster, "My you're looking young." It makes him feel bad.

Experts said Saturday the remark is anything but a compliment. It makes a pointed reference to age and persons who are growing old are very sensitive on the subject.

For the same reason, the experts said it isn't a good idea to go around telling old people, "Take it easy," "Don't catch cold" and "Let me do this for you."

The best thing is to treat them liket anyone else. And never let on you're conscious of their age at all. It makes for happier living all around.

The experts are attending the 1955 meeting of the Gerontological Society, an organization concerned with the causes of aging and with helping the elderly to find peace, comfort and satisfaction in life.

This has become a major problem in our society where medical advances have given most of the population a much longer life span. And the experts have a lot of ideas on how to make this twilight life more useful and more productive.

If you are old, for example, don't get the notion that you are a new and strange phenomenon. Everybody gets old who doesn't die before his time. Learn to chuckle at your failings.

Don't give in to forgetfullness. Develop habits of study. The mental faculties, just like the muscle, have to be exercised.

Society, whatever its younger members may think, can accommodate old persons successfully. Dr. G. J. Aldrige of Michigan State University cited the case of St. Cloud, Fla., where half the population of 3,000 is over 60. The oldsters are the big wheels in the civic, social and recreational organizations.

The problem of our aging population is not only being attacked on the social level. The scientists are trying to see what they can do about keeping people going full steam longer.

Dr. James W. Papez, who is with the biological research laboratory of Columbus (Ohio) State Hospital, suggested in a paper presented to the society Saturday that wormlike parasites in the blood and nerves may be the cause of forgetfulness and other mental maladies of the aged.

He said research at the hospital has "confirmed suspicions" that fungas organisms "are present at psychoses, feeblemindedness, and arteriosclerosis in old people."

Other scientists at the meeting are by no means convinced, however, that Papez has hit on the final cause of disability among the aged. The aging processes are not yet understood, they said.

Dry Mississippi Sells Liquor To Louisiana Firm

JACKSON, Miss. Oct. 29—UP—Mississippi, which does not permit legal sale of liquor, has sold its first case of whisky—to a firm in wet Louisiana.

The sale was made under a new law authorizing the state tax commission to seize liquor for nonpayment of a five per cent sales tax and sell it to make up for the tax loss.

The commission said it sold 28 cases of whisky to City Wholesale Liquor Co. of New Orleans after its seizure in Vicksburg. The sale totaled $1,136.

MRS. ALICE BELL

Mrs. Alice Bell Seeks Office Of Franklin Assessor

WINNSBORO, Oct. 29 (Special)—Mrs. Alice Cuny Bell, who has been employed in the Franklin Parish assessor's office for the past 16 years, is a candidate for the post of assessor.

She is widow of the late John K. Bell, and has one son, John Kenner Bell.

In announcing Mrs. Bell said "Having 16 years experience in the assessor's office I am qualified to fill the office and I will work for the interest of the people."

Near-Record Crop Of Candidates

525 Seek Election To State Legislature

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON Rouge, Oct. 29 (AP) A near record 525 candidates are jostling for a place in the 1956 Legislature and among those giving a platform one issue stands forth—they're against raising taxes.

These legislative hopefuls are at the grass roots and they should know the score.

Secondary, some of them, but not as many as the boys who are scared of fooling with taxes, want to boost the old age welfare payments.

Segregation, the great untouchable in any Southern state, has a solid flow of pledges in its favor. The campaign for governor will have much to do with the tone of the next Legislature, which will stay in power four years, just as long as the governor.

And for the first time, the new Legislature, with 101 House seats and 39 in the Senate, will meet in regular session every year.

When Gov. Robert Kennon, promising a new political age free of "machine politics," knocked out the administration of former Gov. Earl Long in 1952 with a landslide ballot punch, a nearly new Legislature took office with Kennon.

About two-thirds the membership was new. In that landslide affair, the record number of 552 legislative candidates had participated.

This time, while the number of candidates is less, at last nose count, the total is close to the 1952 mark. And the key to the smaller number apparently can be traced directly to New Orleans, where there are fewer candidates compared with four years ago.

About 88 candidates in New Orleans are hunting a House seat, for instance, compared with 129 four years ago.

There are only five candidates for governor this campaign, compared with nine in the last Democratic first primary for governor. Only leading candidates, of course, went to the trouble of sponsoring legislative tickets in New Orleans.

The fact that New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison is running for governor now may have some bearing on the number of New Orleans candidates.

Sen. Robert Ainsworth Jr., Morrison colleague and Gov. Kennon's legislative leader, sees it this way:

"Apparently the number of candidates show the Louisiana Legislature is becoming stabilized, demonstrating it is well on its way back to equal standing with the executive and judicial branches."

Ainsworth takes a view Kennon frequently has voiced — that the present Legislature is "independent."

Long, seeking a third stay in the Mansion, let it be known in recent legislative sessions he considered Kennon an all-time master in handling a Legislature.

Ainsworth, while admitting he is taking a partisan view because he is a candidate for re-election, said he believes the number of candidates reflects satisfaction with the work of most incumbents.

The tall, slender New Orleanian recently was elected president of the National Legislative Conference, meeting in Miami. Its delegates were lawmakers who are members of legislative research groups.

While the figures cannot be labeled final, and represent a survey of Newspaper reports, there are 388 bidding for the House in the Jan. 17 Democratic primary, compared with 369 last time; and 137 candidates seek Senate seats, compared with 183 in 1952.

One of the most significant trends is centered in New Orleans and Baton Rouge. Several of the candidates in New Orleans and Baton Rouge have expressed an intention of working for repeal of the "Right to-Work" law adopted in 1954.

But the views expressed so far represent only a sprinkling of the total number.

The explosive "Right-to-Work" bill, banning compulsory union membership, created the greatest storm of controversy in years when it rocked through both houses.

Organized labor leaders such as President E. H. Williams of the State Federation of Labor have made no secret of the fact they are pushing legislative candidates this time who they hope will turn the tables. The Senate vote was 22-14 for the bill, the House vote 58-41.

About 52 losing candidates in the 1952 House campaign, including 22 incumbents, are attempting a comeback.

Sixteen former members of the Legislature are trying for the Senate, including nine senators who did not run or were unseated in the legislative contest four years ago, 3 representatives were ousted, 31 re-elected, 37 did not run.

As usual, attorneys head the list of candidates, with insurance agents high on the list.

Going after the vote with them are a private detective, piano salesman, boilermaker, pest control operator and a jockey's agent.

New Walkout At Westinghouse Is Averted By Pact

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29 —UP— Westinghouse Electric Corp., crippled productionwise by a twin strike of 55,000 production employes, averted a possible third walkout Saturday with a new five-year contract covering 13,500 white collar workers.

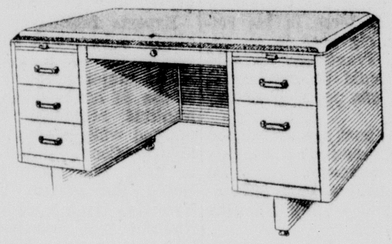

The Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions accepted a contract providing a graduated 16 per cent wage increase spread over the five-year period. The agreement also carried an arbitration clause and other benefits.

But prospects were slim that two striking unions would accept similar terms. Negotiations with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, bargaining for 44,000 employes at 30 plants, and with the independent United Electrical Workers Union, representing 11,000 workers at 10 plants, were recessed until Tuesday.

Both the IUE and UE went on strike after rejecting five - year pacts. Other disputed issues were wages and rules governing time-studies. The IUE walked out Oct. 16 and the UE opened a second strike front against Westinghouse last Tuesday midnight.

Greatly Broadened Farm Plan Seen By Morrison

NEW ORLEANS, October 29—(Special)—A greatly broadened program for Louisiana farmers, in which they will be asked to help shape agricultural policy, is an important part of Chep Morrison's blueprint for a more prosperous state, he said today.

The mayor - candidate for governor said:

"The key to our plan for agriculture is participation by the farmer himself in shaping legislation and policy. This applies to all areas of the state, from the pine forests and the cotton fields in North Louisiana to the sugar cane, rice and muskrat lands along the Gulf of Mexico."

Another vital item in his farm program, Marrison explained, "is a plan to upgrade our products and then help the farmer find enlarged markets for what he produces. These enlarged markets can be created with the aid of more state participation in advertising programs for the output of our farms."

Among the other "musts" in his plan for a new day in Louisiana agriculture, the candidate stated are:

1. "A set-up in the farm assistance program by the state because of the lag between agriculture income compared with that of industry.....Whatever plans of action the farm groups present to me will be thoroughly studied and promptly authorized if necessary by an executive order in preference to waiting until the next legislative session."

2. Encourage the Louisiana farm system to use more Louisiana agriculture products.

3. Expand agricultural education, including a program to bring our farmers up-to-date on newest methods.

4. Encourage all federal agencies to further stabilize farm prices and raise quality standards of our products, thereby making them more attractive to buyers.

5. Encourage more local production of poultry and eggs.

6. Establish a veterinarian school as an aid to the livestock industry ...."Some of our neighboring states, notably Texas, have taken great forward strides in this direction but there is no reason Louisiana boys who want to become veterinarians should be forced to go out of the state to obtain an education."

7. Co-operate fully with the federal soil conservation service, "to furhter develop and protect every acre of our soil."

8. Build good farm - to - market roads where needed and rebuild those on which the type of traffic is changing. In the latter connection, we must have heavier duty roads, for example, in the dairy sections where bulk tank systems are being installed.

9. Encourage and expand state fairs and festivals. These are seeds from which higher agricultural standards grow.

In connection with a new approach to marketing of farm products, Morrison stated:

"This is not a problem which has a single, easy solution. First, we must upgrade our products and wherever possible offer a standard grade and pack for virtually all commodities. Only by this means can we compete with products of states where this modern procedure is followed.

"But we must not only have products which are equal to, or superior, to those of other sections. We must develop a marketing system which will tell us where we can find the most profitable outlets. This will permit us to inform the farmer where he can obtain the best prices for his products and at what seasons.

"We need not confine this service to the United States. Our agricultural service should participate in selling our farm products to south and central America.

"Hand and hand with improved marketing must go a strengthened agricultural inspection service.

"We must also work closely with the L.S.U. College of Agriculture, L.S.U. Experiment Station and with industry-sponsored agricultural experiments."

The candidate said that this program is the "result of careful study by both Lt. Gov. C. E. "Cap" Barham, my running mate, and myself who were both reared in farm communities."

"I might add", Morrison said, "That in addition to my background as a native of Pointe Coupee Parish, I worked my way through L.S.U. as a laborer on the university farm. Thus, I have an actual first hand knowledge of the subject."

Grain Futures Record Advance

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — All grains advanced on the Board of Trade this week — the first time there has been such unanimity on the upside since the week ended Sept. 23.

The advance wasn't accompanied by any large pickup in trading activity, although there were sporadci flurries of short covering in corn and wheat.

Wheat closed the week 1⅛-3½ higher, corn 2-2⅞ higher, oats ⅜ to 1 cent higher, rye 1¾-2¾ higher, soybeans 2⅜ to 3 cents higher and lard 25 to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Army Accepting Enlistment Here Of 'Buddy Teams'

Enlistment of "Buddy Teams" or two or more friends are being accepted by the U. S. Army, with the buddies to serve together at least through basic training, according to Sgt. Wayne M. Nordman, Monroe recruiter.

Notation of the buddy enlistment is made on each man's file, and the friends are kept together as long as possible within the available vacancies of the service.

Men enlisting for specific units, such as the airborne divisions, quite often find it possible to spend their three-year enlistment together. Those enlisting under one of the Army's unit rotation plans are assured of staying in the same division for a three year period.

Information on the "Buddy" enlistment system and on career possibilities within the army is available at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, located Room 217, Post Office Building, Monroe. Phone number is 8570.

Third Quarter Profits Hit New, All-Time High Level

By WALTER BREEDER J

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)— The big guns of U. S. industry totted up their third quarter profits this week—and the score was never better.

Records were swept aside like dead leaves in autumn. Net income of big General Motors was the highest for any third quarter in history; profits for the first nine months nudged the billion-dollar mark after provision of well over one billion for income taxes.

Standard Oil Co. N. J., biggest of the world's petroleum giants, reported nine months' net of 532 millions, up nearly 20 per cent from a year ago. The nation's No. 1, and No. 2 steelmakers, United States Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel, jubilantly announced nine-month highs in profits, sales and production.

Behind many of the fat profits reported by industry this week lay the U. S. public's insatiable demand for faster, shinier and more powerful autos. Besides lifting GM's profits to unprecedented heights, booming production of cars was a major factor in the record-smashing performance of the steel industry. Record numbers of cars on the road contributed material to the earnings of the oil companies. Wages paid the millions employed by the auto industry and its many suppliers this year have given a substantial boost to retail trade.

This week, as all of the big automakers plunged full tilt into production of 1956 models, Detroit's major role as a mainstay of prosperity became increasingly clear.

Steelmakers - pressed to the limit to supply their biggest customer, the auto industry - once again scheduled their operations at more than 98 per cent of capacity. Steel output the week before, with the mills straining at 98.9 per cent of capacity, had been forced to a never-before-attained total of 2,386,000 tons. Industry leaders professed to see no hint of a letdown. Declared Bethlehem chairman Eugene Grace: "We're definitely oversold through the first 1956 quarter now. I feel we're assured of full operations through the first six months next year."

In Detroit itself, an auto production race of fantastic proportions was in progress. Ford aimed for a weekly record of 39,000 cars; Chevrolet and Buick came back fast after a hurried changeover to 1956 models; Plymouth hoped to turn out more than 20,000 cars to break the record of 19,897 it set last spring.

Total production for the Week was estimated by Ward's Automotive Reports at 156,052 cars — up 14 per cent from the previous week and 128 per cent from the like week last year. The 1955 production score so far: nearly 6½ million passenger cars, or almost as many as the industry built in all of 1950, the previous record year. With forced-draft operations scheduled right through to New Year's Eve, the industry should wind up 1955 with a production total of around 8 million.

For business generally, the outlook this week was for a record fourth quarter which would top any of the three previous quarterly periods of booming '55.

Retail sales continued strong, with department store volume running 8 per cent ahead of year-ago levels. Loans to business by leading New York banks were on the upbeat again; freight carloadings were 12 per cent higher than in the corresponding week of last year.

Two major props of the economy still lagged. Farm income was weakened by falling livestock prices; the construction industry continued to recede. Building permits issued in September declined in dollar volume form the levels of a year ago for the first time in 14 months.

Veteran Richland Law Officer Dies Of Heart Attack

DELHI, Oct. 29 (Special)—J. M. Lane, 67, died at his home here about 10:20 p.m. Friday from a heart attack.

Lane was born on March 8, 1880, in Newheboron, Miss. He moved to Delhi in 1919 and has been a resident here since except for 10 years when he lived in Rayville. He was a town marshal in Delhi for nine years; a deputy sheriff of Richland Parish for 14 years; and was member of the First Baptist Church in Delhi.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at his home in Delhi, with the Rev. G. F. Stinebaugh officiating.

Interment will follow in the Masonic cemetery of Delhi, under the direction of Catron Gay Funeral Home, Delhi.

He is survived by his wife; one son, W. P. Lane, of Delhi; three daughters, Mrs. Etta Marie Oswell, Delhi, Mrs. T. M. Strong, Jr., Natchitoches, and Mrs. D. A. Baxter, Sicily Island; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Berry, Natchez, Miss., Mrs. Della Weathersby, Newheboron, Miss.; two brothers, L. V. Lane, Monticello, Miss., H. C. Lane of Silver Creek, Miss.; and six grandchildren.

Active pallbearers will be Earl W. Hopkins, Ben Ray, J. Foster Jones, Emmett Reynolds, P. Gilly, W. J. Dabbs, W. W. Terry and Charles Hixon.

Honorary pallbearers will be all the doctors of the Delhi Clinic.

'Beneficial' Trip For Mental Case Results In Death

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 29—UP—A mental patient on a physical therapy outing at the William and Mary-Virginia Military Institute football game leaped 35 feet to his death Saturday from the top of the Cary Field Stadium.

The patient was identified as Jesse Rafelman, 51, of Norfolk, Va. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Rafelman was taken to the game by attendants at Eastern State hospital with the idea that the outing might prove beneficial to his condition, attendants said.

Selective Service Students' Exams Deadline Nearing

College students interested in taking the selective service college qualification test have until midnight, Tuesday, November 1 to submit application, it was announced today by Dr. Henry Sageser Vocational Counselor at Northeast State who will supervise the test. The test center in this area is the East Temporary Military Building on the Northeast campus.

Applicants should report November 17 at 8:30 a.m. for the three-hour examination which is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

To be eligible to apply for the examination, scheduled to be given to college students throughout the United States, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test. The purpose of the program is to provide evidence for the use of local boards in considering deferment of a registrant from military service as a student.

The test was developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago and New York, one of the nation's leading publishers of educational testing, reading-improvement, and guidance materials.

Qualified students interested in taking this test to qualify for possible draft deferment in order to continue their college education are urged to get their applications at any Selective Service Local Board before the November 1 deadline.

For additional information, students should consult any Selective Service Board.

Modern Technology Aids In Slashing Oil Depletion

TULSA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Everytime it's suggested that American Oil reserves are being depleted, industry scientists offer developments that boost production and crude oil resources.

New drilling methods, exploration procedures and equipment increased United States and world crude reserves yearly.

The American Petroleum Institute says the United States' proven reserves jumped from nearly three billion barrels in 1900 to 29,560,746,000 barrels in 1954, the 11th consecutive year a high was established.

A survey by the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America places the number of new oil and gas fields last year at 1,447. The report said the discoveries increased each previous year.

Almost daily new methods and machinery appear to take more oil from existing fields.

Carter Oil Co. is the latest to disclose a new tool. It is a revolutionary drill the Tulsa laboratory says may be the most important development since the rotary drill.

The drill has twin nozzles that slams small steel balls into the formation. The pellets, which are used repeatedly and which can be replaced without withdrawing the drill pipe from the hole, are shot outward by drilling mud.

The Oil and Gas Journal reports a new tool recently was put into use that cleans drilling mud of sand during drilling operations.

To save money, drillers have been empahsizing "slim hole" drilling. Advocates claim this type drilling means, in certain areas, more wells for the same amount of money required to sink fewer conventional size wells.

Crude reserves also are being expanded by increased activity and technical progress in off-shore operations.

The Journal said off-shore drillers are investing heavily in new equipment for drilling below 100 feet of water.

Some companies are planning soon to drill in water more than 100 feet deep. In California plans for a platform in 300 feet of water have been made.

A "permanent but reclaimable" platform is being developed by the Horace Williams Co., of New Orleans for use in deeper water.

The platform can be raised, lowered or widened to fit the type drilling operation, the Journal said.

Shell, Continental, Superior and Union Oil companies have joined forces with two engineering firms to whip the deep water drilling problems off California where the Continental Shelf drops rapidly.

North Korean Asks Conference

TOKYO, Oct. 29—UP—North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung Saturday called for a Far Eastern conference to settle the Korean question.

Kim's statement, contained in a Radio Peiping broadcast, quoted him as saying the government of India actively supports this idea.

NATO Sets Up Scholarships

PARIS, Oct. 29—UP—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has set aside 13 million francs ($38,571) in grants to encourage the study of historic, political, judicial, social, cultural, economic and strategic problems, officials said Saturday.

Eligible for the grants are students of member nations studying in member nations.

Among things men have used for money are shells, beads, boar tusks, blankets, knives, slaves, cattle, pigs, rice, corn, wheat, salt, sugar, rum and beer.

MacLean-Burgess Disappearance

Latest Reports On Spy Case Being Sent To U. S.

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—UP—The United States is receiving information from Britain on the latest phases of the mysterious MacLean-Burgess spy case, it was disclosed Saturday.

This and other information is going into a mounting file expected some day to show how successful the spies were in getting information on the United States of value to Russia.

The State and Defense Departments, Central Intelligence Agency, FBI, Atomic Energy Commission, and other executive agencies are reported keenly interested — and active—in continuing investigative aspects of the case that has shocked Allied security personnel and statesmen. Senate investigators also are moving in on the case.

British diplomats Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess, both of whom had served in the British embassy here, slipped behind the Iron Curtain in May, 1951, when British agents were tightening the net on their suspicious activities. They are now reported working for the Russians in Moscow.

While in Washington in the postwar years, MacLean had access to the atomic energy headquarters here. He was chief of the British foreign office's American section when he slipped away in 1951.

Burgess, regarded by intelligence experts as a lesser figure, was a second secretary at the embassy for a short time.

The United States and Britain have been consulting secretly on the case ever since suspicions first were raised. But the liaison is expected to become more active now that Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) of the Senate internal subcommittee is putting the heat on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for detailed information on the case.

Basic documents sought very recently by the State Department include copies of the British "white paper" and a text of last Tuesday's parliamentary discussion of who tipped off the two spies that they were under investigation.

Further and more detailed inquiries will be dispatched to the British embassy as soon as Parliament concludes its debate on the case. There had been some question in the State Department about the diplomatic propriety of such inquiries, but signs now are that the British will be hearing more from this government soon.

Eastland has thrown the State Department into a tizzy with his long and involved list of questions. A full reply may require weeks of intensive checking. A "be patient" reply may be handed the senator in the meantime.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Basketball officiating is the next step in the Louisiana High School Athletic Association's drive for registered officials such as already the practice on the football level. Statewide meetings of game officials are already in progress for the purpose of building the association's registry.

T. H. Waters, commissioner of state high school athletics, has informed Mary Lee George, girls' coach at Ouachita Parish High School here, and David McKenzie, who is participating in organization of the Northeast Louisiana Basketball Officials Association, that a rules interpretation clinic for basketball officials will be held here Wednesday evening in the Ouachita Parish High gymnasium with Joe Meadows, L. H. S. A. A. official, in charge.

The clinic will be divided into two sessions, one for interpretation of girls' rules from 4 until 6 o'clock for the benefit of men and women who officiate girls' games, and the clinic on boys' rules will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Miss George plans to have two girls' teams on hand for demonstrations during the first session. Cage coaches, whether officiating or not, are invited to attend the sessions.

McKenzie has reported the regular meeting of the officials association, usually set for Wednesday, will be passed for the clinic.

Biggest change on the gym floors this season will be in the girls' games which promise faster action and more emphasis on skill. Girls in Louisiana, for the first time, will be playing the same as the boys except that the center line will remain in effect, keeping half the rival teams in opposite ends of the court. Otherwise, offensive and defensive play will be the same as for boys, or very near so.

....The L. H. S. A. A. will not require registered officials for regularly scheduled games this season, but all officials working in any high school tournaments must be registered, and the clinics being instituted over the state will help to provide the required registerations. However, before another season rolls around only registered officials will be acceptable for the prep contests, and it will serve all men and women expecting to work for high school sports to line up as soon as they can.

Bucky McElroy, remembered as one of the finest football backs to be turned out by Coach Bill Ruple at Neville High, is burning up the Canadian Big Four League as a bruising fullback for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The exploits of William McElroy (no one here ever called him anything but Bucky) took the whole front page of the past week's issue of Canadian Football News, the "Sporting News" north of the border, and that included a four-column artist sketch of McElroy on the rampage with a befuddled tackler sprawled in his wake moaning, "It was a red, yellow and black truck, license No. 95, Officer." The colors are the Ti-Cats, and Bucky is No. 95, and its the first time in six years McElroy had worn any number other than 22.

He saw collegiate service with Tulane, Hinds Junior College and Mississippi Southern, the latter school coming into national prominence during Bucky's reign there. He was drafted by the pro Chicago Bears, but Canadians are calling him "The Louisiana Purchase" since he joined Coach Carl Voyles at Hamilton this year.

Although lately nursing an injury, McElroy exploded for the Ti-Cats by scoring five touchdowns in his first two games. The 5-11, 191-pounder currently is ranked second as the league's rushing leader with an average of 5.4 yards per carry where downfield blocking is not permitted, and his team is already assured of the Big Four playoffs with the Montreal Alouettes, and McElroy's outfit, with two games to go, has a good chance to finish on top.

Women's Victory Legion Bowling Meet Scheduled

The Women's Bowling Association of Monroe will conduct its second annual Victory Legion Tournament here next Saturday and Sunday at Monroe Bowling Center for the benefit of disabled war veterans.

Approximately 20 teams from the various women's leagues in action here are expected to participate with the tournament to be divided into sections for teams, doubles, singles and scratch singles. Handicap play will rule in all events except scratch singles, and trophies will be presented winners.

Funds derived from the event will be contributed through the Women's International Bowling Congress to assistance of hospitalized war veterans.

Entries will be accepted during the week at Monroe Bowling Center, and the schedule of play will be announced later in the week, but action will be slated for both Saturday and Sunday here. Similar tournaments are being conducted at other bowling centers of the nation, all for the same cause.

Northeast Beats Livingston State, 25-12

Indians' Driskill, Powell Defensive, Offensive Leaders

By TED HECKATHORN

The Northeast State Indians, behind a rugged ground defense that held Livingston State Teachers College to a net gain of 44 yards rushing, handed the visiting Tigers their sixth consecutive loss of the season last night at Brown Stadium, 25-12.

Alert Tribe end Joe Driskill set up two second-period touchdowns with fumble recoveries, one on the Livingston ten, and moments later on their 29. Each time the Indians turned them intot allies, with Aubrey Wade scoring from eight yards out, and Mack Powell, a consistent Tribe ground-gainer, ripping off 25 yards to the one and plunging over on the next play.

Northeast had taken a 6-0 first quarter lead on a 63-yard sustained drive, chalking up four first downs in the process, with Powell, Everett Reynolds, and Tommy Leos ripping off successive gains to the Tiger two, from where Leos plunged across.

Livingston, held to a minus-24 yards rushing during the first two quarters, struck for two fast touchdowns in the third. Their first score came as a result of a Northeast fumble from punt formation, and a 15-yard penalty that took themt o the Tribe ten. From there Buddy Cranford, a hard-running back for the invaders all evening, swept around end for the six-pointer.

Their next was set up by a pair of completed passes, with quarterback Don Finlayson hitting end Larry Boswell for 38 yards and 15 yards to the Northeast three. Finlayson plunged over to shorten the Northeast lead to 19-12.

However the Indians added six points in the fourth, with a 56-yard march that began at the close of the third quarter after the Tigers' final tally. Reynolds, with a run of 19 yards, and short gains by Powell and Leos, brought the pigskin to the Livingston two, from where Powell again plunged across.

Driskill, in addition to his fumble recoveries, caught up with Livingston's Cranford in the fourth after the Tiger back had broken loose for 47 yards and was in the clear headed for paydirt, and knocked him out of bounds. Jim Berry, Bob Windle, Nick Lassiter, and the entire Indian line looked sharp on defense.

Kentucky Rallies To Claim 20-16 Edge Over Rice

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—Quarterback Bob Hardy twisted through the Rice line for a dramatic 12-yard touchdown run to bring Kentucky off the floor and to a 20-16 football victory today.

Hardy's daring kept alive a 64-yard scoring drive when on fourth down and 10 to go on the Rice 42 he fired an 18-yard strike to end Bradley Mills. Hardy put over the clincher with three minutes and 40 seconds left and Kentucky then staved off a desperate last minute passing attack by Rice.

The wild last half was in direct contrast to the defensive battle in the first two periods that saw Kentucky drive 72 yards with the opening kickoff to score in 12 plays and Rice move 64 yards to a score in 14 ground movements.

Rice	6	0	3	7	—16
Kentucky	7	0	6	7	—20

Martinez Knocks Out Cuban In 3rd Round

BOSTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Fancy Vince Martinez, the No. 3 ranking welter - weight boxing contender from Paterson, N. J., had only a light workout tonight before knocking out Mario Terry, a journeyman club fighter from Havana, at 2:20 of the third round in a scheduled 10-rounder at The Arena.

Martinez who weighed 150 to 144¾ for Terry simply had too many guns and too much boxing talent for the Cuban.

Rebs Shade Tigers, 29-26

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—First-ranked Maryland, with steady Ed Vereb's three touchdowns setting the pace, jumped to an early lead today and rolled to a 27-0 football victory over South Carolina.

Vereb, 15-pound halfback from Pittsburgh, put the awesome Terrapins ahead early by carrying for all but 10 yards of 59-yard drive and scoring from three yards out. It tied the old Atlantic Coast Conference scoring record of 54 points, and his two later touchdowns set a new record of 66 points, which he has on 11 TDs.

Maryland	13	0	7	7	—27

Maryland scoring — Touchdowns: Vereb (3, plunge; 10, run; 19 run), Dare (10, pass from Nusz). Conversions: Komlc, Laughery, Perlom.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 29 passing of quarterback Eagle Day and the deadly kicking of halfback Paige Cothren to bypass a stubborn Louisiana State University line tonight for a 29-26 football victory.

But the Rebels had to fight off a furious fourth quarter rally by L.S.U. that netted two touchdowns. As the game ended, L.S.U. was throwing desperation passes from midfield.

Sophomore quarterback M. C Reynolds tossed scoring passes of 25 and nine yards in the closing minutes as a crowd of 43,000 cheered the Tigers. In all, he passed for three touchdowns and scored the fourth on a quarterback sneak.

Day three scoring aerials of 14 and 19 yards and set up the third Rebel score with a 22-yard heave. He completed 10 of 15 passes for 154 yards.

Cothren kicked two field goals, one 22 yards and the other 13, and added three extra points without a miss to swell his Southeastern conference leading total in the scoring derby. His nine points increased his season total to 53 points. Cothren led S.E.C. scoring before today's game.

The victory gave Mississippi a 6-1 season record with a 4-1 mark in conference play. L.S.U. has a triumph and a tie in six games with a 1-3 S.E.C. mark.

The victory tonight tied the Rebels with Mississippi State for the conference lead.

Balked on the ground by a stubborn L.S.U. defense, Mississippi moved to a 10-0 lead in the first quarter when Day's passes set up Billy Kinard's eight-yard scoring dash and Cothren, acclaimed back of the week by the Associated Press last week, kicked his first field goal of the game.

L.S.U. charged back with two touchdowns in the second quarter to lead 13-10, but Mississippi regained the lead with a safety and a touchdown to show a 19-13 margin at halftime.

Mississippi	10	9	3	7	—29
L.S.U.	0	13	0	13	—26

Mississippi scoring: touchdowns, Kinard (8, plunge), Blair (14, pass-run from Day), Drewry (19, pass-run from Day). Field goals, Cothren 2. (22, 13). Conversions, Cothren 3. Safety, Reynolds (tackled in end zone.).

Uclans Plaster California With Smashing Defeat

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—The UCLA Bruins moved another stride toward the Rose Bowl today, using their reserves in the main to smash California, 47-0 in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

The white wash was the worse defeat suffered by California since Coach Lynn O. Waldorf took charge at Berkeley in 1947, and was even more embarrassing to the Bears since the afternoon in 1940 when Tommy Harmon led Michigan to a 41-0 licking.

Historians have to go back to 1930 for a larger score—Southern California's 74-0 victory over the Bears.

Registering their fourth conference triumph against no defeats, UCLA unloaded three touchdowns in a big second quarter to clinch the game.

Halfback Ronnie Knox, whose transfer from California after his freshman year stirred up an uproar, took the field for the first time against his "alma mater" and turned in a fine performance. He scored two touchdowns and was the passing star of the game.

UCLA	7	20	7	13	—47

UCLA scoring: Touchdowns—Peters 2 (1, plunge; 1, dive); Knox 2 (4, run; 3, run); Holloway (45, pass-run from McDougall); Loudd, (55, pass-run from Bradley); Bradley (1, plunge). Conversions: Brown, Decker 2, McDougall, Bradley.

Longhorns Barley Nose Out Ponies In 19-18 Contest

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Texas rode with its Walt Fondren and Joe Clements and a roughhouse line to a 19-18 victory over Southern Methodist today to knock the Methodists out of a first place tie in the Southwest Conference football race.

In one of the wildest offensive games this storied series has known, the Longhorns barely edged through on the toe of Joe Youngblood and an iron-bound defense that stymied every wild charge of an SMU team that camped in Texas territory the entire last period, twice getting close enough to try field goals.

But nothing would work for the Methodists when they drove inside the Texas 10 as the Longhorns fought like a bunch of wildcats.

Fondren, the versatile sophomore, passed for one touchdown, caught a pass for another, hammered the SMU line, kicked beautifully and all in all was the big man in Texas' supreme effort that kept it n the conference race.

Texas A&M was t ed by Arkansas 7-7 today and that left the Aggies only a half-game ahead of Texas, Texas Christian and Southern Method st.

Rampaging Colts Plaster Packers In 14-10 Contest

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) —Long Gone Dupre joined his rookie mate, workhorse Alan Ameche, to run the Baltimore Colts to a third-period touchdown tonight for a 14-10 victory over the Green Bay Packers and undisputed second place in the Western Conference of the National Football League.

Dupre, playing his first full game in the league after being hobbled by injuries, sprinted 23 yards for the second and winning touchdown.

Ameche, the league's leading ground gainer, carried the ball 22 times and smashed for 117 yards.

It was the fourth victory in six games for the Colts, the first time they have ever won that many in one season. It was the third set back — the second at the hands of Baltimore — for Green Bay in its half - dozen contests.

Green Bay	0	3	7	0	—10

Baltimore scoring: Touchdowns — Young (4, run); Dupre (23, run). Conversions — Rechichar 2.

Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers predicts that Lorne Worsley will be the best goalie in the National Hockey League this season.

Outweighed Wave Line Contributes To Greenie Cause

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29 (AP) — Magnificient Gene Newton threw two touchdown passes today in guiding sizzling Tulane to a 27-13 upset victory over Auburn, the nation's eighth ranked football power.

Newton kept Tulane spirits soaring and his fired-up mates allowed Auburn to cross mid-field only once before the final period. He got Tulane off to a running start late in the opening quarter with a three yard touchdown pitch to end Will Billion before a homecoming crowd of 35,000.

The score seemed to inspire his outweighed line and it took charge and held the advantage until Auburn came to life against Tulane substitutes midway of the final quarter.

Fullback Joe Childress and halfback Fob James ignited Auburn's offense against the second-stringers in the final period. Fighting to keep alive their post-season bowl hopes, they carried Auburn 55 yards on six plays for the first touchdown. Childress smashed the final three.

Fullback Jim Walsh recovered a Tulane fumble by halfback Otis Gilmore on the Tulane four to set up the second, by James on a four-yard sweep. Quarterback Howell Tubbs converted after the James score.

Another fumble recovery by Walsh less than a minute later put Auburn only 24 yards from a potential third touchdown, but halfback Tommy Warner of Tulane intercepted a pass by Tubbs and sprinted 87 yards to score and ice the game for the Green Wave.

Tulane had scored in the second quarter on a 24-yard Newton to Gilmore pass and in the third on a three-yard plunge by fullback Ronnie Quillian. Tackle Emmett Zalenka converted after the first three touchdowns.

Tulane capitalized on breaks to score its first two touchdowns. The first came on a 30-yard drive in eight plays after a James fumble was recovered by Warner. Newton showed his fancy running style while waiting for Billon to break into the open. He ran laterally 39 yards before making the pitch which Billon grabbed on his fingertips just before stepping out of the end zone.

The second Tulane drive was set up when sub quarterback John Caruso punted out of bounds on Auburn's one-foot line, midway in the second period. Auburn was rushed badly and quarterback Bill Burbank got off a punt that went only to the Auburn 24. Newton caught the defense flatfooted again with a scoring pass to Gilmore on the first play.

Another short punt by James set up the third quarter touchdown march that covered 42 yards in four plays. A 19-yard Newton pass to Gilmore set up Quillian's three-yard buck.

Tulane captialized on its team speed throughout the game and broke through to smear Auburn backs at crucial points. Guard Tony Sardisco set Tubbs back for big losses twice on Auburn's first series of downs and Plainsmen, a two-touchdown favorite, were unable to regain their aggressive spark until the fourth period.

After Auburn scored two touchdowns and seemed headed for a third, Sardisco smeared James for an eight-yard loss at his 23 to force the desperation tosses that produced Warner's sensational touchdown gallop.

Childress' powerful smashes gave him rushing honors with 82 yards in 16 attempts, mostly in the fourth quarter uprising. James picked up 77 on 13 trys and was the only other effective Auburn running back.

Quillian dented the massive Auburn line for 43 yards on 13 attempts while Newton got 31 on the same number.

Newton, a mediocre passer, picked his throwing spots so well he collected four completions in five attempts for 59 yards. Tubbs completed two of six for Auburn for 26 yards, but both were in the final minutes and had no effect on the outcome.

Planning Winter Basketball Setup For Six Leagues

Organization of at least six leagues for its winter basketball program will be attempted at meetings within the next 2 weeks, it was announced last night by Jack Hesketh, recreation director for Monroe.

The various circuits planned include the Pee Wee League, for boys 12 years old and under; the Midget League, for 14-year-olds and under; the Junior League, 18 and under and attending high school; City League for boys and men, no age limit; Church League, no age limit but must be a member of the church entering a team; and the Girls League, no age limit.

The organizational meetings for the various leagues will be scheduled for the week of November 7 to November 11 with the times of the various meetings to be announced later.

Present plans call for league play to begin the last week in November.

James McKay is assisting Hesketh in arranging the basketball program, and any teams or prospective club sponsors seeking any information regarding the programs before the meeting times are invited to contact McKay at the Monroe Recreation Center.

Sooners Cop Easy, 40-7, Win Over Kansas State

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 29—UP—Oklahoma mowed down Kansas State 40-7 Saturday for its 25th straight victory and another stride toward the Sooners' eighth straight Big Seven conference title.

The third-ranked Oklahomans scored three times in the opening period, twice more before the half, and then coasted.

A homecoming crowd of 18,500 saw Kansas State stave off a shutout in the final minutes. Quarterback Bob Whitehead plunged over after guard Ellis Rainsberger had recovered an Oklahoma fumble and fullback Tony Addeo galloped 17 yards.

Quarterback Jim Harris broke the ice for Oklahoma the second time the Sooners got possession. His seven-yard scoring thrust was the 11th play of a 78-yard drive.

Halfback Clendon Thomas, on Oklahoma's second unit, ran it across from the seven again only three minutes later. Reserve end Bob Timberlake had snatched a K-State fumble 18 yards out. Thomas also added six points in the second period with a similar run.

Oklahoma's sensational halfback Tommy McDonald, like other starters, played very little Saturday. But he notched one touchdown before Oklahoma's star lineup was withdrawn after five minutes of play in the third period.

It was a 10-yard swipe around end and the 10th touchdown of the season for McDonald, conference scoring leader.

Quarterback Jay O'Neal scored on a three-yard run as the first quarter ended and tackle Cal Woodworth swept 25 yards to score as the second period began after grabbing a Kansas State fumble.

Oklahoma and Nebraska were still tied for the Big Seven lead with three victories each, after Saturday's games. But the Sooners are strongly favored to wind up on top for another Orange Bowl bid.

Oklahoma gained 305 yards rushing to 143 for Kansas State.

Score by periods:

Kansas State	0	0	0	7	—7
Oklahoma	21	12	7	0	—40

Kansas State scoring — Touchdown, Whitehead (1, plunge). Conversion—Rusher.

Oklahoma scoring — Touchdowns, Harris (1, run); Thomas (7, run; 4, run); O'Neal (3, plunge); Woodworth (25, fumble recovery, run); McDonald (10, run). Conversions — Pricer 2, Dodd 2.

Pelicans Pointing For Fighting Irish Contest Saturday

The Southside High School (L.-T.I.) Pelicans, filling an open date with the West Monroe High School's "B" team Friday, suffered a 27-13 defeat. The "B" varsity Rebels served notice that the West Monroe school has plenty of depth as they looked impressive in pushing over four touchdowns on a muddy Pelican Field.

Charlie Dronet, the Pelican ace, broke away for two touchdowns and an extra point to add 13 more points to his impressive total. Stanley Roberts, Southside's classy quarterback, was unable to complete any of his usually successful passes due to a wet ball. The Pels also were playing without their best line man, veteran Huey Hines, who has been out with a cold.

This week the Pelicans will groom for a meeting with arch-rival and another district 2-B opponent, St. Matthews High School of Monroe. The Fighting Irish of St. Matthews will be featuring the quarterbacking of veteran Jackie Norman and the line-bucking of big George Fruge.

The two teams who always meet for the Class B championship of Monroe since they are the only Class B teams in the city, and also meet for possession of the Rubin Cup, donated by the owners of the R. and A. Jewelry Company in Monroe. Winners of the annual game have possession of the cup for one year.

Last year the Pelicans gained possession of the trophy when St. Matthew's inadvertently used two ineligible men and were barred from football competition for one year and were forced to forfeit the game to the Pelicans 1-0.

The Irish this season got off to a late start, and will open their schedule with a November 1 game just before meeting L.T.I. at Brown Field Saturday night at 7:30.

In this close series no team has ever made more than two touchdowns, and no team has ever won by more than seven points. This season another close game is expected.

Holleder Passes Topple Colgate; Army Wins, 27-7

WEST POINT, N.Y., Oct. 29—(AP)—Don Holleder made critics of his passing eat their words today by throwing three touchdown forwards and scoring once in Army's 27-7 ramble over Colgate.

The rangy 6-2 Army quarterback from Webster, N.Y., who was moved from end to backfield by Coach Red Blaik for the '55 season, finally emerged from his half season of passing futility. The fast-charging Army line gave him plenty of time to get set for his left handed pegs.

Just to emphasize his graduation, Holleder pitched one touchdown pass 30 yards to Ralph Chesnauskas, a former tackle who was converted into an end during the week. Holleder threw to Art Johnson for 42 and Mike Ziegler for eight yards in his other scoring efforts. He had raced 12 yards around his left end on a "keep" play for the first Army touchdown.

In five previous games, the much - criticized Holleder had connected with only six of 31 passes for 90 yards and had four tosses intercepted.

Score by periods:

Colgate	0	0	0	7	—7
Army	6	7	14	0	—27

Army scoring — touchdowns: Holleder (12, run); Chesnauskas (30, pass from Holleder); Johnson (42, pass from Holleder); Ziegler (8, pass from Holleder). Conversions: Chesnauskas 3.

Tribe Boosters Schedule Noon Session Monday

The Northeast Quarterback Club holds its usual Monday session tomorrow, but the meeting will begin at 12 o'clock, noon, instead of the usual night hour that has been the practice.

Sam Rubin Jr., club vice president, yesterday announced the meeting time change to noon at Hotel Frances, and again said all prospective club members are welcome to attend with the regular members.

Head coach Devone Payne of Northeast and his football aides will be on hand for the meeting. Rubin said a door prize will also be given.

Yale Scores 20 To 0 Win Over Dartmouth

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 29 (AP)—Rebounding Yale, paced by its touchdown twins, Dennis (The Big Menace) McGill and Al Ward, tallied three times in the second half to blank Dartmouth 20-0 today for its fourth straight Ivy League triumph.

The Elis managed to handcuff Bill Beagle, the nation's leading passer, at critical moments in turning in a convincing victory, 24th over the Indians in a 39-game series that goes back to 1884. Dartmouth has won 11 and four have ended in ties.

GIVE AND TAKE

BATON ROUGE, La.—The worst defeats recorded by Ole Miss and Louisiana State during their 42-game football rivalry dating back to 1894 are the 46-0 win by LSU in 1901 and the 49-19 victory by the Rebs in 1948.

Late Porker Rally Holds Favored Ags To 7-7 Tie

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks, outgunned for three quarters, came back with a 79-yard drive in the last five minutes to tie the favored Texas A&M Aggies 7-7 before a homecoming crowd of 27,000 here today.

Texas A&M, which had won five straight before this game, scored on a 5-yard march just after the half. They penetrated inside the Arkansas 20 on four other occasions. But the Aggies couldn't get the extra touchdown they needed to keep their Southwest Conference record clean. A&M had won two conference games against no defeats.

Arkansas' big play was a pass from quarterback George Walker to Preston Carpenter which covered 28 yards and set up the tying touchdown on the Aggie four.

The pass traveled about 10 yards in the air and Carpenter made 18 more with a fine bit of broken-field running. It took the Porkers four plays to cross the goal with walker sneaking the last few inches.

Arkansas	0	0	0	7	—7

Arkansas scoring — Touchdown: Walker (1 foot, sneak). Conversion: Walker.

Bayou DeSiard's Cole Among First To Enter Tourney

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss., Oct. 29 (Special)—Gene Williams of Laurel, Johnny Stahl of Vicksburg, and Winnie Cole of Monroe, La., were among the early entries for the $3,000 Louisiana-Mississippi Invitational Open to be held at Gulf Hills golf course, Ocean Springs, Miss., November 8, 9, and 10. This tournament is sponsored by Southern Specialty Sales of New Orleans, distributors of golf course equipment.

This third annual invitational will bring together many of the leading pros from Louisiana and Mississippi as well as many amateurs from throughout the south. Gene Williams is former Mississippi State Open champ winning his title in 1954. Johnny was also low pro in the 1955 Mississippi Open held at Meridian's Northwood where he scored a 281. Winnie Cole of Bayou DeSiard Country Club in Monroe, La., is another well known name in the bi-state invitational.

Competing for more than $3,000 in prizes and awards, the players this year will find tough going over the tricky Gulf Hills golf course which is known for its tight fairways and rolling layout. Gulf Hills is in excellent condition for this event which promises to be one of the best ever held in the three year history of this Louisiana-Mississippi Invitational.

Carroll Machine Topples Lincoln In 31 To 0 Scrap

Carroll High of Monroe, leader in the fifth district and still a major contender for the Negro schoolboy state football championship, spoiled Lincoln High of Ruston, 31 to 0, Friday night.

Elijah Johnson hustled the Bulldogs to their first touchdown with a run to the Lincoln 12 from where he carried the rest of the way. Then quarterback Floyd Gray flipped a pass to Ernest Reed who carried to the five to set up a touchdown plunge for David Lawson.

Center Norman Harris scooped up a Lincoln fumble on the Lincoln 20 and rambled for the touchdown that gave Carroll a 19-0 edge at the half, and Carroll didn't let up as the Bulldogs rambled for two more touchdowns in the last half.

Carroll next will be shooting at one of its major rivals of the season when the Bulldogs invade Minden for a battle with the powerful Webster High eleven.

Quakers Get 15th Straight Defeat; Lions Ahead, 20-0

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 (AP)— — If there is any solace in defeat, winless Pennsylvania earned it on Franklin Field today as the week-in and week-out outmanned Quakers gave up two quick first period touchdowns to Penn State and then fought the high - favored Nittany Lions to a standstill for three quarters, losing 20-0.

Coach Steve Sebo's Penn club dropped its 15th straight game — the longest major college losing streak in the nation — but its tremendous defense against the running of fleet Lenny Moore, slippery Bill King and powerful Bill Straub, was something Franklin Field visitors haven't seen since happier days of Penn football some five or six years ago.

Piggly Wiggly Stores stopped Louisiana Well four points to pick up an extra point and increase their league lead. Totsie Shoemaker led Piggly Wiggly with a 160 game and a 450 series. Pearl Lofton showed best for the water well girls with a 154 game and 418 series.

Brown Container, headed by Jewel Beachman, swept four points from Falstaff as Jewel was hitting a 152 game and 413 series. Daisey McLain used a 128 game and a 313 series to lead Falstaff.

State Farm Insurance, with Ora Lee Johnston leading the way, bested Negley Bag and Paper three points to one. Ora Lee turned in a 172 game and a 424 series. June Ferrinton was best for Negley with a 143 game and a 392 series.

Troy and Nichols took three out of four points from Montgomery Insurance as Margeurite Malone led with a 152 game and 392 series. Vera Wright showed a 135 game and Odie Harris posted a 360 series deadlocked with Vera for high series for Montgomery.

Shamis Ready to Wear downed Monroe Hardware three points to one as Ellen Yeldell was taking charge with a 180 game and 477 series. Louise Faler's game of 162 and a 397 series by Marie Childers led the Hardware girls.

Testa, with Al Huffman leading, made a sweep of four points with Roi-Tan Cigar as Al was using a 199 game and a 542 series. Gulledge, showing a 172 game along with a 452 series, was tops for Roi-Tan.

Monroe Brick, headed by Tony Danna, bested Urania Lumber three out of four points as Tony shot a 188 game and a 505 series. Tannehill showed best for the Lumbermen with a 176 game and a 463 series.

Team No. 4 stopped Jax Beer three points to one as Scalia was coming through for the No. 4 boys with a 202 game and a 513 series. Jerry Higgins had a very good night with a 228 game and a series of 588 was very much the leader for Jax.

Loper Machine, fighting to become the No. 1 team, stopped North Louisiana Wholesale Gas and Oil three points to one. Taylor's 211 game and a 494 series for Eddie Fleming led Loper. Charlie Finkbeiner was best for the Gas and Oil boys hitting a 189 game along with a 519 series.

Sherrouse Insurance and Bruce Terminix split four points. Morrow, getting a 153 game and a 435 series, led the insurance boys. Lee, posting a 159 game and a 419 series, was tops for Terminix.

Tag Team Mat Main At Kallio's Arena Tuesday

The ever-popular tag team match returns to Gus Kallio's Arena Tueaday night when George Curtis, Vicksburg favorite, pairs with Don Wayne, Tulsa against Little Rock's Red Roberts and Birmingham's Rube Wright in the feature.

The main event is slated for the best-of-three falls, with a 90-minute time limit; and two short preliminaries, each requiring but one fall to win and with a ten-minute time limit apiece, complete the card. Opposing main event team members will furnish the opposition in the prelims, with Bill Barney, West Monroe garageman-wrestler officiating all matches.

Curtis, Roberts, and Wright are all well-known here, with the former ranking as number two all-time fan favorite, holding the runner-up slot to his brother Jack; and the latter pair comprising one of the most villainous relay teams ever to appear locally.

Wright is a notorious referee-baiter and hair-puller, and Roberts specializes in illegal strong-arm tactics. Between the two of them, young Curtis and Wayne may have a very rough evening.

Wayne has appeared here previously, and was a husky popularite. He wrestled cleanly but roughly in each of his previous bouts, and won the crowd's acclaim throughout.

Football Injury Fatal For Texas Prep School Boy

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Oct. 29—UP—Harvey Crye, 17-year-old senior end from South Antonio high school died early Saturday of injuries received in a football game Friday night.

Crye, after catching a pass early in the game, was tackled while still in the air, turned a flip and hit the ground head first.

Coach Kenneth Young first believed that Crye only had the breath knocked out of him, but wouldn't let him remain in the game as he asked.

Crye walked off the field alone, and then fell over while sitting on the bench a few moments later.

Michigan Repulses Iowa Bid For Upset, 33 To 21

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 29—UP—Quarterback Jim Maddock fired towering touchdown passes to ends Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz in the final nine minutes Saturday to lead Michigan's top-ranking Wolverines to a dramatic 33 to 21 comeback victory over Iowa in a nationally-televised Big Ten battle before 72,096 fans at Michigan Stadium.

Undaunted by a 21-13 deficit, Maddock took charge of the Michigan team at its own nine-yard line and cut loose a barrage of passes. The last one sailed into the arms of Kramer for a 65-yard touchdown which cut Iowa's lead to a single point.

The Hawkeyes, smarting from a pair of 14 to 13 setbacks at the hands of Michigan the past two years, marched to the Michigan 28 after taking the following kickoff, but the drive stalled with only three minutes remaining.

It was the second straight comeback victory for the unbeaten Wolverines, who fought back from a two-touchdown deficit at Minnesota for a 14 to 13 triumph over the Gophers a week ago. The victory kept Michigan in first place in the Big Ten standings and kept alive its hopes for its second national championship in eight years.

Halfback Tony Branoff streaked 31 yards for still another touchdown in the closing seconds but it was merely icing on the cake after Iowa had gambled with four passes in an attempt to pull the game out of the fire.

The Hawkeyes stunned Michigan by racing into a 14 to 0 halftime lead and appeared headed for one of the season's most startling upsets. Halfback Ed Vincent raced 2½ yards to climax a 62-yard march the first time Iowa had the ball and end Jim Freeman kicked his first of three straight extra points.

Score by periods:

Michigan	0	0	13	20	—33
Iowa	7	7	7	9	—21

Michigan scoring — Touchdowns, Baldacci (one, plunge), Maentz 2 (33, pass from Branoff, 60, pass from Maddock), Kramer (65 pass from Maddock), Branoff (31 run). Dobrino 2 (one, plunge 27, pass from Reichow). Conversions—Freeman 3.

Newellton Rocks Culkin Academy By 41-14 Margin

NEWELLTON, La., Oct. 29 — (Special) — Scoring in every quarter and using the entire bench, the Newellton Bears got back in the win column last night by downing Culkin Academy, 41 - 14, during "Dad's Night" on the local field.

Newellton scored first after a pass from Fullback Terry Head to halfback Raymond Cannon, good for 35 yards, put the ball on the Culkin one yard. Terry Head carried across. Halfback Parnell Barfield booted the point after.

The Bears scored again early in the second period on a pass from Terry Head to Cannon good for 26 yards. Point after booted by Barfield. Culkin held the Bears' next drive on the three to take over, but fumbled on their 12 with the Bears recovering. Terry Head scored from one yard out and his pass to twin brother, Jerry made the point after giving the Bears a 21 - 0 score at halftime.

Culkin came back with sophomore quarterback Glynn Griffing throwing in the third period only to have Bear tackle John Wood to intercept. A 24-yard pass from Terry Head to Cannon and a seven-yarder from quarterback Jerry Clark to Jerry Head put the Bears on Culkin's one yard where Terry Head plunged through for the score. Barfield missed his attempt to kick the point after. Then the Tigers came to life after a bad roll on a Bear quick kick gave them the ball on the Bear 29.

With fullback Brogden and halfback Baylot picking up yards down to the Newellton 12 quarterback, Griffing passed to halfback Akin for the score. They teamed up again to make the point after as the third period ended.

Newellton took the kickoff to start the 4th period on their 41 and, after two fine runs by Barfield and Terry Head, Barfield carried across from the one yard. Barfield kicked the point. On the first play after taking the next kickoff quarterback Griffing again cocked back and tossed to Akin good for 39 yards and a TD. Griffing ran the point after.

Then on the first play after taking the next kick-off, Bear fullback Terry went back to pass, was rushed, found a hole and, behind some beautiful blocking that found twin brother end Jerry Head aking out two would be tacklers, the big fellow went 50 yards for the score. Barfield kicked the point to give the Bears their 41-14 victory.

McNeese Powers Way Over Lamar Tech Foe, 17 To 2

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—Halfbacks Jesse Gastete and Ray Simmons and a hard-charging line powered McNeese State to a 17-2 football victory over Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., today.

Castete dashed 14 yards for the first McNeese touchdown in the opening quarter. Simmons scampered 60 yards for the second tally in the third period.

James Moss provided the three points in the final period when he booted a field goal from the 15-yard line.

Lamar managed to avoid a white-washing when the Texans' line broke through to spill McNeese quarterback Don Ladner for a safety in the third quarter.

McNeese simply crushed the visitors with its running attack. McNeese rolled up 255 yards on the ground while the Texans were held to 105 yards rushing by the alert McNeese forwards.

Rainbolt Sparks Ruston Bulldogs In 28-14 Victory

RUSTON, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—Hard-running Russell Rainbolt ran for two touchdowns and took a pass for another today as Louisiana Tech defeated Southwestern Louisiana Institute 28-14.

The victory was the fourth straight without a loss in Gulf States Conference play for Tech and left the Bulldogs only two games away from the conference title.

Tech had to come from behind to register the triumph since SLI dented the Tech goal line for two touchdowns in the opening quarter. Halfback Ralph Davis tallied the first on a 10-yard run and Frank Foreman scampered 53-yards for the other. Davis and Foreman added the extra points.

Rainbolt whipped through the SLI line for 21 yards for the first Tech touchdown in the second quarter and trailed only 14-7 when Gayle Dick converted. Rainbolt's smash from the three following Charles Anderson's blocking of a SLI punt accounted for the second marker and Dick again converted to tie the score.

In the closing minutes of the third, Tech guard Bobby Stone intercepted a pass on the SLI 15. Two plays later, quarterback Milford Andrews whipped an eight-yard scoring pass to Dick to put Tech ahead 21-14. The Andrews to Rainbolt combination clicked for seven yards and the final touchdown in the fourth period. Anderson booted the conversion.

Irish Sink Middies, 21 To 7

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29—UP—Notre Dame torpedoed Navy dreams of its first undefeated football season Saturday with quarterback Paul Hornung a one-man show in leading the Irish to a 21 to 7 win in a rainstorm before a record crowd of 59,475 fans.

Hornung, a 205-pound junior, plunged a yard for one touchdown, passed to end Gene Kapish for 15 yards for another score, intercepted two Navy passes, and crashed for 43 yards in 13 carries despite steady rain and a slippery field.

Most important of Hornung's plays, though, were nine-yard runs on third down for first downs deep in Navy territory on the drive for the first Irish touchdown. On the same march, too, he called a fourth down run with six yards to go and crashed for seven yards himself to keep the parade alive.

Notre Dame's second touchdown went to sophomore Aubrey Lewis. He romped around end for 11 yards after Navy had to punt from behind its own goal line when Notre Dame was halted on the Middies' one on a drive beginning after the second half kickoff.

Dick Guest's punt went out of bounds on the Navy 30, and it took only four plays before the Irish scored to put the game away. Hornung's second pass interception, when he was downed on Navy's 36, set up the last Irish score on Kapish's pass reception. Fullback Don Schaefer, who carried 87 yards on 16 rushes, converted after each Irish score.

In all Notre Dame gained 323 yards rushing.

The Irish triumph ended Navy's winning streak at nine games, with the victory string beginning after Notre Dame's 6-0 win a year ago. It was Notre Dame's 10th straight win over the Middies and the fifth win in six games this year.

Navy's fourth-quarter consolation score Saturday came against Irish reserves in a 66-yard parade requiring 12 plays. George Welsh's passes of 13 yards to Ron Beagle and 17 to Peter Jokanovich, the latter reaching the Irish 2, were the major gains, while Edwin Oldham plunged the final two yards for the touchdown.

Score by periods:

Notre Dame	0	7	14	0	—21
Navy	0	0	0	7	— 7

Texas Christian Shells Disciplined Baylor, 28-6

WACO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Flashy All America candidate James Swink led Texas Christian to an impressive 28-6 victory over Baylor's discipline-riddled Bears today, virtually rolling the Bruins out of the Southwest Conference race.

Apparently Baylor's loss of three key linemen last week for training rule infractions had little to do with the beating they took from the bruising Frogs before 34,000 at Baylor Stadium. Texas Christian itself started the game with two first line guards out of the lineup.

It was just too much Swink and his football pals for Baylor.

Swink set an all-time scoring when his fourth period-69-yard gallop for a touchdown brought his total for the season to 81 points.

Del Shofner ran 56 yards for Baylor's lone touchdown early in the first period. Center Hugh Pitts blocked the extra point try. The Horned Frogs rolled 93 yards for their first score in the second period, with quarterback Charles Curtis going through on a fake handoff from the five.

Ray Tylor ran 52 for TCU's second touchdown in the third; Curtis plunged for the Frog's third score and Swink's long run brought the fourth touchdown for TCU.

TCU	0	7	7	14	—28
Baylor	6	0	0	0	— 6

Texas Christian scoring—Touchdowns: Curtis (5, plunge), (1, plunge), Taylor (52, run), Swink (69, run). Conversions: Pollard 4.

Baylor scoring — Touchdowns: Shofner (56, run).

In 49 World Series games Brooklyn has been involved in 19 one-run decisions. The Dodgers lost 11 and won 8.

Bowl-Hopeful Engineers Sidetrack Duke, 27 To 0

ATLANTA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The flying legs of George Volkert led Georgia Tech to two quick touchdowns against sluggish Duke today and the bowl-hopeful Engineers took it from there to whip the Blue Devils 27-0.

Volkert, a 184-pound halfback from Nashville, Tenn., set up Tech's first score with an 18-yard end sweep. He scored the second himself on a wide 22-yard run.

Tech's first TD came after Ormond Anderson recovered a fumble by Duke's Dale Boyd at the Duke 31. Dick Mattison finally scored from the 2. Volkert's touchdown sprint and Wade Mitchell's two conversions made it 14-0 with only 6 minutes gone in the first quarter.

Little Jimmy Thompson got the final Tech touchdown on a 1 yard sweep that climaxed a 54-yard march.

Without injured quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, Duke could muster no serious threat and never came closer than Tech's 28. Murray and Boyd, a converted halfback, filled in for the Blue Devils, but they didn't have the experience or know-how to get Duke's split-T machine rolling.

Duke's line consistently was outcharged and showed nothing defensively until late in the first quarter when it managed to repel a Tech thrust at the 25.

It was Duke's second straight defeat after four victories. Tech, hoping for a bid to the Sugar or Cotton Bowl, now has six victories against one loss.

Georgia Tech	14	0	0	13	—27

Tech scoring — Touchdowns: Mattison (2, plunge); Volkert (22, run); Menger (49, return of intercepted pass); Thompson (1, run). Conversions: Mitchell 3.

Nasrina Home First In Jamaica Feature

Favorite with the crowd of 32,472, Nasrina returned $5.10, $3.10 and $2.30. Noors image paid $5.20 and $3.10 to show and Cosmah $2.50 to place.

Highest Women's International Bowling Congress three-game score turned in for the year through Oct. 8 was bowled by Mary Cappo of Philadelphia. She rolled a three-game series of 120. Hattie Wooster of Los Angeles was next with a 705 series.

M.S.C. TRIUMPHS

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29 (AP)—Michigan State, with sophomore Walt Kowalczyk gobbling up more yardage than a runaway steam shovel, smothered Wisconsin 27-0 today and remained within striking distance of the Big 10 football championship.

Highest scoring losing football teams in the Ivy League have been Princeton and Yale. Princeton bowed to Penn in 1940 by 46-28 while Yale in 1948 lost to Columbia, 34-28.

Pitt's Panthers Tumble To Miami By 21 To 7 Count

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29 (AP)—Miami, striking with the force of a hurricane, struck for two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and scored again in the closing seconds to whip Pitt 21-7 today in the rain and mud at Pitt Stadium.

The victory ended a two - game losing streak for the Hurricanes and snapped a two-game winning streak for Pitt, who only last week upset previously unbeaten Duke.

A homecoming crowd of 40,117 saw Miami score twice in less than six minutes of the first period and again with 33 seconds remaining.

John Varone scooted 31 yards for the first touchdown and quarterback Sam Scarnecchia connected on a 41-yard pass play to Jack Losch for the other.

Scarnecchia scampered three yards for the final score to climax a 65-yard drive in the last quarter. He also passed to Losch for one conversion.

Pitt scored with only 26 seconds remaining in the second quarter on a one-yard plunge by fullback Tom Jenkins.

Score by quarters:

Miami	14	0	0	0	—14
Pitt	0	7	0	0	— 7

GEORGE BUBB Joins McCain-Richards

George Bubb

J. H. "Slim" Scogin, Vice President and general sales manager of McCain-Richards, Louisiana's largest Ford dealer, this week announced the appointment of George Bubb to the new car sales force. Bubb is a lifelong resident of Monroe and has been identified with the automobile business here for many years. "I have been highly pleased with the tremendous reception I've had from my friends to whom I've demonstrated the '56 Ford during the past few days," Bubb said. "My sales in this short period indicate that more and more people are recognizing that Ford is the fine car at half the fine car price, and several of my friends have told me that the deals offered at McCain-Richards are up to $200 better than they could find anywhere else."

American Art Week

November 1-6 has been set aside as American Art Week, sponsored by the American Artists Professional League, Inc. This week will mark the 21st annual celebration for the United States and territories. The artists of Northeast Louisiana will open their exhibit at the Art Center on Louisville Ave. today from 2 to 6 P.M. It will be the largest exhibit of local talent ever held in Monroe, with over 200 pictures on display through next Sunday.

Left—J. V. Spatafora puts the final touches on a portrait which will be on exhibit during the national observances.

Junior League Silver Tea Highlight Of Social Week

One of the season's most beautiful parties was the Silver Tea given on Thursday in the home of Mrs. Ben Marshall on Island Drive.

Sponsored annually by the Junior Charity League, the seventy-five members, as well as inactive and life members were hosts to their many friends between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. Burt Sperry. Flowers in fall shades were used throughout the house with the exception of the dining room where American beauty roses in crystal cornucopias were featured.

In the receiving line was Mrs. J. B. Hargrove, president and receiving with her were past presidents of the league, Mrs. Ed Seymour, Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. Dewitt Milam, Mrs. George Snellings, Mrs. Thomas Davenport, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Henry Hinkle, Mrs. Harry Lemert, Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. Ray Rhymes, Mrs. J. S. Adams, Miss Hazel Mitchell, Mrs. Morgan Simonton and Mrs. Roy Johns.

Mrs. Jack Taylor welcomed the guests in the dining room. Life members of the league, Mrs. A. J. McGinn, Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Mrs. Fred Coon and Mrs. David Garrett, alternated in pouring coffee and tea. Assisting in serving were, new members, Mrs. John Allin, Mrs. Randolph Brown, Mrs. T. A. Calloway, Mrs. Robert Downing, Mrs. L. A. Fluesmeir, Mrs. Bruce Gregg, Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Mrs. Allen Jones, Mrs. Pascal Norris, Mrs. Ben Oliphant, Mrs. Joe Powell, Mrs. Fred Sartor, Mrs. Thomas Sandridge, Jr., Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Benton Wakefield and Mrs. George Wright.

Mrs. W. T. Allen was the general chairman for the tea and working with her were Mrs. Charles Amman, Mrs. H. D. Touchstone, Mrs. John Mullins, Mrs. M. S. Dixon, Jr., Mrs. Jack Neel, Mrs. Paul Ransom, Mrs. John Savage and Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Jr.

Purely Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westrom and young son, Charles, left the first of the week for Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada, for two months. Mr. Westrom was given a business assignment there, so Mrs. Westrom and Charles will spend the time with him.

Mrs. Bridger Thornhill and Mrs. Frank Gordon will return today after a weeks' visit in Memphis, Tenn. and Hot Springs, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Montgomry, Jr., Miss Martha Clayton Sparks and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sparks are spending the week end in New Orleans.

In Baton Rouge for the Ole Miss and L. S. U. game are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slagle. They are guests of Elmer Slagle, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison of New Roads were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Gunby and Miss Elaine deGraffenried, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee Davis are spending the week end in Baton Rouge. They went down for the game and to see R. L. Davis, Jr., who is stationed in San Francisco, but is in Baton Rouge at this time with Mrs. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Renaud and Mrs. Morris Harrison left Friday for Birmingham, Ala., where they are guests of Mrs. E. C. Sutton. Mr. and Mrs. Renaud will visit Mrs. Renaud's sister, Mrs. Henry Barrett in Macon, Ga., while Mrs. Harrison remains in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. David H Walke of Shreveport announce the arrival of their daughter, Barbara Nell, born Oct. 24. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Nell Walke of Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Martin of Shreveport.

Drs. Diane and Albert Goggans and two children, Leigh and Rickey were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sartor in Alto this week. The children remained with their grandparents while their parents attended the American Heart meeting in New Orleans. They returned to their home in Ft. Worth on Thursday. Also visiting for a brief visit was Ryan Sartor, Jr., of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Nichols departed early in the week by train for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will spend the next two weeks. While there, Mr. Nichols will attend a mortgage banker's convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Jr., and Miss Sylvia Gentry motored to New Orleans this week and attended the L. S. U.-Ole Miss football game in Baton Rouge on Saturday.

Mrs. W. H. Armstrong has returned from a delightful visit with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong III, in Lake Charles. While there she enjoyed seeing her son play the part of "Price" in Lake Charles' Little Theatre play "Stalag 17."

Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale, a member of the state board of the Louisiana League of Women Voters, attended a state board meeting in Alexandria yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Clay announce the birth of their fourth child and second daughter, Kathy Sue, born October 20 at the St. Francis hospital. The grandparents are Mrs. L. E. Welker of Akron, Ohio and Mr. Otis Clay of Canal Fulton, Ohio.

Mrs. Irene Reid is attending the second annual reunion of the Ancient Order of Creole Gourmets at Dulcito Plantation in New Iberia this week end. The celebration held Saturday night is attended by guests from throughout the nation who are descendants of Creole families of Southwest Louisiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Bowie of West Monroe are parents of a second son, Marcus Scott, born October 25 at the St. Francis hospital. Mrs. Bowie is remembered as the former Glorie Lavergne. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Bowie of Edgewater Gardens and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lavergne of West Monroe.

Friends will be interested to learn that Miss Janet Mahaffey has pledged Kappa Delta sorority at Louisiana Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. James have returned home from Hamilton, Canada where they visited their daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. Bucky McElroy.

La. Federation Of Clubs' To Have Meeting

The fall Board of Directors meeting of Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will be held in the Bentley Hotel, Alexandria, La., on Saturday November 5, 1955. The meeting will be called to order at 9 a.m. by Mrs. Carl Stewart, president of Shreveport.

High on the agenda of business to come before the Board Members will be the making of plans for the 1956 L.F.W.C. Convention, also to be held in Alexandria, on April 5, 6 and 7, 1956. Announcement has been made by Mrs. Stewart of the appointment of Mrs. Roy J. Tribbey, of Vivian, as Convention Chairman, and Mrs. R. F. Zimmerman, of Shreveport, as co-chairman. Honored guest will be Mrs. R. I. C. Prout, of Wakefield, Mich., who is First vice-president of General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Members of the Board of Directors from all eight districts of Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs are expected to attend this meeting.

Bono Nostrorum Club Holds October Meeting

The Bono Nostrorum Club held its October meeting in the home of Mrs. T. G. McKay with Mrs. W. C. McKay co-hostess. The living room was attractive with arrangements of huge yellow and bronze mums. Eighteen members were present for the occasion.

Miss Ethel Watson, president, called the meeting to order and stated that the subject for the evening was Community Affairs. Mrs. W. C. McKay offered an opening prayer.

The song "Louisiana" was sung and enjoyed by the group. This was followed by the pledge to the flag which was led by Mrs. Mary Laird.

Miss Kate Talbert, leader of the evening, read a list of questions concerning community activities and asked the club members to consider each of them and make some decision regarding the ones which they thought practical for the club to engage in. She then introduced Mrs. Bacle, speaker of the evening, who reviewed the "Life of Dr. Jonas Salk," telling of the great work he accomplished in perfecting a polio vaccine. She read and gave concise answers to about twenty of the most commonly asked questions regarding polio and the new vaccine. Mrs. Bacle's talk was most interesting as well as informative.

Mrs. Tillman called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Baker reported on the party which is to be held in Rayville for the crippled children about December 17.

Mrs. Tillman and Mrs. Nash reported that progress was being made in the work toward establishing a youth center at the American Legion Hall. The clubs of the town have voted to render assistance in this worthy project.

The members were dismissed by repeating the collect. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Toast, bread under the broiler on one side only. Spread untoasted sides of bread with sharp soft cheddar cheese. Top with tomato slices and dots of butter. Broil until hot through. Serve garnished with crisp strips of bacon. Favorite luncheon dish!

D. A. R. Chapter Meets At Parish House In Bastrop

Miss Frances Flanders, state D. A. R. librarian and past regent of Fort Miro chapter was introduced as guest speaker by Mrs. George T. Madison at the October meeting of Abram Morehouse chapter which convened in Bastrop at the Episcopal parish house with Mrs. E. B. Folse, Mrs. E. D. Shaw, Jr., and Mrs. Ray Green as hostesses.

Miss Flanders gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the national and state D. A. R. libraries. She stressed the importance of these libraries as a source for tracing ancestry. During this past summer Miss Flanders visited the national D. A. R. library in Washington, D. C. She was very much impressed with the valuable collection of books and records as well as the functioning of this library. It is second to the largest library of its kind in the United States, ranking next to New York.

The information given by Miss Flanders concerning the Annie Laurie Moody, State D. A. R. library, housed in Monroe at the Ouachita parish library should be helpful to all those, in this vicinity, who are interested in tracing their ancestry. This library is one of the very few state as well as circulating libraries in the United States. The fact that it is a circulating library makes it very valuable inasmuch as these books may be borrowed by D. A. R. members for a two weeks period. Genealogical reference books are the most difficult kind of books to borrow from inter-loan libraries.

Mrs. J. B. Shackelford explained the changes in the national by-laws. These bylaws were presented for approval and were unanimously adopted by the chapter.

Miss Debbie Pinkston, in her national defense report, stressed the importance of American history in the grades. She said that, "If children are taught to appreciate their American heritage from the day they enter school there would be no Americans to become Communists."

Mrs. James Madison, assistant chapter historian explained the chapter's historical project. Abram Morehouse chapter is offering four beautiful history medals for the best historical scrapbook made by the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade history students.

Mrs. George T. Madison reported that all the tombstones inscriptions had been copied from the old Bayou Bartholomew, thirteen acre cemetery. She told that other private cemetery records had been copied this past week. Plans are made to complete Red Hill, and Old Bastrop cemeteries.

Mrs. Edwin Conger gave a very delightful description of the Chief Tusquahoma tea which was at Synope plantation, on the Ouachita river, the home of Mrs. O. N. Reynolds.

Miss Frances Flanders, at the request of Mrs. H. F. Madison, regent of Fort Miro chapter extended an invitation to the members of Abram Morehouse to attend the Fort Miro tea for new members. This tea will be at the home of Mrs. Ed Seymour, Park Avenue, in Monroe, on Saturday, Nov. 12, from four to six p.m.

Visitors present were: Mrs. Gilbert White, Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. Turpin Davidson, Mrs. C. M. Clarke, Mrs. J.S. Toombs of Baton Rouge, regent of the John James Audubon chapter and Miss Frances Flanders.

Members present were: Miss Ellie L. Traylor, Miss Lucille Huffman, Mrs. Allen Turpin, Mrs. E.D. Shaw, Jr., Mrs. Duke Shackelford, Mrs. T. H. B. Rankin, Miss Debbie Pinkston, Mrs. George T. Madison, Mrs. James Madison, Mrs. Conrad McDuffie, Mrs. Ray Green, Mrs. E. L. Gladney, III, Mrs. E. B. Folse, Mrs. J. A. Davenport, Mrs. A. H. Davenport, Mrs. Edwin Conger, Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. Elizebeth Pugh Carr, Mrs. W. T. Barham, Mrs. T. E. Barham, Mrs. R. E. Barham.

Four Hostesses Entertain At Bridal Shower

Miss Kiki Gatzoulas, whose marriage to Alec Kantralis is an event of today, was entertained at a crystal and china shower given by Mrs. Gus Terzolas, Mrs. Gus Jackson, Mrs. Nick Dimos and Mrs. George Thanos Friday evening in the Terzolas home on Bayou DeSiard.

Guests were received by the hostesses, honoree and her mother, Mrs. James Gatzoulas.

Arrangements of yellow daisies and green fern in silver bowls were placed at points of interest in the party rooms.

Mrs. Nick Dimos presided over the silver coffee service and Mrs. Gus Jackson and Mrs. George Thanos assisted in serving.

Miss Gatzoulas chose for the party a white faille trousseau model trimmed in black velvet complemented by a corsage of yellow roses.

Those sharing the occasion with the hostesses and honoree were: Miss Mattie Crow, Mrs. James Kocatas, Mrs. Bobby Pappas, Mrs. George Tefas, Mrs. Athena Malton, Mrs. Marvin Owen, Mrs. Ruby McKenzie, Mrs. Paula Tooke, Mrs. Pepper Bubb, Mrs. Frances Knight, Mrs. Steve Andrews, Mrs. Sam Geeker, Mrs. J. C. MISS BILLIE NELL FORD'S engagement to Jimmy Dale Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bowen of Marion, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Ford, also of Marion. The wedding will be an event of October 31 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Marion.

Home Ceremony Unites Miss Hempel And Frank C. Taylor

On Saturday evening, October 22, at 4 o'clock, Miss Shirley Hempel, of Extension, and Frank C. Taylor, of Baton Rouge, pledged their nuptial vows in an impressive home ceremony at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Desha, Jr., on St. John street.

An improvised altar was decorated with white mums and palm standards illuminated by white tapers in candelabras entwined in southern smilax.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, William S. Desha, Jr., was attired in a patio length dress of pale mauve taffeta embroidered with seed pearls and irredescent sequins. It was fashioned with a sculptured bodice and full skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a cap of shimmering irredescents. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a whie orchid.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Grace Hempel, chose a patio-length gown of antique blue taffeta. It was styled along matching princess lines and was accentuated by a pointed neckline. She wore a matching blue cap detailed with seed pearls and silver beads. Her bouquet was of white mums.

Mrs. Taylor chose a becoming box style black suit with matching accessories and white gloves. Her corsage was also of white cymbidium orchids.

The bride's table was overlaid with an imported lace cloth and held a tiered wedding cake placed on a reflector decorated with pink and white roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Pink mums, white tapers wrapped in pink ribbon and pink punch with a frozen float were in keeping with the pink motif.

Mrs. Blanche Desha Young served the wedding cake.

Mrs. Andy Kosmac presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. William Desha, Jr., served at the coffee table.

After the reception, the couple departed on a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling, the bride changed to a charbrown suit with burnt orange accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of Fort Necessity High School and attended Louisiana Tech. She graduated from the Spencer Business College in Baton Rouge.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Arkansas.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. William S. Desha of Extension; Mrs. Gene Taylor of Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kosmac of Fort Necessity; Emile Hempel, Grace, Douglas and Hugo Hempel of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. George D. McKnight of Grayson; Lip McKnight of Baton Rouge; K. Carson; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Procter and Amanda, all of Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Peck of Winnsboro; Mrs. Blanche Desha Young of Baton Rouge.

Third Annual Reunion Of Cross Family

MONTEREY — The third annual Cross family reunion was held last Sunday at Cross Bayou on Horse Shoe Lake.

Attending the reunion were 295 —descendents and their families— of John Presberry Cross, who came to Concordia parish from Winnsboro, South Crolina, over 100 years ago. He was the father of 17 children, and only two are still living. They are Mrs. Ramath Cross Enlow, of Monterey, and J. D. Cross of Vidalia, but there are now 831 living descendents of John Presberry Cross.

The group enjoyed a basket dinner followed by a program and business meeting. Clay Smith of Epps, was master of ceremonies for the day.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Marion W. Cross, Monterey, president; Hansel Cross, Monroe, vice - president; Mrs. Cecil Kaiser, Baton rouge, secretary-treasurer. Outgoing officers were J. D. Cross, Vidalia, president; Marion W. Cross, Monterey, vice-president; and Mrs. Leatus A. Storey, Monterey, secretary - treasurer.

Next year's reunion is scheduled at the same location on the third Sunday in October.

Mrs. Taylor Is Honored On Her 75th Birthday

FARMERVILLE — Mrs. Monroe Taylor's home was the scene of a surprise birthday celebration on Thursday when she celebrated her seventy - fifth birthday.

Mrs. Richard Bass was hostess and guested the guests who were ushered into the living room where they were asked to sign the guest book by Miss Orene Bowen. At 6:30 Mrs. Taylor entered, escorted by her daughter, Miss Cleo Taylor.

The many beautiful gifts were put on display, where guests could view them.

The dining table was overlaid with a handsome crochet cloth which Mrs. Taylor had made. It held at one end her birthday cake which was two-tiered and had the numerals 75 on top. The cake was of gold and iced in orchid with gold roses. The crystal punch bowl filled with purple punch was at the opposite end of the table. The table held for central decor, a flat arrangement of gold mums and crystal candleholders with tall orchid candles. The buffet was graced with a mass arrangement of gold mums in a tall epergne which was flanked by tall burning orchid candles. Mrs. Gurvis Barron served the confection, while Mrs. Dillard Joiner presided over the punch bowl.

Out-of-town guests were: Miss Monique Coats, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bowen and Bonnie of Monroe, Miss Orene Bowen, Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson and daughter, Mrs. M. C. Carroll and niece, Mrs. Jack Payne of Monroe, Mrs. Docia Robinson, the Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Patton of Downsville, Mrs. Fred Marsh and the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Grant of Bernice.

MISS ARTHUREE HALL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hall, of West Monroe, is betrothed to James Marvin Grantham, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Grantham, also of West Monroe. The wedding will be solemnized November 24 at Edgewood Baptist Church at 4 p.m.

Bullock-Greene Vows Exchanged In Reidhimer

DODSON, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Greene, Dodson have announced the marriage of their daughter, Lennie, to Ben Bullock of Bienville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bullock.

The wedding took place at Reidhimer Saturday night, with the Rev. A. Venom of that town officiating.

Attendants of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greene.

The couple will make their home in Bienville.

Pineapple comes in a dietetic pack. You can have the pineapple in tidbits or sliced. The buffet-size can of tidbits (9 ounces) will give you two-thirds cup of drained fruit and one-half cup of juice. The sliced pineapple comes in a No. 2 can (1 pound and four ounces) and gives 10 slices and two-thirds cup of juice.

MR. AND MRS. R. A. EUBANKS, JR.

Miss Graham Becomes Bride Of R. A. Eubanks

WINNSBORO — In an impressive autumn setting, Saturday evening, October 15, in the Cooktown Baptist Church at Ruston, Miss Virginia A. Graham, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Graham and the late Mr. Graham, of Ruston, and R. A. Eubanks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Eubanks, Sr., of Winnsboro, were united in marriage with the Rev. J. T. Davis officiating.

The ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 oclock p.m. before an altar illuminated with candlelight and decorated with quantities of palm branches, southern smilar and standards of white gladiolas. An arch was made using the southern smilax.

Mrs. David Cook, of Ruston, organist, presented a program of prenuptial music as guests were shown to their places by the ushers who were Eldon Eubanks, brother of the bridegroom, of Winnsboro, and Jimmy McCartney of Olla.

Miss Jean Montgomery, soloist, accompanied by the organist, sang "If God Left Only You and "The Love of God.

The bride, given in marriage by Hollis Graham, wore a waltz length gown of powder blue crystalette, with a finger-tip veil. The fitted bodice feautred the low neck line and the full skirt. She carried a white split carnation bouquet with a centered white orchid on a white satin covered Bible. She wore a string of pearls which was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Betty Jo Graham was the maid of honor. She wore a crystalette dress of a shade deeper blue than that of the bride. It was fashioned also with a full skirt and was waltz length.

The bridesmaids were Misses Marie Turner and Shirley Roe. They wore identical gowns of gold taffeta and wrist corsages.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Graham wore a navy dress with white hat and gloves and wearing a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Eubanks was also dressed in a navy model with white gloves and hat and also a white carnation corsage.

The brides table was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth. The table was centered with candelabras which held the tall lighted tapers. Pink sasanque was also used in the table decor. Miss Sybil Pee poured the punch and Mrs. Mavis Barham served the wedding cake which was four tiered and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The couple left following the reception on their wedding trip. The bride changed to a navy suit with matching accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of the Ruston High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Winnsboro High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston.

The couple will reside in Port Arthur, Texas.

Girl Scout News

Friday is the day that Scouts of all ages with their leaders will go to Pine Wood for a day of work and play. From all we hear, there seem to be lots of troops planning to spend the day having fun and doing little jobs for camp improvement. Some of the Brownie troops that are brand new are going to have this trip as one of their very first activities.

There are many Scouts hoping for pretty weather, but they'll soon learn that only a heavy rain keeps good Scouts indoors. If everyone will wear a sweater and a jacket, she can peel off layers as the day warms up. A scarf for the head is a good idea, in case of wind or light rain.

For those who haven't been there before, we'll give you the simplest directions for reaching Pine Wood. Cross the bridge at Sterlington. Turn right on the gravel road about a half mile from the bridge. A Girl Scout sign marks the turn. From the sign it is about 3½ miles to camp, with a sign to mark all the turns. The signs are not too conspicuous, but are not hard to find if one has sharp-eyed Scouts looking for them.

Two of the recently - registered troops are fourth grade groups from Georgia Tucker school. One is Troop 41, whose leaders are Mrs. Cyril Yancey and Mrs. P. R. Pierce. In celebration of the troop's first birthday, Sally Pierce's grandmother baked a cake, which Mrs. R. Cammack decorated with Brownie symbols. In a simple ceremony the following received their new membership cards and the pendant signifying a year's membership: Yvonne Cason, Suzy Cammack, Jerry-Lee Clark, Judy Engstrom, Brenda Gresham, Vickie McCullen, Sally Pierce, Melody Tippins, and Connie Yancey. Ginger Cupp, a new member, was invested; and Phyllis Freeman, a transfer from Huttig, Arkansas, was received into the troop.

Connie Yancey was elected troop president, Yvonne Cason, secretary, and Ginger Cupp, treasurer. Judy Engstrom was appointed to keep a scrapbook. Members of the troop committee are: Mrs. R. Cammack, Mrs. Betty Engstrom, Mrs. Charles Cason, and Mrs. B. A. Tippins, Jr.

The second fourth - grade troop is Number 3 a new troop, with Mrs. Ralph Talbot and Mrs. Sylvian Masur as leaders. Chairman of the troop committee is Mrs. John Allen, Jr.; other members are: Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. J. H. Drake, Mrs. W. T. Hollis and Mrs. Charles Searcy.

Girls who were invested at the meeting Friday are: Sharon Allen, Evelyn Baum, Sandra Brown, Jeri Wyn Drake, Olivia Hollis, Lindia Masur, Judy McDonough, Jill Magruder, Judy Searcy, Nancy Talbot, Charlene Wedemeyer, Sandra Wood and Carol Genung.

Both troops have made trips to the television station recently. Like most other young visitors, they were especially impressed by Howdy Doody in color.

Keep your fingers crossed, wish for good weather Friday, and join in the fun at Pine Wood.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES D. LEE

Lee-McMullen Vows Pledged

In an impressive double - ring ceremony, Miss Mary Ann McMullen became the bride of James D. Lee, at the Jackson Street Church of Christ on Friday at 6 p.m.

The couple, both of Monroe, was united by the Rev. Jerry R. Lee, a cousin of the groom.

A theme of pink was carried throughout the wedding decorations. The church was beautifully decorated with pink gladioli, and greenery. Long tapering candles were lighted by Miss Rita Barnes.

The groom's father, Mr. Grady Lee served as best man and serving as usher, was David Eppinette.

Providing music for the ceremony, were Mrs. Ann Lee and Mrs. Kathleen Boyd, who sang.

Council To Hold Open House

The Ouachita Home Demonstration Council is holding open house Thursday, November 10th from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. at the agricultural auditorium, West Monroe honoring our foreign guest, Miss Suzanna Gertruda Maria Rottink of Delden, the Netherlands. Each club member is urged to meet Miss Rottink and hear her talk on her people and their customs. She will wear a native costume during her lecture.

The council also is extending an invitation to all leaders of church groups, garden clubs, civic organizations to meet our guest, and any other interested person is cordially invited to open house.

Ouachita Home Demonstration Clubs each year contribute to this fellowship fund used to bring a woman from another country to Louisiana and we are happy to have Suzanna with us two weeks—November 1-15th. She will live in the W. A. Calloway home during her stay in Ouachita.

Nutritious Holiday Sweets

Mrs. Irene Turner, LSU extension food and nutrition specialist, has prepared recipes for nutritious holiday sweets. She visited Ouachita October 21st and gave training to thirty club women who will give demonstrations in making these sweets at the Home Demonstration Club meeting in November and December. Recipes will also be distributed to club members at the demonstration. These recipes make preparing for holidays easier. Visit the club nearest you and see these demonstrations and get the recipes. The leaders receiving this training are: Mrs. T. G. Johnson, Swartz; Mrs. Dallas Jordan, Eureka; Mrs. Lee Mann, Mrs. Robbi Cagle, Cheniere; Mrs. Pete Holcomb, Lenwil; Mrs. Irvin Waller Better Homemakers; Mrs. R. E. Brookings, Lamkin; Mrs. N. T. Williamson, Cypress; Mrs. U. C. Cockrell, Woodlawn; Mrs. C. C. Magown, Claiborne; Mrs. D. B. Glenn, Sterlington; Mrs. Donald Tolbird, Mrs. Fred Barrett, Lakeview; Mrs. Connie Goodlin, Mrs. Hazel McGraw, McClendon; Mrs. E. M. Granberry, Logtown, Mrs. F. D. Luton, Logtown; Mrs. Robert Moss, Claiborne; Mrs. J. R. Agin, Mrs. Albert Frost, Drew, and Mrs. Evelyn Haynes, Watson Club; Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Thrifty Homemaker; Mrs. L. L. Deen, Better Homemaker; Mrs. A. S. Frost, Drew; Mrs. G. L. Stennett, Lenwil, Mrs. H. O. Russell, Lenwil; Mrs. Mary Kirby, Colony; and Mary Moore, Thrifty Homemaker.

Unwelcomed House Guest

Every home is likely to have these unwelcomed house guests now — rats, mice and cockroaches. All of these uninvited guests are dangerous to health and expensive to keep. The house is the place of earliest protection, sought by these pests, when the weather gets cold. Chlordane will prevent cockroaches from wintering in your home. There are several safe ways of getting rid of mice and rats. Call the office if you need more information about controlling these pests.

Last Call for Strawberry Plants

You are reminded to order strawberry plants now. Planting dates in this area are early November. Louisiana certified plants are recommended by LSU extension service horticulture specialist. Konvoy is the variety recommended. The agriculture extension service office in West Monroe has a list of growers of these plants — call 3-2251.

Pumpkins For Halloween

There is a wonderful crop of pumpkins this year, so be sure to "light up" a pumpkin for the little folks. You enjoyed it when you were a child — so don't forget its the little happinesses of childhood we remember longest. Plan some fun activities for the youngster as the tradition of Halloween carries with it the idea of having fun. Activities well planned will afford fun without hazardous results. Don't forget at Halloween they will expect "treats" so better have on hand some good eats.

Jones-Warren

FERRIDAY — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Ruth Elise Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Warren, of Ferriday to Louis Clinton Jones, Jr., son of the late Louis Clinton Jones, and Mrs. Palestine S. Jones of Baton Rouge, La., is announced by her parents.

The wedding will take place at the Sevier Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday, November 27th at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Green Home Is Scene Of Party For Alumnae

FARMERVILLE — Claiming special interest during the recent Homecoming activities of Farmerville High School was the reunion of members of the graduating class of 1928, who were entertained at the home of Mrs. Fred Green in Farmerville with a barbecue supper prior to the football game that night. Others of the class assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Estelle Greer, Mrs. Metz R. Tugwell, Mrs. Therese R. Clark, Mrs. Harvey Roan, M. Stein Baughman and John Lee Turnage.

The spacious lawn and grounds surrounding Mrs. Green's home were made festive for the occasion by lights among the cedar trees and a brightly blazing bonfire. Guests were greeted on their arrival by the hostesses and Mrs Green's mother, Mrs. Ben Taylor who directed them to tables where they registered and were served coffee.

After a conversational hour filled with gay reminiscences of schooldays, the hostess read letters and telegrams from those who were unable to attend. The guests were then invited to the tables overlaid with plaid cloths and centered with arrangements of Lilliput zinnias on hand-painted trays. A delightful supper was enjoyed.

Other members of the class enjoying this occasion were Miss Carolyn Price of El Dorado, Ark., Mrs. Luo Mae Odom Burch of Start, Mrs. Mayloa Moore Pagan of Crossett, Tommy Goyne of West Monroe and Mouton Futch of Shreveport and Willie Ward of Farmerville. Former teachers present were F. W. Armand of Vivian and Mrs. P. L. Read of Farmerville. Guests other than members of the class included Mrs. M. Stein Baughman, Mrs. John Lee Turnage, Metz R. Tugwell, Mrs. F. W. Armand, Mrs. Tommy Goyne, T. G. Burch and Gary Pagan.

Cascille Clack, Donald Roberts Pledge Troth

Miss Cascille Clack, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Clack of Saint Joseph, and Reverend Donald L. Roberts of West Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Roberts of Okaloosa, were married in an impressive candlelight ceremony at the St. Joseph Baptist Church on Saturday, October 15, at six o'clock in the evening. The officiating minister was Reverend Connie Ward of Monroe.

Baskets of white gladioli and mums were used against an arch formed behind the altar by white cathedral candles in tall white standards with a background of greenery.

REV. AND MRS. DONALD L. ROBERTS

As the gussts were being seated Mrs. Edward Dayton played appropriate selections on the organ and accompanied Charles Walker of Rayville as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Just prior to the ceremony, Misses Reba Jo Love and Jacque Delle Bowden, lighted the candles. They were wearing floor length dresses of pale blue net made along identical lines and had pink flowers in their hair.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Louise McDaniel of Calhoun, aunt of the bride, wore a floor length gown of imported silk in a beautiful shade of lavender fashioned with a tight bodice with a small round collar and tiny covered buttons down the front and a very bouffant skirt. The bridesmaids, Miss Annie Louis Bennett of St. Joseph and Miss Joyce Roberts of Okaloosa, sister of the groom, wore identical dresses of imported silk with a scoop neckline, tiny puffed sleeves, a long fitted torso, and a bouffant floor length skirt, in shades of pink and blue. Their headdresses were little white satin half-hats trimmed with imported linen lace ruching. They carried nosegay bouquets of the pink, lavender, blue and white chrysanthemums tied with the matching streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The lace bodice featured a Queen Anne collar, a long torso, little cap sleeves, wore with the long lace gloves ending in cathedral points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of lace fell in three graceful tiers, each with the lace edging. Her fingertip veil of imported net edged with the Chantilly lace cascaded from a coronet of tiny seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a French bouquet of dainty white rosebuds and with white satin ribbon streamers.

The bridegroom had as his best man, J. P. North of Monroe, and the ushers were Robert Roberts and Tucker Roberts, brothers of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clack chose a dress of silk in teal blue, fashioned with a V-neckline, full pleated skirt, bracelet length sleeves. Her hat was of a matching shade, and she wore a corsage of dusty pink carnations, and dusty pink gloves. The groom's mother wore a lovely navy blue crepe model fashioned with buttons down the front. Her accessories were blue and she wore a white carnation corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the church parlors. The bride's table was covered with a white linen damask cloth and centered with a silver bowl holding a lovely arrangement of baby white mums, glads and bridal fern. On one end of the table was a crystal punch bowl and on the other was a handsome three-tiered. columnar wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom and decorated with the white wedding bells, white roses, and rosettes. Miss Caressa Clack of Rayville presided at the punch service. Mrs. Harvey Lee Spruill served the wedding cake and Miss Willie Mae Spruill had charge of the bride's book. Others assisting the bride's mother in serving and receiving the guests were Mesdames Fred Miller, John Schuchs, S. H. Wood, J. D. Myers, Henry Ohlsen, X. T. Matthews, and Miss Louise Jones.

For a short wedding trip to points in Mississippi, Mrs. Roberts changed to navy blue silk broadcloth dress. She wore a pink velveteen hat, pink gloves, and a pink stole, and the white rosebud corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Out - of - town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Head, all of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lusk of Epps; Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Roberts, Oda Wayne Roberts, Betty Lou Roberts, and Joyce Roberts, all of Okaloosa; Mrs. Irvin McDaniel of Calhoun; Mrs. Rachel Clack, Misses Caressa and Joyce Clack, Miss Paulette Clack, Mrs. S. D. Walker and Charles Walker, Miss Eva Clack, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mayo, Claxton and James Garland Mayo, all of Rayville; Mrs. Marilee Peoples, Darwin and Betty Jo Peoples of Natchez; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clack, Delores, Karen, Jerry and Donnis Clack, all of Bastrop.

REVEREND AND MRS. TOMMY LEWIS WILBORN, whose marriage was solemnized at the First Assembly of God Church, Saturday, October 15, at 7 o'clock in the evening in Lake Providence.

Drained cranberry sauce and chopped walnuts make a fine filling for a coffee ring. Use a hot roll mix as the base for your coffee cake.

News From The Public Library

Agair this week a number of fascinating new books have been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public library. The largest and probably the one destined to be the most popular of this week's acquisitions is "Andersonville" by MacKinlay Kantor. This is a story of the Civil War and of the prison where more than fourteen thousand Federal prisoners died. It is not a pleasant book but it fills in a great many facts about one of the greatest tragedies in American history. Lawrence Schoonover is one of the outstanding historical novelists of the present day. In Isabelle of Spain he has found his perfect heroine. She was unquestionably one of the greatest queens in European history and Mr. Schoonover has fashioned an enthralling story about her.

Two stories of the pioneer west will find a great many avid readers. Jim Kjelgaard is the author of "The Lost Wagon." He has already established himself as a writer for children, but this is the first book he has written for adults. It is the story of a pioneer family on the Oregon trail. "The Plums Hang High" by Gertrude E. Finney is the story of a young English couple who came to this country in the middle of the last century to build a new home for themselves. They were not prepared for the hardships which they had to endure, but finally won through to happiness and success. "Castle Garac" by Nicholas Monsarrat, is completely different from anything else he has done. It is a Gothic novel in the grand tradition and will appeal to an entirely different audience.

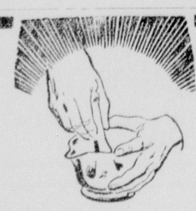

Two novels of particular interest to women are "Family Portrait" by Elizabeth Corbett and "Intimate Story" by Rose Franken. Both of these are family stories and will appeal to many women for many reasons. Then there is a new mystery, "The Man With Two Wives" by Patrick Quentin. It is an exciting novel of a man whose first wife came back and how through her he became involved in a murder investigation. The moral of this story is always tell the truth.

Several interesting books of nonfiction are also among this week's acquisitions. "Early Days of Coastal Georgia" by Margaret Davis Gate is a perfectly beautiful book about a most interesting region of our country. It would be especially fine for anyone planning a trip through that country. "The World of Bemelmans" is a fascinating collection of stories by one of the world's great wits. It will be every popular with his admirers. "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof" is an interesting play by Tennessee Williams. It is currently playing on Broadway and there will be many who will want to read it. "The Blue Continent" by Folco Quilici is a first - hand account of adventure and discovery beneath the Red Sea and of the daring men and women who have explored and expanded the wondrous world of a new continent.

Each week more and more people come to the library to seek information or pleasure. Whatever your need, the library is willing and eager to help you.

MISS JOY MASSEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Massey of Tallulah, is the bride-elect of Thomas Steven Wright, son of O. B. Wright and the late Mrs. Wright of Bussey, Arkansas. The wedding will take place at the First Baptist Church in Tallulah on November 5.

Bible Study Open To All Men Will Start This Week

R. G. Riley, chairman of the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. adult program committee, announces that Dr. Ben Oliphint, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, will lead a Bible study course sponsored by the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. This course is for all interested adult men and will start on Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A., 217 Breard street.

Tentative plans call for a four to six week study of the New Testament. This is a follow up to the study of the Old Testament which was held last fall. The study of the New Testament will be approached from an interdenominational and non - sectarian point of view. The group will meet once a week and the final plans for the study will be determined by the participants.

Dr. Oliphint holds a B. A. degree from Southern Methodist University, a B. D. from Duke University, an S. T. M. from Union Theological Seminary of New York and a Ph. D. from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

He has served as minister of St. Paul's Methodist Church since June, 1952. Prior to that time he was associate minister of First Methodist Church in Alexandria. From 1947-1949 Oliphint served as pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church in New Orleans. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors; chairman of board of directors of Monroe area guidance center; president of Twin Cities Ministerial Association; and a member of the board of directors of Alanon Club.

Every adult male in the Twin Cities is eligible for this Bible study program. Register immediately by calling Twin Cities YMCA, 5-2353.

GOP Farm Policies Blasted By Ladner

WIGGINS, Miss. (AP)—Secretary of State Heber Ladner blasted the Republican Party farm policy, contending "semi-depression is becoming the order of the day" among farmers.

Speaking to a meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday, Ladner said the GOP has been "strong on dividends from corporate shares but weak on dividends from plowshares."

He said farm income is down 21 cents since 1951 and farmers realize six per cent of the national income.

Negro Boy Killed In Mississippi Accident

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—L. C. McKinley, 8-year-old Negro boy of near Money, died instantly when he leaped from the rear of a tractor and fell in the path of an automobile.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

This is an easy exercise for the abdomen and hips . . . With a stiff knee swing your right leg forward and backward. Swing from the hip.

Have Checkup, Then Start Easy With Exercises

I would like to give a few warnings to those of you who are beginning regular exercise for the sake of health and figure. As I have said before you should always have a physical checkup, at least of your heart and blood pressure, before beginning. I also have warned you many times to begin easy and build up gradually.

Many women do not realize what a big difference there is in the amount of exercise individuals can take with benefit. What would be overdoing for one woman would be easy for another. People vary greatly in this matter.

This depends on physical condition, on how much exercise you have taken in the past, how long since you have exercised regularly (besides housework etc.,) and how you react to exercise. Women just will not believe this. I often noticed in my classes that, although I warned them to do each exercise only four or five times at first, the newcomers were likely to keep on as long as the old timers.

Stiff Muscles

In addition to the danger of over exercise to health you will have terrifically sore, stiff muscles if you start out too strenuously. Many women drop exercise for this reason. No matter how slowly you begin you will experience some soreness, but not to such an extreme degree. If you continue each day the discomfort soon will pass.

The best criteria as to whether you are doing too much exercise or not is how you react to it. While exercise is relaxing you should feel full of zip after a little rest and a tub or a shower. If you feel tired for the rest of the day you are doing far too much. It takes time to work up to a good routine after you have allowed yourself to get out of condition. Do not be impatient!

Lie on the floor on your left side. Brace yourself by placing your right hand on the floor in front of you. Now, with a stiff knee, swing your right leg forward and backward. Swing from the hip, not the knee. Swing as far in each direction as you can. After a while turn onto the right side, brace yourself with your left hand and swing the left leg forward and backward. Be sure to reach in each direction.

You do not have to spend hours each day in order to benefit by exercise. Fifteen or 20 minutes a day will bring you great benefit and also will improve your figure.

If you would like to have my tested hip slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

The bidding:

South, 3 no trump; West, pass; North, pass; East, pass.

Opening lead: Two of hearts.

In almost every no trump contract declarer is faced with the problem of which suit to attack in the hope of developing a sufficient number of tricks to fulfill his contract.

In today's hand declarer had the opportunity to try one suit, and in case of failure still retain a further chance by resort to another suit. It was important, however, to adopt the proper sequence.

West elected to lead the two of hearts. East followed with the king and South saw no point in holding up. He was faced with the problem of whether to attack spades or diamonds. Since the spades had more body he entered the dummy with a diamond and finessed the jack. This lost, and three heart tricks were cashed. When the spades failed to break, declarer was unable to develop his ninth trick. "Tough luck, partner," he was heard to say. "I had two chances, either the spade finesse or the spade break. Both went wrong." This complaint against fate was not fully justified. There was another chance open to him which he had not tried.

There is a good chance that the diamonds will break three-two. A diamond should, therefore, be conceded at once, and the enemy will cash three heart tricks. Now if the diamonds fail to break, the declarer may fall back on the spade suit as an additional chance.

The objection may be raised that the opening lead of the deuce of hearts may be a false one and that West may have a five card suit. The way to check up on this is to pass the first trick and notice which heart East returns. If it is a low one, you are entitled to assume that East is returning from four and that the opening lead was, therefore, honest.

It should be noted that while the location of the queen of spades was a fifty-fifty chance, the odds were definitely against the spades breaking, because an even number of cards will, on the average, not break evenly.

JURY IS RECALLED

OAKDALE — UP — The Allen parish grand jury will go back into session tomorrow to investigate cross charges filed by police officer Willard Storey and Tommy Leggett, arrested by Storey last Saturday on charges of driving while intoxicated, speeding and resisting arrest. Leggett filed a charge of aggravated battery against Storey and claimed the officer hit him five times with a blackjack.

TWO YOUTHS KILLED

DUSON — UP —Isaac Pierre Pepper, 18, and Joseph St. Armand, 21, both of Duson, were killed instantly yesterday when they were hit by a car while walking along highway 90. Police said the car swerved off the shoulder on the wrong side of the road and hit the youths. The driver of the car, Clyde Mouton of Rayne, was held on an open charge pending an investigation.

'Exercise Sagebrush' In Camp Near Ruston, Operations All Planned

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The story on Exercise Sagebrush was written for the Morning World by Major W. H. Pierce, Information Officer of the Ninth Field Army (Provisional). Major Pierce is located at field positions in the Ruston-Jonesboro area.)

On June 15th of this year a small group of officers and noncommissioned officers set up shop in the historic Infantry Post, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex. They were the beginnings of Ninth Field Army (Provisional), key command on the US side of "Exercise Sagebrush."

On October 15th the same group led a motor convoy into field positions in the Ruston area, after, in just four months, leading the drive to organize, equip and train an entire army headquarters to command all US ground troops in the largest joint training maneuver scheduled by the Department of Defense since the end of World War II.

Building an Army headquarters from the ground up was a formidable task for Maj. Gen. Charles D. W. Canham the Army commander, and Colonel Metticus W. May, chief of staff. Every day of the four month build-up was a continuing race against time. Despite their combat experience few officers had served on an Army staff and experienced non-commissioned officers were thinly spread through the ranks of enlisted men fresh from basic training centers. Beginning with classes on the make-up of a field army, a training program continued through the summer and reached its climax in mid-September with a four day round-the-clock field trip to merge the individual sections into a smoothly working headquarters.

But despite its administrative youth Ninth Field Army will call on over a thousand years of cumulative military experience among its command and general staff officers to oppose the maneuver enemy. Gen. Canham, for example, led the 116th Infantry Regiment into Omaha Beach on D-Day, 1944, and fought in France and Germany as assistant division commander of the 8th Infantry Division. After the war he commanded the famous 82nd Airborne Division one of the units he will now oppose in Sagebrush and the 3rd Infantry Division in Korea. In fact, the greatest majority of the Army staff officers served overseas with combat units in Europe, the Far East or Korea.

Operating in the field is nothing new for most of the headquarters troops and when the motor convoys rolled into the bivouac areas the training program paid dividends in efficiency and speed. Tent cities for sleeping areas sprang up the first night and by evening of the first night and by evening of the first working day the headquarters zone, the mess sites, communications centers, supply dumps and motor pool had been selected, staked out and set up. Today, dug into the Louisiana forest in Jackson parish and carefully camouflaged against "enemy" air observation the headquarters hums with activity as "battle" plans, tactical orders and logistical instructions flow through the message center to the widely scattered units which make up the Army command.

Close behind the headquarters troops came the Signal Corps teams to string up the telephone lines that will connect the Army and its fighting units. Speedy, dependable communications are a must in Sagebrush and the Ninth Army will test the latest Signal Corps equipment.

The Army in accomplishing the training objectives of Sagebrush must follow a broad plan of operations. Generally speaking, however, General Canham and his staff will be free to use their troops and new weapons in any way they choose to beat off the Aggressor attack. Tactical, strategic and observation aircraft, simulated atomic, radiological, biological and chemical weapons are all in the arsenal that will be thrown against the aggresesor armed forces.

The maneuver play is based on Ninth Army's attempt to halt and turn back an aggressor drive through central Louisiana. The "enemy" who has already invaded the gulf coast will strike early in the morning of November 15th and, by concentrating against a single point in the U. S. defenses, succeed in pushing across the Red River. Ninth Army, after successfully pulling back, will call up reinforcements, launch a counter attack and, as the maneuver ends, will be pressing aggressor back against his bases along the coast.

Sagebrush time is homecoming time for at least four of the Ninth Army staff. Capt. Arthur D. Stigall of Winnsboro, M-Sgt. Royce R. Alexander from Minden, Pvt. John A. Routon of Jonesville and Pvt. Sherrell D. Baggett of Columbia all feel at though they were working in their own backyard.

By October 31st the last of the corps, divisions and separate units to make up the ninth Army "battle" line will have tied into the Army telephone and radio communications network. By November 7th, 110,000 army troops will face each other across a maneuver "de-militarized" zone, and 500 Air Force planes will be waiting on airfields in seven states. Shortly after midnight on November 15th the first telephone will ring in the Ninth Army war room, the first alert will be flashed to "frontline" troops and Exercise Sagebrush, biggest peace time "war" in US history will be underway.

POINTS OUT IDENTIFICATION — Ninth Field Army faces a genuine "enemy" in Sagebrush in contrast to the opponents of previous maneuvers who wore the same uniforms and used the same tactics. Capt. William F. Buckley, of the Army Intelligence Staff, shows the distinctive tunic and unit markings of the aggressor uniform to a group of soldiers.

Citizens Form Safety Council

CROSSETT, Ark., Oct. 29 (Special) — In an effort to promote safety for school children, a group of Crossett citizens met recently and formed a citizen's committee safety council.

The first meeting of the newly formed organization will be held on November 1 at 7:30 p. m. at the Municipal Building. The council will be composed of representatives of the P. - T. A., civic organizations, schools, city government and other interested organizations.

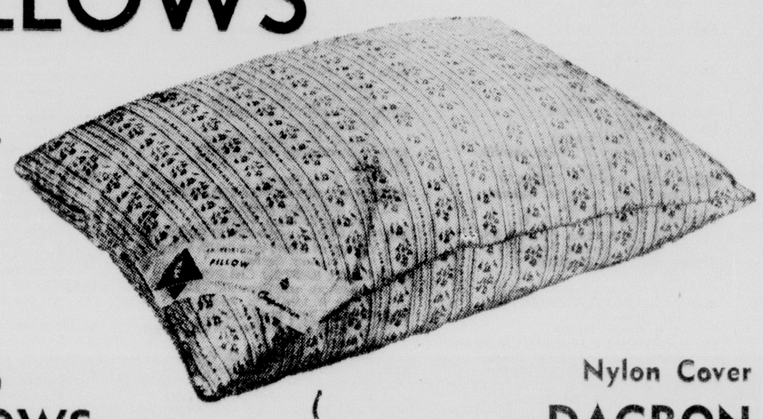

Among those who attended the organizational meeting were Rev. J. C. Buckner, Miss Gussie Price, Mrs. Mary Crawford, P. F. Watzek, M. P. Johnson, Al Nelson, Mrs. Robert Salb, M. H. Russell, Hugh Willis, Chief of Police D. F. Polk, Mayor Vascall Carter and Kenneth G. Chesley.

At the initial meeting the group discussed plans for a clinic for teaching bicycle safety, the possibility of licenses for bicycles, providing a safe area for bike riding practice and the establishment of a set of rules for bike riders to abide by.

Jr. Catholic Daughters Hold Second Meeting

A report was given by the president of each troop on their last meeting.

Each troop is now working on a money raising project. St. Helen of Troy and Our Lady of Fatima troops are working on a Twirp dance, being held on October 29. St. Theresa and St. Joan of Arc troops are having a rummage sale on November 5. On October 29, St Marie Gretti and St. Marie troops will have a cake and candy sale.

Dressed in full uniform the members will participate in the Living Rosary on Sunday, October 30 at the Christ the King Rally.

For help in the 30 hours of honor work the Juniors decided to work at the St. Matthews Bazaar, Nov. 8 and 9.

Central Baptist Revival Closing

The Anniversary Revival conducted this past week at the Central Baptist Church with Rev. Lucien G. Conway as the Evangelist, will close on Sunday, October 30 with special emphasis on a record determined in Sunday School.

During the past week, Rev. Conway spoke in the morning and at night before an appreciative audience. His messages were heart-searching and evangelistic.

The Sunday School attendance booster used during the revival consisted of lists of each class in the Sunday School. Those who pledged to be present at Sunday School had a red cross placed by their name, signifying the bearing of their cross. Teachers and others were urged to see that red crosses were placed by all the names.

Sunday Services are conducted at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. This will be the closing day of the revival meeting. All members of Central Baptist Church are urged to attend and others are cordially invited to come.

No U.S. President ever has resigned.

SERVICES SET—Reverend L. Gray Wilson, pastor of the Jonesville Methodist Church, will hold a series of evangelistic services twice daily at the Marion Methodist Church, beginning Monday and lasting through November 6. The meetings will be held at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Rev. Frank M. Stage, Jr., is pastor of the church.

REV. H. B. HUFFMAN

Nazarene Church To Begin Revival On Tuesday Night

The annual fall revival in the Church of the Nazarene, at North Fourth and Stella streets in West Monroe, will begin on Tuesday night November 1st at 7:30, and continue through Sunday the 13th. Services will be conducted every night beginning at 7:30, and the Sunday morning services at 10:50.

Rev. H. B. Huffman the evangelist from Onego, West Virginia, is a strong and successful gospel preacher, and is devoting his full time to the field of evangelism. This meeting will be the first time for Rev. Huffman to conduct revival services in this area.

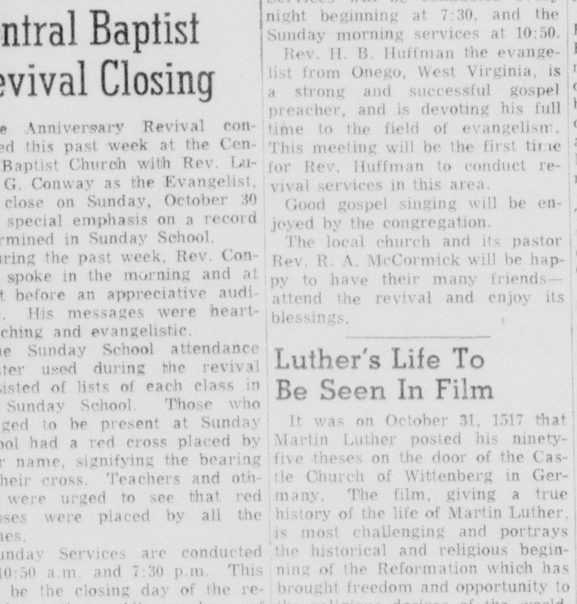

Good gospel singing will be enjoyed by the congregation.

The local church and its pastor Rev. R. A. McCormick will be happy to have their many friends—attend the revival and enjoy its blessings.

Luther's Life To Be Seen In Film

It was on October 31, 1517 that Martin Luther posted his ninety-five theses on the door of the Castle Church of Wittenberg in Germany. The film, giving a true history of the life of Martin Luther, is most challenging and portrays the historical and religious beginning of the Reformation which has brought freedom and opportunity to the religious desires of the world. The film will be shown in the Covenant Presbyterian Church Monday night, October 31, at 7:30.

The public is extended a most cordial invitation to see this fine film.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Messages:

0. Eph. 5:6. Let no one deceive you with empty words.
1. Phil. 4:5. Let all men know your forbearance.
2. Gal. 6:7. Do not be deceived; whatever a man sows, that he will also reap.
3. Rom. 14:9. Let us then pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding.
4. James 2:13. Judgment is without mercy to one who has no mercy; yet mercy triumphs over judgment.

Formal Rally, Grave Blessing, Set On Sunday

Each year on the Sunday closest to All Saints, the Catholics of the Monroe Deanery stage a rally in honor of Christ the King. It emphasizes the communion of Saints and Christ as their head.

A large platform has been erected in the center of the cemetery on which a beautifully decorated altar has been placed. Christ in the Eucharist will be enthroned on the Altar and a Holy Hour of Prayer and hymns will be conducted from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m., today, Sunday, the Feast of Christ the King.

A living Rosary will be formed at 2:45 and the Blessed Sacrament will be escorted to the cemetery at 3:00 p.m. The procession will consist of Altar Boys, Flower Girls, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Sodality, Junior Catholic Daughters, Squires, Boy and Girl Scouts and the clergy.

Father George Martinez will act as celebrant of Benediction and will bring the Blessed Sacrament from the church escorted by Fathers Berchman and Audoin, O.F.M., Deacon and subdeacon.

Father Vitus, pastor of St. Paschals, will preside as Master of Ceremonies and recite the consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

The Rev. Father Ulric, O. F. M. will preach the sermon and Fathers Hannon and Montalbano will direct the procession and choir.

St. Matthew's Grammar and High School Choirs and St. Paschal's choir, under the direction of Sister Aloysius, will render the music. An electric organ and loud speakers will be installed so that all will be able to hear the sermon, prayers and music.

At the end of the Holy Hour, a procession will go through the cemetery reciting the Rosary as the clergy bless the graves of the departed.

Central Baptist Progress In 25 Years Well Told

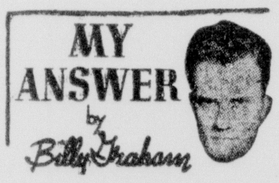

Attractively issued on high class paper, with silver toned cover the twenty - fifth anniversary number of Central Baptist Church, 3400 Lee avenue, Monroe, was distributed Sunday when the services were devoted to the observance of the past successful years.

Started 25 years ago, when the First Baptist church was the only Baptist church in the City of Monroe, this new place of worship was quite a pioneering event. But members of the downtown Baptist church cooperated and with their aid and that of the Rev. Roger M. Baxter, the first pastor was named.

Assisting in the new project were The Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church and two deacons there, Frank Masling and O. B. Morton, both now deceased.

The church started with 19 members who came from other churches and 11 others on confession of faith and baptism. Organization date was Oct. 19, 1930.

First officers were: The Rev. Roger M. Baxter, pastor; Mrs. K. A. Calhoun, church clerk; C. Steed, church treasurer; J. F. Walker, Sunday School superintendent; and Mrs. Roger M. Baxter, W. M. U. president.

QUESTION: I'm crippled with arthritis. I'm useless. What's the good of living? P. L.

ANSWER: God doesn't think you're useless. He needs all kinds of people to do His work. He needs the quick, and the slow. He needs the strong, and the weak. I know a boy without any arms, who paints with his toes. The lad's courage has inspired many to forget their handicaps. If you are cheerful and patient when in pain, you are witnessing for Christ.

A retired minister spends three hours each day writing friendly notes to those in trouble. His messages bring courage and comfort to thousands every year.

God has something special for you to do. Of course it won't be the same type of work you once did. Ask God how you can serve Him& and He will tell you.

We can't understand why illness comes, but when we suffer we must still trust our Heavenly Father. Then we have more time for prayer than ever before. Pray for others as well as yourself. Pray for those in positions of authority. Pray for peace and justice. Even when lying flat on your back, you can pray. And no prayer is ever wasted. This one way you can now labor for Christ and His Kingdom.

NEW TEST ANNOUNCED

BATON ROUGE — UP — Eyesight of Louisiana drivers will be tested by a telebinocular lens instead of outdated letter charts beginning in November. The state drivers' license division said the new lenses not only determines a driver's visual skill, but it also tells if he is color blind. While applicants for new licenses must take the test, persons applying for renewals won't be examined.

REV. PAUL FREELAND

DR. J. M. M'DILL

Presbytery Of Area In Annual Women's Meet

The annual meeting of the Women of the Red River Presbytery will be held in Delhi, November 3. Mrs. S. R. Williamson of Springhill is president. Announcement is made of the meeting by members here, and a large attendance from all north Louisiana is expected.

Two prominent speakers are on the program who are Dr. Joseph Moody McDill, son of the Rev. Thomas McDill, a minister of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

Dr. McDill received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Erskine College in 1933, Bachelor of Divinity degree from Erskine seminary and his doctor's degree from Vanderbilt University in 1938.

He has served as editor of various periodical publications and is author of "Milton and the Pattern of Calvinism" and editor of a prize poem, "Ad Astra." At the close of the second world war, he received a Navy league citation for "Distinguished Service" in behalf of the U. S. N., U. S. M. C. and Coast Guard.

For a number of years he has served the Presbytery to the present time as chairman of the committee of Home Missions and Church Extension.

Another prominent speaker will be Rev. Paul B. Freeland, secretary of Overseas Relief and Interchurch Aid, Board of World Missions, Presbyterian Church, Nashville, Tenn.

During September and October, 1953 he visited the British Isles and western Europe on a survey of church and refugee conditions.

He also has visited both Korea and Palestine and will have some interesting news from his wide experiences.

Methodists In College Area To Hold Revival

Memorial Methodist Church will begin its revival on Sunday, Oct. 30 at the 7:30 p.m. service, with the Rev. John Kilpatrick, of Rayville, doing the preaching. Rev. Kilpatrick is widely known in Louisiana and Mississippi for his preachng and fine accordion music which he uses in connection with his revival preaching.

The speaker has recently returned from the Holy Land and several European countries which he visited on one of the Christian Advocate tours.

Special music will be provided each evening by the choirs and groups of the church.

Alumni Federation Will Have Banquet

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The Mississippi chapter of the Louisiana State University Alumni Federation will hold its annual fall banquet here Nov. 5.

This is Reformation Sunday when we emphasize the principales of religious freedom and again review the reasons why we are free men and free to worship God as we please. This is a great day in its significance for mankind and we do well to observe it by attending worship services and praising God for this freedom.

Pioneers, Seniors, and Westminster Fellowship will meet at six o'clock this evening.

Tomorrow evening, October 31, at 7:30 we will show the film "Martin Luther." This is the day he nailed his 95 theses to the door of the Castle Church of Wittenberg, the act which launched the reformation. All are invited to see this film.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 30, 1955.

The golden text is: "Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord God: and not that he should return from his ways, and live?" (Ezek. 18:23.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (Ps. 37:37.)

The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Love corrects and governs man . . . Every supposed pleasure in sin will furnish more than its equivalent of pain, until belief in material life and sin is destroyed" (page 6:3 only, 12-14.)

Listen to a 15 minute radio broadcast Sunday at 7:45 a. m. over radio station KNOE. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Sunday service at 11:00 a. m. Wednesday service at 8:00 p. m. ENJOY OUTDOOR LIVING with a patio and barbecue pit in your own back yard. Shown in picture (top) is an attractive outdoor scene at the home of the Ted Allens, 2310 Jasmine. The patio and barbecue pit was built by the owners. The bottom picture depicts an outdoor living room, fireplace and barbecue pit located at the E. R. Whitaker's Bayou DeSiard property on Point Drive.

Outdoor Living Is Fun With A Patio

When I'm writing, this we need a rain. Be sure to water well and not let a freeze catch the ground dry. I keep saying that, but it is so important to the life of your plants.

"Out Door Living"

This dry cool weather is a wonderful time to build your patio and barbecue pit. In the spring there is so much to do in your garden—now is rather a lax time.

Ted and Alice Allen made good use of a nook opening from the master bedroom and the children's play porch. Have you ever noticed how such a nook that has too much traffic to grow a ground cover, can soon become a catch-all, and the dirt is tracked in the house? Well — Alice and Ted took care of this problem by bricking in the area for a family outdoor living room. The pit is built against the side of the house, but a canopy, chimney, damper and vent take care of the smoke. Ted used his own plan for this pit. The doors on either side open into storage bins for wood and charcoal. Salvaging some ceramic tile, the owners covered the two counters, thus making ideal cutting counters.

Another barbecue pit is that of the E. R. Whitaker's on Point Drive. This area is perched on the highest point of the bayou bank with deep ravines surrounding. A fence encloses this patio and a grand pit is ready for any amount of cooking the owners care to do. And—what a pit. An enormous fireplace for keeping warm — three fireboxes with grates at all levels for barbecueing any food in the roster.

Better still — a gorgeous view of Bayou DeSiard from two directions and the sweetest singing birds that ever uttered notes. A peaceful spot and so beautfiul that there seem no words to describe it all.

Almost every monthly magazine has pictures and plans for laying patios and building pits. It's just a matter of selecting the one you want. The instructions for laying the brick have been in this column several times. If you don't have this information, just call me. It's simplier and I can give it to you by phone.

Tree Planting

Very soon you'll be planting trees unless you already have plenty of shade. Plant the tree where you need it for shade—not just for the way it will look to the passer-by. Also plant far enough away from the house so the tree will not be hanging over the roof and cutting out needled light inside. The pecan is a beautiful tree and if kept mulched and fertilized, grows fairly feast. Then — you have the nuts.

A cypress is a lacy, fine textured tree but you'll need a low damp area for this. The sweet gum is a fast growing tree and gives you such gorgeous foliage at this time of year. The sycamore has trunk interest, coarse foliage and is a fast grower. Tulip trees give you coarse foliage and beautiful chartreuse colored blooms in early spring. The pin oak is slower growing, the leaves are small and make wonderful mulch. Gingko is slower growing and is a ball of yellow in the fall.

Some evergreen trees you may need to break the wind are live oaks, pines, and our Louisiana magnolia.

Medium and small decorative trees are: Crabapple, tallow, mimosa, dogwood, fringe tree, Japanese magnolias, redbud, crepe myrtles. We'll talk more about trees later. That's a long list for you to te thinking about.

Skeletonizing Magnolia Leaves

Many of you have asked that I again publish the recipe for skeletonizing magnolia leaves. Here it is: Put one can of lye and one cup of soap in five gallons of water. (Use soap, not detergent). Put your leaves in this and boil twenty minutes. Remove leaves and put them in a pan of clorox until they have bleached as white as you want them. Then put the leaves in water. You can let them stay in the water bath for several days. You may need to take a tooth brush and work the fleshy part of the leaf off the vein. Then you're ready to dye. Use all purpose rit, following the instructions in the package and adding a tablespoon of vinegar to set the color. You can dye these any shade to blend with the color scheme of your room. They are dainty and lovely mixed in dried arrangements.

Food Notes

Your Christmas and Thanksgiving table will feature the nation's best buys, from the way the picture looks, now. Turkeys are not as plentiful as last year at this time, the shortage being in the smaller birds. But—there will be turkey for every table as well as raisins, cranberries, pears, rice, grapes, potatoes and yams. If you don't care for turkey you can still choose from one of your favorites—beef, pork, broilers and fryers.

When choosing those Louisiana yams, never pick over those with sprouts. Those sprouts at this time of year indicate that the starch has turned to sugar, and that's the potato you're looking for. Handle potatoes carefully to avoid bruises, spread them out and keep at temperature of from 48 to 65 degrees. Yams bought now, if stored properly, will keep until early spring.

Announcements

Something to look forward to is Mrs. Hugh Sutherland's demonstration making Christmas decorations on November 21. The place is the Country Club, sponsor, Welcome Garden Club. Mrs. Sutherland delighted her audience last year and she never repeats a program, so you can look forward to something entirely new.

The recreation center invites you to their handicraft class with Peggy Garnett each Friday from one 'til 4 p.m. Everybody is invited. This is a wonderful place to go to make your Christmas presents and do your bazaar work. Peggy can teach you anything you want to know.

Don't fail to go to the St. Paul's Church Wednesday, November 2 and see their absolutely fabulous bazaar. You're invited just to drop by and visit. You'll get wonderful ideas along with coffee and cake that will be served all day. Sandwiches will be around at noon. Make Wednesday your day to eat out—at the St. Paul's bazaar.

Just listen to a very few of the hundreds of articles for sale: In the home arts and crafts division you'll find recipe clips, decorative flower pots; in the children's center, doll beds, doll clothes, decorator pillows for teen agers, cobbler's aprons. And — the cleverest idea—play lady dress up clothes for the young daughter who is at that age. (Including high heel shoes for her).

See you next Sunday.

Experts say it is often unwise to accept the results of an intelligence test as the sole proof of a child's mental deficiency.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Where To Plant A Shade Tree

Cool weather and tree planting time should remind us of the spots where we wished we had a shade tree last summer. The location of a shade tree is just as important as the kind of tree we plant if not more so. Some houses have rooms and porches that are made almost uninhabitable because of the heat and the glare from the sun at some time of the day in summer.

Certainly the most torrid time of day in the south is the period from about two in the afternoon until five when the sun is on the southwest to west side of our houses. A tree planted where it will shade the house at this time is the most valuable shade tree you can have on the property. No matter what problems there may be in planting something in this location, it is worthwhile to work out something that will provide shade.

If the problem happens to be a narrow space not wide enough for an oak, elm or maple or some other spreading type, then you can plant a tulip tree, a hickory or a pecan tree. While one of these permanent trees is growing, some of the tall growing poplars will provide temporary shade. The Volga poplar is a little fatter than the Lombardy poplar, and the silvery barked and silvery leaved Boleana poplar is a beautiful tree that is fairly long lived. If you plant these fast growing poplars, however, be sure that they are not too close to your permanent tree. You must feed both the poplars and the permanent tree regularly every year.

The area between twenty - five and fifty feet from your house is an ideal location for a shade tree. White oak, willow oak, pink oak, Spanish oak — all these are good species for permanent shade trees. They will grow faster than you think if you will feed them yearly. Maples and elms are good shade trees if they can be planted where the roots will not get into drains. Elms break up badly in sleet storms, and for this reason maples are more satisfactory for permanent shade trees. If the maples are not quite as graceful as elms nor as fast growing, they make up for it with their colored leaves at this time of the year.

First floor rooms and porches can be shaded temporarily by an number of small trees. We used to rely heavily on mimosas for this service. Mimosas grow so rapidly that, in a mixed planting, it is worthwhile to risk planting a few even with the threat of blight hanging over them. Redbuds, dogwoods, golden - rain tree, the fast growing Paulonia with its huge leaves, box - elder (really a kind of maple), flowing cherries and crabapples will grow in a hurry and fend off the hot sun. Catalpas and even the famous "tree that grew in Brooklyn" (Ailanthus) can be planted for quick shade. In places where winter shade is not undesirable, the tall rapid growing Japanese privet will do.

The protection to your paint alone makes tree planting worthwhile. It is worthwhile, too, to keep the burning sun from heating up the walks and paths we use to get into our houses even though the houses be air - conditioned. The ideal situation is to have shade all the way around a house so that the sunliht and shadows play over it all day long. With the ravages of storms and weather extremes, we just have to keep planting shade trees to accomplish this.

Garden Center Notes

Tensas Club Has Colorful Flower Show

Members of the Tensas Garden Club, St. Joseph, presented a most colorful and beautiful flower show at the Garden Center this week. An accredited judge point scored the exhibits. All blue ribbons in the arrangement class! Mrs. Louise Jones was awarded high score for her dramatic contemporary! arrangement. Vertical in design, Mrs. Jones created a dramatic effect with magnolia leaves tinted black and arranged in a stylized pattern to give height, maroon celosia which had been dried continued down the design and maroon and black grapes were placed over the rim of the tall black container. This arrangement was placed against a rose pink background, but would be equally effective against oyster white or gray walls. Eminently suitable for a contemporary home. Mrs. Magruder Smith and Mrs. John Schuchs tied for second place blue ribbons. A line-mass arrangement, triangular in form was created by Mrs. Smith who chose for her container a chartreuse rectangular bowl. The color scheme was yellow and yellow green-Johnson grass was used for height and to outline the design. The design was emphasized with lovely yellow dahlias with bronze tips. Yellow-green leaves of the gardenia plant added depth and interest. The color combination most beautiful and harmonious. Mrs. John Schuchs designed a most interesting and beautiful wall placque. Her background was of wood in the natural color, framed by hemp rope also in the natural shade. The lovely design was created with dark brown dock and roadside grasses in a pleasing pattern and accented at the focal area with bright yellow straw flowers. Many interesting designs can be achieved in creating these wall placques through the use of dried plant materials and shells and they are suitable for many places in the home, but particularly effective in a panelled room. Blue ribbons were also awarded in the horticulture section as follows: Mrs. Dick Whitney for magnificent specimen of croton plant, Mrs. Paul Myers for summer snow floribunda rose, and Mrs. Philip Watson for rose dahlia.

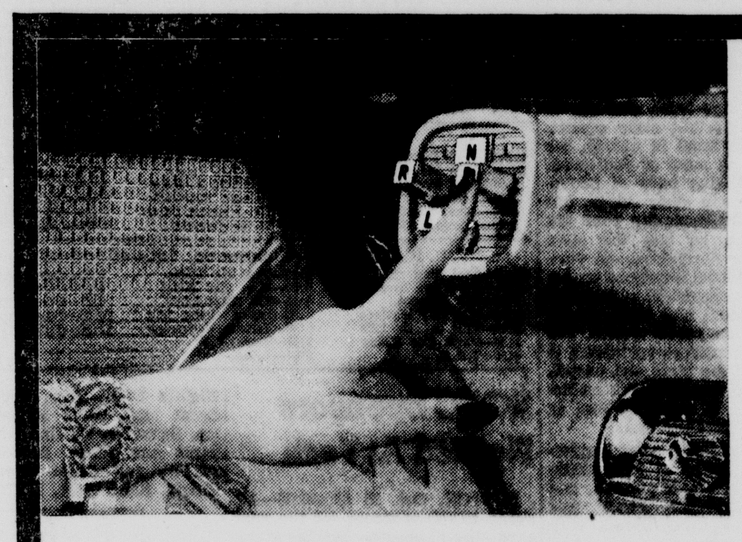

In response to our recent appeal we are glad to announce that the year books are pouring in. If your club has not sent a copy to the Garden Center please do so, it keeps us informed of what the clubs are doing and we would like to publicize your activities through this column. For example — for their November meeting the entire membership of the Ruston Garden Club will attend the demonstration lecture by Mrs. Ione Talbert of Fort Worth, Tex. on November 1st at the La. Tech Little Theater. This lecture is open to the public and the time is 2 p.m. Garden clubbers don't miss this program! The theme of Mrs. Talbert's lecture and demonstration is "Contemporary Arrangements."

As you know the theme of the 1956 State Flower Show to be held next March is "Contemporary Louisiana." We need to become aware of how dynamic present day living really is; we need to see trends and fads and forces that prevail now reflected in our art of flower arranging. Mrs. Talbert will strive to show you something of the boldness, the showiness, the impelling power of the contemporary arrangement. Tickets available from your garden club or at the door.

Flower Show School III will be held in Ruston on November 2, 3 and 4. There are many values to be derived from attending these schools, the horticulture classes show us how to grow better flowers in our gardens, lessons in color and design for our flower arrangements, plus the stimulating companionship of fellow gardeners who are as eager to learn as we are.

The Jonesboro - Hodge will have for their November speaker Mr. Robert E. Tucker on birds. This lecture is repeated by request. Welcome Garden Club will present Mrs. Hugh L. Sutherland of Bethany Plantation, Miss on Holiday Decorations, the date is November 21 and the public is cordially invited. Don't forget the district meeting at the Tallulah Country Club on November 8. Mrs. Latham (Nell) will give an exciting demonstration on holiday decorations.

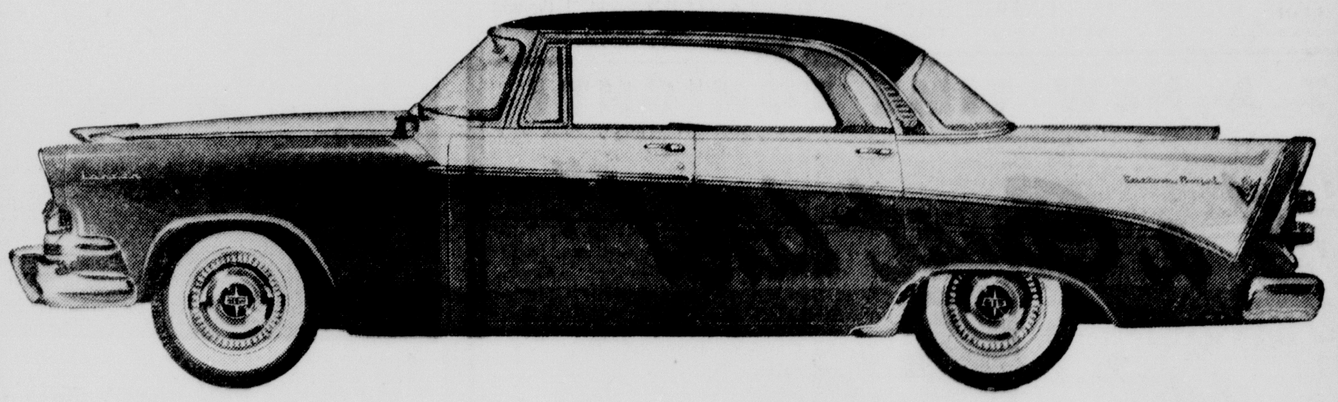

In 1953 there were three brands of nylon passenger car tires available to the public, but a year later there were 27 brands, and the number today has increased to 86.

Do you have the "Magic Touch?"

WIN!

New DODGE every year for the rest of your life!

Fabulous? No, it's fantastic! Each week for four weeks, somebody is going to win a brand spanking new Dodge every year for the rest of his or her life! It may be you!

What? A new Dodge EVERY YEAR?

That's right—as stated in the terms of the Contest Rules! If you are one of the weekly winners of the Grand Prize, you will take command of a new '56 Dodge right away! Next year, it will be exchanged for a new '57 Dodge, delivered to your door! The year after that, a new '58 Dodge . . . and so on for the rest of your life!

Do you have the "Magic Touch"?

Here's what you do. Go to your Dodge Dealer's and discover the "Magic Touch" of Dodge push-button driving . . . the safest way to drive ever developed. Write a short driving safety slogan (3 to 10 words) on your "Magic Touch" entry blank. Fill it in, mail it. Yours may be selected!

Hollywood—here you come!

If your entry is selected for any one of the four weekly final contests, you will compete with two other contestants for a "DODGE FOR LIFE" on the popular Lawrence Welk Show from Hollywood, over a national television network. It will be fun! A few minutes after you appear on the show—you may be the winner of a new Dodge for life! (Naturally, you're Dodge's guest in Hollywood—all expenses paid, and what a time you will have!)

St. Paul's Methodists To Erect $72,554 Youth Bldg.

Contract for a new $72,554 youth building at St. Paul's Methodist church, 1901 Lexington avenue, was signed Thursday afternoon. The builder will be H. W. Chapman, Monroe builder. The new building was designed by the architectural firm of H. H. Land and Son. The structure will add 5,500 square feet and comprises two wings to the present building.

The children's wing will provide space for kindergarten and primary grade departments with a fenced playground area for small children. The youth wing will provide church school and recreational facilities for young people. It includes classrooms for the intermediates and senior departments, a scout room, a hobby room, and a large recreation room. An outdoor patio and playground area complete the facilities. The building will be completely air-conditioned. The new addition is scheduled to be completed in the spring of 1956.

The addition of this building marks the second step in the fast-growing church's expansion program. Recently the church purchased a 300x300 foot lot north of its present location. A master plan calls for future development of additional church school space, a church sanctuary, administrative offices, and a parking lot on this property.

Members of the building committee are: Joe M. Powell, chairman; Kent Breard, G. M. Morgan, J. W. Usrey, E. Shelby Hill, L. Slade Brown, T. R. Henry, Jr., Thomas A. Pitt, Gardiner Young, Benton M. Wakefield, Jr., and Dr. B. R. Oliphint.

Winnsboro Man Gives Platform For State Race

WINNSBORO, Oct. 29 (Special) — J. W. (Kit) McCain, of Winnsboro, today issued a formal announcement concerning his candidacy for Franklin parish state representative.

"I was born in Franklin parish, March 2, 1912 on a farm some three miles west of Winnsboro. I received my education in the public schools of Franklin parish.

"I am a married man, having married Kathryn Price, whose family was instrumental in the early development of this parish. We have five children. My family and I are members of the Baptist church in Winnsboro. I am also a member of the Masonic Lodge of Winnsboro.

"I spent most of my early life on the farm, but the farm being small, and having six brothers and sisters, as opportunities presented themselves I became engaged in various jobs, such as deputy sheriff of your parish and highway patrolman, under the administration of Governor Earl K. Long.

"I am presently the owner of the Franklin Feed and Seed Store in Winnsboro.

"Your representative's office is an office of high trust, and one of the more important state offices. Although it is local in nature, the Legislature, as most of you know, is the law-making body of Louisiana, and, among other things, has to do with appropriating your tax monies which go into the state treasury; the designation of various state and local improved roads; state drainage projects; school systems, both local and state; lunch programs; free school books, and various other matters pertaining to the affairs of the state and parish.

"I intend to wage an active campaign, to see as many of you, in person, as I possibly can.

"I sincerely invite your suggestions as the office of representative, being the people's office, and you, as the people, should feel free to at any time discuss with me your problems.

"The campaign which I intend to make shall at all times be clean. I shall not indulge in mud-slinging. I am offering myself as a candidate solely on my own merits and qualifications.

"I am entering this campaign as an independent, running on my own merits; asking for the vote and support of all persons, and I promise you that I shall at no time become involved in or interfere with the various campaigns being conducted for the other officials.

"I pledge you that if you will elect me as your representative, I will devote my time and energy to the office, and at all times I shall cooperate with all of your elected officials, both parish and state."

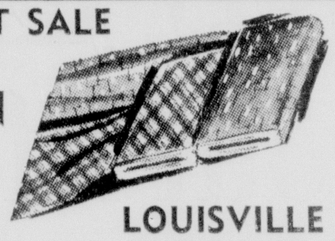

GIANT MUSHROOM

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)—George T. Rudy, a restaurant owner, stumbled across a 15-pound mushroom on a farm in southeastern Michigan. He was hunting squirrels.

The mushroom was 34 inches in diameter and eight inches high.

"I was afraid to pick it up," Rudy said. "It looked like something out of this world. I thought it was a wild animal or something."

CAPT. HUGO SCHMITT shows his complete confidence in gigantic Minyak by risking his life under one of the monster's ponderous front feet. Like to try it sometime?

Five-Ton Menace Doesn't Worry Trainer

Barring such rotten luck, Schmitt and Minyak will be seen when The Greatest Show on Earth comes to Monroe, Sunday, Nov. 6.

With a record of well over 300 elephants successfully trained during 28 years in the business, Schmitt has well earned his international reputation of being one of the world's greatest masters of the huge animals.

A stocky man born 48 years ago in Bavaria, Schmitt has about him a bluff and hearty manner which seems to endear him to his charges.

When he is finished with his training schedule for an elephant it does no less than 22 different tricks to astound and delight the audiences of The Greatest Show on Earth.

Some of these unusual feats include handstands, headstands, pyramids, one-leg stands, waltzing and even the rhumba.

With its all new and greatly enlarged menagerie, Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus now boasts more than 50 elephants. Twenty of them are babies which are making their first appearance in America, having just been imported from their native India.

Doors to the world's largest tent, now completely air-ventilated, will open at 1 and 7 p.m., with performances scheduled for 2:15 and 8:15 p.m.

Christmas Plans Made In Crossett

CROSSETT, Ark., Oct. 29 (Special) — The Retail Merchants Committee of the Crossett Chamber of Commerce met this week to make tentative plans for the Christmas activities to be conducted this year in Crossett.

Plans all for a large parade featuring approximately 20 floats and three bands to be held on the 10th of December. The theme of the parade will be "Put Christ Back in Christmas." This theme will prevail throughout all the activities.

All business houses and the business district proper will be decorated with Christmas tree lights and other Yule-tide decorations.

Confiscated Liquor Sold By Tax Board

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The State Tax Commission made its first sale of confiscated whisky — 28 cases for $1,136.

Commission officials said they sold the whisky yesterday to recover unpaid five per cent sales tax.

The whisky was seized at Vicksburg and billed to E. Sanford of Meridian. It was sold to City Wholesale Liquor Co. of New Orleans.

Officials also seized 111 cases of whisky billed to Charles E. Mince of Jackson and will advertise for its sale.

Goodman Swing Music

By VALENTINE DAVIES

HOLLYWOOD, October 29 — If one should detect a slight flush of embarrassment on the usually calm features of Benny Goodman, it will be because an 18-year-old newspaper interview has returned to haunt him.

The noted King of Swing, around whose fabulous career has been woven Universal - International's musical drama, "The Benny Goodman Story must have shuddered when studio researchers, combing all accounts of his spectacular career, sent me a faded and torn 1937 newspaper clipping in which Benny, making an appearance in Pittsburgh at the time, blithely declared for quoting purposes the following:

"Swing music will last two more years. After that I don't know what I'll do but I'm not worrying. I've made good money in this business and in the last two years I've saved."

Now, far be it from me to criticize a Goodman solo on "Let's Dance" or his technique in performing a Mozart clarinet concerto or the selections he made of sidemen for his great bands of the past. But when Mr. Goodman gives swing two more years of life back in 1937, that's a different matter.

Six months after Benny pronounced this death knell over swing, he was on the podium at Carnegie Hall, conducting the first jazz concert ever to echo a melody through its hallowed aisles, a performance that was so enthusiastically received that jazz chroniclers have since agreed unanimously that on that evening swing achieved maturity as an accepted musical art.

One year later, Benny was on the Broadway stage with a sextet, performing as one of the stars of "Swingin' the Dream." After that came top roles—for swing, that is—in three Hollywood movies: "The Powers Girl" "Stage Door Canteen" and "Sweet and Lowdown." By 1944, seven years after his Pittsburgh pronouncement, he was back on Broadway with a combo in "The Seven Lively Arts."

In fact that same swing music Goodman condemned to a 1939 death had gotten so lively that many of Bennys ace sidemen became bandleading stars on their own. Among the ex-Goodmanites who formed swing bands were the late Bunny Berigan, Harry James, Gene Krupa, Lionel Hampton, Mel Powell, Teddy Wilson, Jess Stacy and Ziggy Elman.

Exactly fourteen years after Benny prophesied swing's demise an album of his Carnegie Hall concert was the hottest record-shop of 1951. At the present time it is pushing toward its second million mark in gross sales.

Never at any time since Goodman gave swing two more years to live has Benny found it necessary to scramble for work. It has been more a question of the King of Swing figuring out excuses to get out of the back-breaking succession of offers which keep flowing his way. Never has he had to look for swing fans; rather, it has been the swing fans searching and cheering for him. Recently, just for kicks, Goodman formed a new octet to play swing on weekends only at New York City's Basin Street. The place was jammed to wall-busting status at every performance, with an equal number of swing fans outside, clamoring to get in.

Both Producer Aaron Rosenberg and myself were delighted that Universal-International feels the same as we do about swing music's popularity today. Both of us were proud of the parts we played in bringing "The Glenn Miller Story" to the screen. Now we are even more proud of "The Benny Goodman Story," which we cheerfully predict will be more successful than the Miller biography.

We predict that this latter story, with Steve Allen in the title role and Donna Reed co-starring as Mrs. Goodman, will be a smash hit. It will be an important assist in bringing to swing music the greatest surge of popularity it has ever known.

And I'll bet my beagle kennels in Malibu (a treasure I love very much) that swing, as of 1955, will last a good two years more. Hey, Benny, want to be?

BURT LANCASTER hands bully Walter Matthau the beating of his life in this scene from "The Kentuckian," CinemaScope spectacle, print by Technicolor, which opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theater through United Artists release.

Lancaster Directs, And Stars In 'Kentuckian,

Burt Lancaster, Oscar-winning actor and co-producer of such thumping hits as "Apache" and "Vera Cruz," has taken another giant step on the way to being the complete moviemaker, by directing as well as co-starring in his latest picture, "The Kentuckian."

Like the aforementioned two films, "The Kentuckian" — an adaptation by Pulitzer - prize winner A. B. Guthrie, Jr., of Felix Holt's best-selling novel, "The Gabriel Horn" — is a rich mixture of history, action and swashbuckling romance. A United Artists release filmed in CinemaScope and printed in Technicolor, "The Kentuckian" opens on Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre.

Diana Lynn and Dianne Foster are co-starred in the picture with Burt, and the strong supporting cast is headed by Walter Matthau, John McIntire, Una Merkel, John Carradine, Donald MacDonald, John Litel, Rhys Williams and Edward Norris. Harold Hecht produced, Ernest Laszlo was chief photographer and the music was composed by Roy Webb.

A famous male movie star who is all sober citizen in his approach to making his own movies, Burt has wanted to be a director for a long time. He has waited to satisfy his ambition until he thought he was ready—a point in knowledge and know-how that he feels he has finally reached. Thus, he makes his directorial bow with "The Kentuckian."

Lancaster's theories of direction are not so much theories as they are the application of commonsense. In directing "The Kentuckian," he tried to do unto the other actors in the cast as he likes directors to do unto him when he's just acting.

A patient man, Burt would think nothing of reviewing the entire script in order to bring an actor up to the emotional viewpoint he desired. It took time, but it paid off.

On the acting side of the ledger, Burt has a typical Lancaster role in "The Kentuckian," as Big Eli Wakefield, a hunter who found even the wild frontier of the 120's too tame for him, and wanted to head westward where a man had room to move about. In the course of his strenuous attempt to get to Texas he engages in several knock-down-drag-out fights, gun battles, bullwhip settos and assorted acrobatics.

The picture was filmed on location in Kentucky, and no props had to be carried along from Hollywood. That hospitable state provided everything from bearded bit players to a palatial sternwheel steamboat circa 1820.

CHECK INSURANCE RATES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 28—UP—Oklahoma officials said Friday the Marathon Insurance Co., of Dallas, Tex., was taking steps to correct possible overcharging on Oklahoma automobile insurance. Marathon is one of three insurance firms Oklahoma insurance officials have asked to check their records to see if they overcharged Oklahoma motorists.

J. S. Clark Faculty Presenting Show

The faculty of the J. S. Clark School will present its second play October 31, in the school auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The popularized show of last season has spurred participants to greater effort in producing this year's top entertainment. Spiced with an array of versatile performers, the show will feature many acts like those on the big TV shows. It progresses through stages of comedy and drama, into a Hillbilly Hoedown and a colorful section of rhythm and blues.

Public support will be greatly appreciated in as much as all proceeds will go to benefit the school band.

Probe Possible Violations Of Negroes' Rights

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—The Justice Department has advised a New Jersey congressman "appropriate action will be undertaken" if investigations show that civil rights of Negroes are being violated in Mississippi.

Rep. Gordon Canfield (R-NJ) said yesterday he had received a reply from Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III to an inquiry in connection with the Emmett Till case.

"The department is presently conducting extensive investigations concerning alleged deprivation of the civil rights of Mississippi Negro citizens," Olney wrote, "including the killing of the Rev. George W. Lee of Belzoni, Miss., last spring allegedly as a result of a conspiracy to deny them the right to vote.

"Should these investigations indicate violations of the Constitution and laws of the United States, you may be assured that appropriate action will be undertaken."

Sinatra's Daughter Makes Good On Vow

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif. — UP—A 15-year-old high school student promised her classmates that she would get her father to entertain them if their membership drive for the Parents-Teachers Association were successful.

The first thing she did was to sign up her father for the PTA. Other students at University high school here also went to work and made the drive a success.

JUNIOR EDITORS

HALLOWEEN - 3

A Game

When you dress up in funny clothes and masks and go from door to door on Halloween crying "Trick or treat," you are doing very much the same as your ancestors did hundreds of years ago.

Here is a "Trick or treat" game two of you can play.

Paste this page on cereal box cardboard and color it with crayons. The roads are yellow, the spaces between them light green and the bushes and trees darker green. Make the houses light colored with red roofs. The jack-o-lantern is orange, of course.

Each of you uses a black button as a marker. Toss a penny to show the number of moves: two moves for heads, one for tails. Enter at the bottom. Play by turns and head up the road toward the jack-o-lantern which is headquarters for treats.

If your coin moves you to a square where there is a trick (a black bat in the square) you must go back one move and await your next turn.

The first one to reach the jack-o-lantern is the winner. But you must move in exactly with your final move, or you will have to continue tossing until you get just the right move.

JUNIOR EDITORS pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned.

MONDAY: American Folk Lore

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. It would take a great change in our public psychology — both masculine and feminine. Older countries accept female rulers because of a reverence for royalty that we do not have—a reverence inspired by the many truly great kings and queens of the past. We do not have these traditions; and, while there are many women who doubtless would make excellent presidents, our conservatism will probably prevent election of a woman president for a long time to come.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, according to Dr. Wendell Johnson. He finds from a three-year study of 400 children, parents are often perfectionists. They force the children to try to speak better than they can. This causes over-consciousness and starts children stuttering. Dr. J. advises parents to "make speaking fun for the child. Give him time to talk, get your eyes off his mouth, and pay attention to conditions which make him unsure of himstlf."

Getting married is not difficult. It's building your marriage that is the problem, and the Public Affairs Committee nonprofit pamphlet of that name will help you. For a copy, send your name and address and 25 cents in coin to Public Affairs Committee, c-o your newspaper. Ask for "Building Your Marriage."

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Bad psychology and bad business. Whether due to heredity or environment, boys from well-to-do classes rise to distinct success in business — and every field—more often than boys "blessed" with poverty. Psychologist Ross Stagner has given personality tests to large groups of students and found that those from low economic status are much more nervous, subject to inferiority and introversion, moody, and seclusive socially.

The victim of a Portuguese man-of-war — man, fish of crustacean—only makes matters worse by thrashing about in the water. By movement he is likely to draw more and more jellyfish tentacles about him. If he does not escape, a fatal dose of poison may be absorbed.

WHO EVER HEARD OF A CHINESE MANDARIN HAULIN' HIS WIFE AROUND IN ONE OF THESE THINGS ANYWAY?

IF YOU WAS A CHINESE MANDARIN, YOU WOULD.

I'M SORRY.

SAY, WHO DO YOU THINK YOU'RE POKIN' IN TH' EYE WITH THAT THING?

YOU IDIOT! YOU MIGHTA BUSTED MY BACK.

COME ON, WILLIE. I AIN'T GOIN' TO TAKE ANY MORE CHANCES RIDIN' IN THAT.

OKAY, BABY. THEN YOU PULL ME. MY DOGS HURT.
